Joe Declares War on Navy Over the Captain's Case

By LYNN MULVANEY

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick has declared war on the U. S. Navy.

In this, the latest battle in which the Ellenville Democrat has gained nationwide attention, Resnick dismisses as "a barefaced fairy tale" the Navy's explanation of the removal of Capt. Richard G. Alexander from command of the battleship New Jersey and subsequent assignment to an obscure desk job.

He called on Navy Secretary Paul R. Ignatius today to reinstate Alexander and asked for a congressional investigation of the affair.

Yesterday, Ignatius said Alexander was relieved at his own request for personal reasons completely unrelated to the case of Lt. Cmdr. Marcus A. Arnheiter, another skipper who lost his command after being charged with running too tight a ship. Alexander had publicly defended Arnheiter.

"I do not consider this a satisfactory reply," Resnick answered. "It is a crude, insulting and hypocritical evasion."

Saying he feels that both young officers are victims of grave injustice, the congressman added, "the Navy has thus far done everything within its powers to conceal the issues in this case."

Resnick, who seeks the Democratic nomination to oppose Republican Sen. Jacob K. Javits in November, said that if the Armed Services Committee, which normally would conduct an inquiry, fails to undertake the investigation, he would do it himself.

He conducted a similar one-man probe of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

In his letter to Ignatius, Resnick states, "Surely the Navy does not expect the American people to believe it would spend 25 years preparing a man for a command post and then accept his resignation of that command 'for personal reasons.'

"Surely the Navy does not expect the American people to naively accept its glib and repeated denial of a fair and objective hearing for Arnheiter in view of the many serious questions which have been raised by high ranking naval officers."

Resnick charged further that one of these high ranking officers has concluded that the Arnheiter inquiry lacked objectivity and has taken the investigating officer to task.

Asking for a reopening of the Arnheiter case, Resnick stated that regardless of the outcome of the two cases, 'I honestly believe that the Navy will benefit . . .'

But it will not benefit if it acts as though it were afraid to admit the possibility of an error.

Guatemala Killings

By THEODORE A. EDIGER

GUATEMALA (AP) — A pro-Castro revolutionary organization claimed credit today for the machine gun slaying of the top two U.S. military officers in Guatemala.

A typewritten communique signed Rebel Armed Forces—FAR—said the U.S. military mission had "ordered the Guatemalan army to create groups of assassins" against guerrillas and the FAR "decided to mete out justice."

Fire at Car

Firing from a speeding car into the Americans' car near the Guatemalan Air Force's headquarter Tuesday, machine-gunners killed U.S. Army Col. John D. Webber Jr., 47, and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Ernest A. Munro, 40, and wounded Army Sgt Maj. John R. Forster, 42, and Marine Sgt. Harry L. Greene, 41.

Greene was reported in critical condition, but Forster was discharged from the hospital after treatment of an arm wound.

The Guatemalan Cabinet proclaimed a "state of alarm"—modified martial law—in an attempt to check a mounting wave of terrorism by both extrem rightists and extreme leftists as well as gangsters taking advantage of the political turmoil.

A burst of machine gun fire earlier Tuesday killed former Guatemalan congressman Alejandro Silva Falla, 40, and his 20-year-old bodyguard was killed in an exchange of fire with the gunmen. Silva's name had appeared on a list circulated in June by rightists saying that all who served communism would be executed.

In a third attack Tuesday, gunmen missed Manuel Villacorta Vielman, former vice presidential candidate from the strongly anti-Communist National Liberation Movement, but wounded his 20-year-old son.

The government says 26 persons have been killed this month by terrorists. The state of alarm proclaimed by the government permits arrests without charges, imposes censorship, prohibits the carrying of firearms except by authorized persons, and bans assemblies of more than four persons.

Webber, a native of Buffalo, N.Y., who listed Houston, Tex., as his home, had been head of the U.S. military advisory group in Guatemala since 1966. Munro, a native of Lake Worth, Fla., with a home in Rockland, Maine, was head of the U.S. naval section. Greene, the group's communications adviser, was from Omaha, Neb. The families of all three men were with them in Guatemala.

Forster, a native of Seattle, is stationed in the Panama Canal Zone with a supply unit, and his wife and three sons are there.

First U.S. Victims

The four men were the first U.S. victims of terrorism in Guatemala although more than 1,000 persons—perhaps as many as 4,000—have died in the last year and a half.

The FAR said Webber and Munro were chosen as targets because Guatemalan army groups created under U.S. orders "dedicated themselves to sow terror and death in the entire country." The group charged that "the genocidal work of such bands of assassins has resulted in the death of nearly 4,000 Guatemalans."

The FAR communique was distributed clandestinely.

Right-wing extremists, who originally organized to fight the leftist guerrillas, would also like to topple the military-backed government of President Julio Cesar Mendez Montenegro, who took office in July, 1966. They feel his government's increased taxation and reforms threaten their traditional privileges.

Kingston Sales Tax: Its Possible Effects

EDITOR'S NOTE:

On March 1 Kingston's two per cent sales tax, passed in December, will go into effect. The Freeman, as a public service, has compiled this two-part series to familiarize its readers with the possible effects of the tax.

By HUGH REYNOLDS
First of 2 Articles

Nothing is more certain than death and taxes. The question is . . . will the new city sales tax kill Kingston businessmen.

Poughkeepsie's finance director, Aubrey Coons, doesn't think so. "We had a lot of complaints from businessmen when our two per cent sales tax went into effect in March of 1949," Coons said, "but it died down pretty quick."

The sales tax in Poughkeepsie has been a lucrative form of revenue, averaging slightly more than $800,000 a year for the past five years.

Painless Way

Supporters of the tax, Garraghan included, say it's the most painless way for the city to raise revenue. It appears to be quite painless for the city as far as collection goes. The state does all the collecting directly from the merchants and sends the city's share back in the form of lump sums, minus a small collection fee.

Poughkeepsie wasn't as fortunate when its tax first went into effect. According to Coons, Poughkeepsie had to hire a sales tax director, a deputy director, stenographer and attorney to collect and enforce the tax.

Residents of the Queen City didn't take too kindly to the tax, as expected. Many shopped out of town in the shopping centers that sprung up around Poughkeepsie in the '50's.

Local business leaders have predicted the same fate for Kingston merchants. They see a steadily decreasing flow of business paralled by steadily rising prices leading to the ultimate ruination of Kingston's business community as it is now known.

"However, we've managed to survive and under a lot tougher conditions than Kingston. Remember, when we passed our tax, there was no state sales tax. The people of Kingston at least know what it's like to pay a sales tax."

Coons said opposition from Poughkeepsie merchants continued even after the sales tax went into effect. "Some of them used to figure ways for their customers to beat the tax," Coons said.

Coons then told a story about a would-be tax beater in those early days. "I insisted that my wife and family do their shopping in Poughkeepsie. As finance director I'd be the last one to try to beat the sales tax."

"At any rate," Coons continued, "my wife said we needed some new carpeting so we went shopping for it. She'd heard about a sale in Arlington (just east of Poughkeepsie) and we went up to take a look. They didn't have what we wanted so we went back into the city to one of the leading furniture stores on Main Street. We found some nice carpeting and I was about to purchase it. Then the fun started."

"The salesman made out the bill and asked me if I wanted to beat the city sales tax. I asked how. He told me to charge it to a friend living outside the city. Then I told him who I was."

Coons said the salesman absorbed the shock pretty well. "The guy laughed and said, 'how about that. I knew I'd tell that to the wrong person one of these days'."

Tough to Beat

"Kingston residents will find the tax tough to beat, especially on major purchases," Coons said. We used to have a lot of people in the early days of the tax buying cars out of town. Two per cent on a four thousand dollar automobile is quite a piece of change. As soon as they registered the car, we got them. We have a good working relationship with the motor vehicle bureau."

Kingston has passed almost word for word, the same type of sales tax as Poughkeepsie, which includes the above mentioned use tax. It is modeled after the New York State Sales Tax and places levies on everything the state does. The difference between Poughkeepsie and Kingston taxes is that residents of the Colonial City will pay a total of four per cent sales tax in March while Poughkeepsie pays three.

NEXT: A survey on items to be taxed and what the future holds for the Kingston taxpayer.

Ray Shows Little Interest

What to Do With the Old PO

The General Services Administration has declared the old post office on Broadway surplus property but Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan has shown little interest in acquiring the property for city purposes.

Lots of Space, But . . .

The property, situated on a half-acre of land, has a gross floor space of approximately 30,800 square feet. Garraghan agrees that the building has plenty of space, pointing out its floor area is almost twice that of his proposed new city hall Downtown. "That building may have enormous floor space, which we can certainly use, but it has almost no parking space," Garraghan said today.

Government agencies have first option on surplus federal property and notices have also been sent to the state. The county can also apply for the property.

No $1 Deal

The widely held idea that the city could buy the old post office for a dollar was refuted by a spokesman for the General Services Administration today. He said that under certain conditions the property would be available for a dollar. These include if the property is to be used as a public park, recreational area or historic monument.

Also, if it is to be used for school classrooms or other educational purposes or for medical research.

Garraghan indicated today that if the city did acquire the property it would be used for none of these purposes.

"Actually," Garraghan said, "lack of parking isn't the only drawback on that property. It would cost a bundle to heat it."

The mayor also pointed out that the city is in no financial posititon at present to bid against private investors for the property.

"I'd like to see that property back on the tax roles," Garraghan said. "That would be to the best advantage of the city. If we take it, we'll have to acquire more land for parking, further diminishing the tax base. That's the last thing Kingston needs right now."

Feb. 5 Deadline

The city has until Feb. 5 to notify the General Services Administration of its intentions for the old post office .

If no notice is forthcoming from any governmental agencies, the General Services Administration will appraise the property and put it out to bid to the highest taker.

Garraghan plans a comprehensive study of the city's space requirements in the next few weeks. "Once the budget is passed, we'll know better where we stand financially. However, I doubt the city will acqiure that property."

Mayor, State Officials Meet

Kennedy Park Nearer Reality

Kingston may get matching funds from the state for its proposed John F. Kennedy Park at Kingston Point, according to Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan who met with conservation department officials yesterday at Bear Mountain.

The mayor said his meeting with Augustus Marks, head of property acquisition for the conservation department "went quite well."

Garraghan said officials voiced the possibility of matching Kingston dollar-for-dollar on the 97-acre, estimated $1½ million project. According to the mayor they have asked the city to file an application for a three-year plan.

Wants Dock Rebuilt

The mayor has plans for a marina in the area but says the most important part of the project is the rebuilding of the dock in the area. According to Garraghan, the cost of rebuilding the dock could run to $75,000.

His city engineer, Thomas Wickman, says that estimate could be on the conservative side. "The longer we wait, the more its going to cost for this project," he told The Freeman today.

Opposition has been voiced in the past to Garraghan's plans for Kennedy Park. In particular, the mayor's land fill operations have come under heavy fire.

Residents of the area, who are represented by Clifford Sinsabaugh, Fifth Ward Democratic alderman, have protested the use of garbage for land fill.

Fish and game experts testified at a public hearing July 18 held by the State Water Resources Commission that Garraghan's plans for Kingston Lagoon are definitely not for the birds, or fish, for that matter.

The meeting, held in City Hall, featured testimony from irate residents over Garraghan's landfiill project along with testimony from conservation department officials describing the teeming wild life in Kingston Lagoon.

Wants Marina

Garraghan has plans to dredge out the lagoon and create a marina. That lagoon was surveyed by Lee Blake of the department of fish and game. Blake said he found hundreds of eels, eight large mouth bass ranging up to 16 inches, 15 white perch and sunfish, striped bass and golden shiners.

While admitting that the lagoon was polluted, Blake said it was no worse than other areas of the Hudson. He maintained the building of a marina would destroy most of the fish in the lagoon.

Commenting on that report, Garraghan said the next day, "Even the birds won't stop there."

Winfred Ford, Region Eight game manager, disagreed with the mayor, stating the lagoon was a nesting place for migrant ducks.

Garraghan apparently will have an uphill battle to restore Kingston Point to the glory it enjoyed half a century ago. He faces solid opposition to his marina plans from the conservation department from which he is expected matching funds.

Getting those matching funds from an already tight budget could be the mayor's biggest obstacle. Garraghan, himself, hinted at that today. "I think we can get together on the planning phase of Kennedy Park but it still boils down to cold, hard cash. It won't do us much good to have the state come up with a $100,000 in matching funds if we can't match it," the mayor said.

Garraghan plans to send Wickman to Albany to withdraw the city's original Kennedy Park plans. They will then be reviewed (and revised, if necessary) with officials from the Palisades Interstate Park Commission at Bear Mountain.

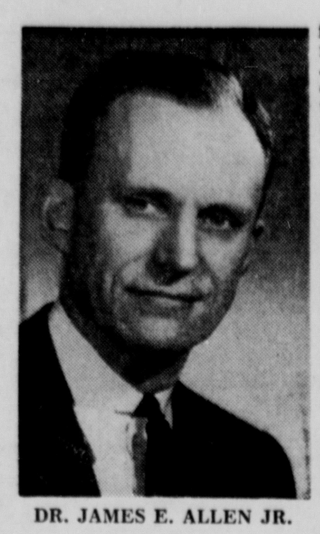
Briefs Filed

Education Commissioner Gets Zena School Case



DR. JAMES E. ALLEN JR.

Supporting briefs have been filed with State Education Commissioner Dr. James E. Allen Jr. by both sides in the stay order case which has delayed the awarding of the general construction and plumbing contracts for the new elementary school in Zena.

Contracts for the various phases of the new school were scheduled to be awarded by the Board of Education of the Kingston School District Consolidated at the monthly meeting on Jan. 4. That action was delayed because of the stay order issued by Dr. Allen after an appeal was taken by William E. Forrest, Inc., general contractors, of 101 Ray Boulevard, Poughkeepsie.

Forrest had submitted the second low bid for general construction of the new Zena school. The bid was $823,000 or $3,060 higher than the low bid of Stanley R. Benjamin, Inc., of Long Beach.

A hearing was originally scheduled by the State Education Department for Tuesday, Jan. 9, but was adjourned until yesterday because Dr. Allen was not available on the prior date.

After both sides in the dispute were notified of the new date for the hearing, the scheduled hearing was waived and supporting papers were submitted to Dr. Allen. Decision has not been rendered, but a spokesman for the education department in Albany said that in cases involving new school buildings or pupils, the commissioner usually makes a quick decision after examining the supporting briefs.

At the Jan. 4 meeting of the school board, it was reported that the Poughkeepsie construction firm contends that two pumps included in the specifications for the general contract, should have been entered in the plumbing contract. It also brought out during the discussion that Forrest had previously been awarded bids for construction of the John F. Kennedy Elementary School for which specifications were similar to those prepared for the new Zena school.

In the event Dr. Allen's decision upholds Forrest's appeal, it probably would be necessary to call for new bids for the general construction and plumbing contracts. If the commissioner takes an opposite stand in his findings, then the Board of Education probably will proceed without delay to award contracts for the new school building.

Fourteen bids were received for general construction. Four were submitted for the plumbing contract for the new $1,368,126 school. C. B. Strain & Son of Saugerties was low bidder for the plumbing contract. The bid was $81,800.

To provide funds for the new school, the board recently voted a bond issue.

Board members said they are anxiously awaiting the decision of Dr. Allen, and expressed the hope that the finding will be made in the immediate future to avoid any further delay in the start of construction for the new school building, which is greatly needed in the district.

Owner Lists Missing Items

The owner of a Lomontville farmhouse burglarized last week listed items missing from the building in a report to Ulster County Sheriff's Office Tuesday.

Wilfred Forster of Ashokan Road, Lomontville and St. Johnsville was notified of the break-in Jan. 11 and said he would check if anything was missing and report to the Sheriff's Department.

The missing items include a 12-gauge double-barreled shotgun, a power chain saw, a pair of hunting pants, a compass and assorted small tools.

According to Investigator Harold T. Bowers and Deputy Henry Newman, who investigated, the break-in occurred between Jan. 6 and 11. The bottom of a Dutch door in the kitchen of the house was kicked in to gain entry. Also a kitchen window was broken to gain entry into an adjoining garage.

Briefs Filed

DR. JAMES E. ALLEN JR.

Supporting briefs have been filed with State Education Commissioner Dr. James E. Allen Jr. by both sides in the stay order case which has delayed the awarding of the general construction and plumbing contracts for the new elementary school in Zena.

Contracts for the various phases of the new school were scheduled to be awarded by the Board of Education of the Kingston School District Consolidated at the monthly meeting on Jan. 4. That action was delayed because of the stay order issued by Dr. Allen after an appeal was taken by William E. Forrest, Inc., general contractors, of 101 Ray Boulevard, Poughkeepsie.

Forrest had submitted the second low bid for general construction of the new Zena school. The bid was $823,000 or $3,060 higher than the low bid of Stanley R. Benjamin, Inc., of Long Beach.

A hearing was originally scheduled by the State Education Department for Tuesday, Jan. 9, but was adjourned until yesterday because Dr. Allen was not available on the prior date.

After both sides in the dispute were notified of the new date for the hearing, the scheduled hearing was waived and supporting papers were submitted to Dr. Allen. Decision has not been rendered, but a spokesman for the education department in Albany said that in cases involving new school buildings or pupils, the commissioner usually makes a quick decision after examining the supporting briefs.

At the Jan. 4 meeting of the school board, it was reported that the Poughkeepsie construction firm contends that two pumps included in the specifications for the general contract, should have been entered in the plumbing contract. It also brought out during the discussion that Forrest had previously been awarded bids for construction of the John F. Kennedy Elementary School for which specifications were similar to those prepared for the new Zena school.

In the event Dr. Allen's decision upholds Forrest's appeal, it probably would be necessary to call for new bids for the general construction and plumbing contracts. If the commissioner takes an opposite stand in his findings, then the Board of Education probably will proceed without delay to award contracts for the new school building.

Fourteen bids were received for general construction. Four were submitted for the plumbing contract for the new $1,368,126 school. C. B. Strain & Son of Saugerties was low bidder for the plumbing contract. The bid was $81,800.

A DISCUSSION — Representatives of four Mid-Hudson Valley colleges discuss the proposed establishment of a Mid-Hudson Environmental Center to carry out cooperative programs of education and research. The four are, (L) Dr. Henry Muschio, chairman, Department of Biology, Dutchess Community College; Daniel Bean, head, Department of Biology, Marist College; Dr. Richard Peckham, head, Department of Biology, Mt. St. Mary College and Richard Glazer, coordinator of Biology and Medical Laboratory Technology, Ulster County Community College. (Reichert photo).

Five Colleges Eye Area Lighthouses For a Joint Environmental Center

Five area colleges are considering the establishment of a Mid-Hudson Environmental Center to carry out cooperative programs of education and research.

The five are Dutchess Community College, Poughkeepsie; Marist College, Poughkeepsie; Mt. St. Mary College, Newburgh; Ulster County Community College, Stone Ridge and Vassar College, Poughkeepsie.

Assisting the five colleges with their plans for the proposed center is the Hudson River Valley Commission.

The proposal calls for the educational institutions to utilize surplus lighthouses in the Hudson River at Esopus Meadows and Saugerties as environmental stations under a single administrative jurisdiction.

The environmental center would provide students with the opportunity for total education. This would be done by establishing career possibilities ranging from two-year programs in technology and liberal arts to four-year programs and graduate courses.

The pooling of students from the cooperating educational institutions would make it possible to plan programs of study and research, particularly in the realm of environemental studies, that one institution could not do alone.

If the center is established, it would consider entering into cooperation programs with the State Conservation Department, State Health Department and other such state agencies in the development and institution of training programs related to various aspects of the environment.

If this proposal should become a reality, the center would be one of the few environmental centers of this type in the United States, it was stressed.

Rhinebeck Woman Dies in Fire; 2 at School

By WALTER S. CLARK JR.

A fatal fire in the northern Dutchess community of Rhinebeck Tuesday night claimed the life of a 78-year-old woman, and two fires of incidentiary origin at the Wallkill Central High School were under investigation today by State Police Bureau of Criminal Investigation officers.

Mrs. Anna Stein who lived alone in a 1½-story frame house on Route 9 just south of the village of Rhinebeck, was the victim of last night's fire which destroyed about 50 per cent of her residence.

State Police said Rhinebeck firemen were dispatched to the scene of the blaze about 11:20 p. m. Assistance was summoned through mutual aid from Rhinecliff and Hillsdale. Firemen from the latter unit discovered Mrs. Stein overcome by fumes in her home and carried her to an ambulance that responded to a call from the Rhinecliff First Aid and Rescue Squad.

On the way to the Northern Dutchess Hospital attendants on the ambulance administered oxygen and applied other emergency treatment but to no avail. The woman was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital.

Dr. Michael Badeen of Millerton, an assistant Dutchess County medical examiner, investigated the death with state troopers. He later gave a verdict of accidental death due to asphyxiation.

Authorities reported that a faulty kerosene space heater apparently caused the fire, and fumes from the stove evidently felled the woman before she could make her way to safety.

The first fatal fire recorded in 1967 by Dutchess County authorities occurred on March 5, when a 51-year-old man lost his life in fire that destroyed his trailer home in Pleasant Valley.

Shortly before 6:15 p. m. yesterday, Wallkill firefighters were summoned to the Wallkill Central High School on Route 208. When firemen arrived they were confronted with flames that were sweeping through the dryer room in the basement of the building.

John Gardiner, principal of Wallkill High, told a reporter that a basketball game and wrestling events had just been completed in the school gym when fire was discovered in the boys' locker room adjacent to the drying room in the basement under the gym. He said wrestlers and others who happened to be in the school extinguished the flames and prevented any heavy damage.

"Whoever set that fire," Gardiner said, "piled basketball uniforms on the floor and used them as fuel."

Meanwhile, the alarm in the building had sounded and Wallkill firemen responded. Gardiner said the basement fire had been extinguished before the arrival of firefighters. While firemen were in the building, someone discovered another fire raging in the janitor's utility closet on the third floor.

Firemen hurried to the third floor and battled the flames that caused extensive damage to that area and the contents of the closet. Gardiner said the flames burned out the electrical panels in the area.

The principal said heavy water damage resulted and the third floor of the building was virtually flooded. Electricians worked last night to repair the fire alarm system. Gardiner said it is not known at this time whether the school might have to close until major eletrical service is replaced.

Most of the students and spectators who had attended the basketball game and wrestling events had left the school before the fires were discovered. According to Gardiner both fires were set by "persons unknown" and he added, "we assume students set the fires."

On Rocky's Requests

Fiscal Experts Go to Work

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Legislature's fiscal experts began to grapple today with Gov. Rockefeller's request for authority to spend a record-smashing $5.5-billion and raise taxes by $494 million in the coming fiscal year.

Rockefeller's appeal for increases in nine taxes and a whopping $856 - million jump in spending dominated preliminary scrutiny of the budget he sent to the Legislature Tuesday.

The mood in the legislative halls was somber Tuesday as lawmakers received final confirmation of their worst election - year fears: The governor wants to raise taxes.

Reserve to Hostility

At the leadership level, the reaction ranged from careful reserve on the Republican side to open hostility in the Democratic-run Assembly.

If Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia's response was typical of the sentiment in Democratic circles, the Republican governor's budget faces some rough going before it gets the Legislature's approval.

Travia labeled the governor's tax increase proposals as "another startling Rockefeller tax increase" and termed the proposed spending rise of $856 million as "all but unbelievable."

He challenged the governor's contention that tax boosts were necessary to meet demands for more state aid to localities and asserted that the increases would be used instead to bankroll new and expanded state operating and construction programs.

And he declared that the budget apparently could demand another tax increase next year.

Republicans took a more sympathetic posture, but, nonetheless, one leader promised to try to knock out "some or all of the minor taxes" proposed in the budget.

That was the reaction of Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges, the Legislature's ranking Republican.

Rockefeller is pressing for approval of a 20 per cent boost in the personal income-tax and a major increase in business taxes as the foundation for a tax - increase program that includes other, lesser levies.

Brydges did not single out any specific proposal but he is known to disfavor Rockefeller's bid for increase in the gasoline and liquor taxes.

Small Yield

The two levies would yield relatively small amounts, compared with the potential revenue from raising the income tax and the tax on general corporations.

Brydges' fellow Republican chieftain, Assembly Minority Leader Perry B. Duryea Jr., promised his members would approach the budget "with caution" but would give special study to the gasoline and liquor-tax proposals.

Rockefeller proposes to raise the motor fuels tax by a cent a gallon and the liquor taxes by 10 cents a fifth.

The budget also drew a critical appraisal from Democratic State Comptroller Arthur Levitt, who is credited by the Republican administration with providing the basic shape for the Rockefeller approach on taxation this year.

The budget, said Levitt "compresses into a few years major programs which should have been spread over a greater span."

Critical on Bond Money

He criticized the governor for leaning heavily on bond money to help balance the construction part of the budget.

"The cost of paying interest and principal on existing bonds has risen $30 million in one year," said the comptroller, adding:

"The outlook for the future is alarming, if we do not apply the lessons from the past."

By WALTER S. CLARK JR.

A fatal fire in the northern Dutchess community of Rhinebeck Tuesday night claimed the life of a 78-year-old woman, and two fires of incidendiary origin at the Wallkill Central High School were under investigation today by State Police Bureau of Criminal Investigation officers.

Mrs. Anna Stein who lived alone in a 1½-story frame house on Route 9 just south of the village of Rhinebeck, was the victim of last night's fire which destroyed about 50 per cent of her residence.

State Police said Rhinebeck firemen were dispatched to the scene of the blaze about 11:20 p. m. Assistance was summoned through mutual aid from Rhinecliff and Hillsdale. Firemen from the latter unit discovered Mrs. Stein overcome by fumes in her home and carried her to an ambulance that responded to a call from the Rhinecliff First Aid and Rescue Squad.

On the way to the Northern Dutchess Hospital attendants on the ambulance administered oxygen and applied other emergency treatment but to no avail. The woman was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital.

Dr. Michael Badeen of Millerton, an assistant Dutchess County medical examiner, investigated the death with state troopers. He later gave a verdict of accidental death due to asphyxiation.

Authorities reported that a faulty kerosene space heater apparently caused the fire, and fumes from the stove evidently felled the woman before she could make her way to safety.

The first fatal fire recorded in 1967 by Dutchess County authorities occurred on March 5, when a 51-year-old man lost his life in fire that destroyed his trailer home in Pleasant Valley.

Shortly before 6:15 p. m. yesterday, Wallkill firefighters were summoned to the Wallkill Central High School on Route 208. When firemen arrived they were confronted with flames that were sweeping through the dryer room in the basement of the building.

John Gardiner, principal of Wallkill High, told a reporter that a basketball game and wrestling events had just been completed in the school gym when fire was discovered in the boys' locker room adjacent to the drying room in the basement under the gym. He said wrestlers and others who happened to be in the school extinguished the flames and prevented any heavy damage.

"Whoever set that fire," Gardiner said, "piled basketball uniforms on the floor and used them as fuel."

Meanwhile, the alarm in the building had sounded and Wallkill firemen responded. Gardiner said the basement fire had been extinguished before the arrival of firefighters. While firemen were in the building, someone discovered another fire raging in the janitor's utility closet on the third floor.

Firemen hurried to the third floor and battled the flames that caused extensive damage to that area and the contents of the closet. Gardiner said the flames burned out the electrical panels in the area.

The principal said heavy water damage resulted and the third floor of the building was virtually flooded. Electricians worked last night to repair the fire alarm system. Gardiner said it is not known at this time whether the school might have to close until major eletrical service is replaced.

Most of the students and spectators who had attended the basketball game and wrestling events had left the school before the fires were discovered. According to Gardiner both fires were set by "persons unknown" and he added, "we assume students set the fires."

On Rocky's Requests

Fiscal Experts Go to Work

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Legislature's fiscal experts began to grapple today with Gov. Rockefeller's request for authority to spend a record-smashing $5.5-billion and raise taxes by $494 million in the coming fiscal year.

Rockefeller's appeal for increases in nine taxes and a whopping $856 - million jump in spending dominated preliminary scrutiny of the budget he sent to the Legislature Tuesday.

The mood in the legislative halls was somber Tuesday as lawmakers received final confirmation of their worst election - year fears: The governor wants to raise taxes.

Reserve to Hostility

At the leadership level, the reaction ranged from careful reserve on the Republican side to open hostility in the Democratic-run Assembly.

If Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia's response was typical of the sentiment in Democratic circles, the Republican governor's budget faces some rough going before it gets the Legislature's approval.

Travia labeled the governor's tax increase proposals as "another startling Rockefeller tax increase" and termed the proposed spending rise of $856 million as "all but unbelievable."

He challenged the governor's contention that tax boosts were necessary to meet demands for more state aid to localities and asserted that the increases would be used instead to bankroll new and expanded state operating and construction programs.

And he declared that the budget apparently could demand another tax increase next year.

Republicans took a more sympathetic posture, but, nonetheless, one leader promised to try to knock out "some or all of the minor taxes" proposed in the budget.

Rockefeller is pressing for approval of a 20 per cent boost in the personal income-tax and a major increase in business taxes as the foundation for a tax - increase program that includes other, lesser levies.

Brydges did not single out any specific proposal but he is known to disfavor Rockefeller's bid for increase in the gasoline and liquor taxes.

Small Yield

The two levies would yield relatively small amounts, compared with the potential revenue from raising the income tax and the tax on general corporations.

Brydges' fellow Republican chieftain, Assembly Minority Leader Perry B. Duryea Jr., promised his members would approach the budget "with caution" but would give special study to the gasoline and liquor-tax proposals.

Rockefeller proposes to raise the motor fuels tax by a cent a gallon and the liquor taxes by 10 cents a fifth.

The budget also drew a critical appraisal from Democratic State Comptroller Arthur Levitt, who is credited by the Republican administration with providing the basic shape for the Rockefeller approach on taxation this year.

The budget, said Levitt "compresses into a few years major programs which should have been spread over a greater span."

Critical on Bond Money

He criticized the governor for leaning heavily on bond money to help balance the construction part of the budget.

"The cost of paying interest and principal on existing bonds has risen $30 million in one year," said the comptroller, adding:

"The outlook for the future is alarming, if we do not apply the lessons from the past."

Flu Epidemic

When a dozen schools remained closed in Buffalo, due to influenza absences, other health officials were consulted about closing schools elsewhere when absenteeism was high. The answer is a good guide for school officials everywhere.

"The only reason to close a school is when there are so many children out you can't teach a good lesson or there are so many teachers out there is no one left to teach," was the reply.

As a matter of fact, the flu epidemic this year has been much wider than had been expected. Absenteeism in schools, offices and factories is very high. Nonetheless, the epidemic is a mild one.

Epidemiologists say that influenza is a cyclical disease. Every two or three years, mild epidemics occur. Perhaps four times in a century, a severe world-wide outbreak occurs. The worst in modern times was the pandemic of 1918-1919. It killed an estimated 20 million, two and a half times all those killed in World War 1, which had just ended. It also disabled as many or more than those which that war wounded.

Today, medicine has reduced the risk. There are vaccines to help prevent the flue and antibiotics to fight pneumonia and other complications. But the best news about the current flu epidemic is that it is passing through its most severe stages now and will start to calm down as we progress into February.

Auxiliary Police

Auxiliary police, formed shortly after World War II, have done traffic patrol and other volunteer duties in various cities of the country. So far as is known, they will do regular police duty for the first time in the country when 400 volunteers go on duty in high-crime districts of Buffalo, N. Y., to augment the services of the 3,000-man force in that city.

The volunteers—all trained and in uniform—are scheduled to patrol the streets, probably from 6 p. m. until midnight. They will carry nightsticks but no firearms. They will be equipped with walkie-talkie radios for quick two-way communication.

William J. Flynn, county defense director, said he had no trouble rounding up all the volunteers needed. The auxiliaries are not paid, but they are covered by workmen's compensation paid by the county. While they have had riot training they will not be patrolling riot-prone areas but other districts, thus releasing regular patrolmen for riot control.

The auxiliaries will alleviate a shortage of regular policemen. A recent call for examination for 51 vacancies in the regular police force attracted only 24 applicants. The city must make police duty more appealing in order to attract more applicants. Meantime, the volunteers will fill the immediate need. Their response showed that civic pride is high in the nation's twentieth city.

$900 Million Rise

It is not called a tax, but the new postal rates which went into effect recently will produce $900 million more a year and it is spent before it is collected. It goes to pay postal workers a six per cent increase and other civil service workers a four per cent rise.

As all who use the postal system now know, first class letters went up Jan. 8 from five to six cents an ounce; airmail letters from eight to 10 cents an ounce; postal cards from four to five cents each and airmail cards from six to eight cents.

Second class mail rates, mostly newspapers and magazines, were increased about 24 per cent. Bulk third class mail, mostly advertising circulars, increased 34 per cent.

Mailers are cautioned that letters bearing insufficient postage will be returned for additional stamps. So you'd better heed the increases, or else you'll lose several days getting your letters away.

South Vietnam Must Pass on Peace Terms

WASHINGTON — Probably the most significant development in the Vietnam war situation in a long time is a speech just delivered by the President of the South Vietnam Republic, in which he criticized the United States for assuming the initiative in negotiating peace in Vietnam. He feels that this is the function of his own government.

Actually, President Nguyen Van Thieu is right from the standpoint of international law. For the United States has sent its troops to the battle region at the request of the South Vietnamese government and is, therefore, in the status of an ally which may may consult with other allies and with the government at Saigon. But the final decision as to whether North Vienam shall continue to be bombed and whether armed forces should be sent into Cambodia in "hot pursuit" rests with the South Vietnamese government.

The South Vietnam president declared that any unconditional halting of the bombing of Vietnam is "preposterous" and "absurd," and he urged instead that every pressure be exerted against North Vietnam and the Viet Cong unless they stop their aggression.

The speech, which was delivered to South Vietnamese newspaper editors, is said to reflect a fear among officials of the Saigon government—particularly the military men — that President Johnson may conclude a peace agreement with the Communists which will be unsatisfactory to the South Vietnamese government.

This is the first time that even what may prove to be a mere difference of opinion, rather than a rift, between the United States and the new government in South-Vietnam has appeared. It could have constructive results, because too many people in the United States, perticularly in Congress, have been talking as if the United States is in complete control of the actions of the South Vietnamese government and as if the latter would do as bidden by the Washington administration. This naturally produces resentment and causes uneasiness in South Vietnam.

It is, of course, possible that President Johnson may not be displeased at this utterance by President Thieu. For in a sense it makes clear that the initiative in peace negotiations is not entirely within the authority of the United States, and hence the responsibility for continuance of the war cannot rightfully be placed upon Washington.

The government of South Vietnam is fighting to preserve its independence and to repel the aggressor forces of North Vietnam which are trying to conquer the South. It cannot afford any peace arrangement which might weaken the South Vietnamese government and possibly lead to domination and a takeover by North Vietnam. President Thieu issued a plain warning when he said:

"The Republic of Vietnam that most naturally should have the central role in any development relating to the events in Vietnam."

As for Cambodia, the South Vietnamese president was emphatic that the Communists should not be permitted to use Cambodian territory as a sanctuary from which to launch attacks. He declared there have been consistent violations of Camdodian neutrality by the Viet Cong and that the Saigon government reserves the right to pursue guerrillas into Cambodia.

After President Thieu's speech was reported in the American press, Secretary of State Dean Rusk issued a statement reiterating the basic principle that "the South Vietnamese people must determine their own future without external interference." He said the United States stands by its declaration of December 8 that "the imposition of any coalition government would be at variance with this princple."

President Johnson, to be sure, has made the same point before. But evidently there are individuals, inside and outside Congress, as well as organizations which seem to think the President of the United States can push a button and end the Vietnam war at will. The Johnson Administration has indicated plainly that it will not make peace in Vietnam unless terms satisfactory to the South Vietnamese are obtained.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

It was bound to happen. There is a new magazine called Weight Watchers. These people, I would guess, watch each other round the curves at the dinner table. An old friend of mine, Matty Simmons, runs it. He used to edit the Diners Club magazine, which suggests eating, and now he has gone anti-food with this watchamacallit watchers.

His business manager is a girl named Enid, and you know what that spells back ward. I don't know whether to buy a subscription or send a sandwich. A cavernous blonde named Jean Nidetch writes a readers column and I read part of the first letter: "I've lost 20 pounds and want to lose 40 more. In the meantime, though, I have absolutely nothing to wear. . ."

If she has to lose 40 more, she has already lost the grouch who buys the clothes. Take three tablecloths and make a bikini. Better yet, look like Buddy Hackett. He's the only man I know whose vest picks up the dust. The doctor takes Buddy's knee reflexes from the back.

Jackie Gleason—well, he's our founder, like Buddha. Rock his head back and forth and he pops like champagne. For a man who has to sit so far from the lasagna, it's amazing how much of it manages to get in his big mouth. My father's a pretty good eater. Now, in his age, he has a shape like a boa constrictor after swallowing a reindeer. He thinks his chest slipped.

Simmons begins to lose me when he runs an advertisement that says: "The Springtime of a woman' Life Should Begin at 55." The Springtime of a woman's life begins the day she meets the right man. It ends the day she marries him. Everything after is the winter of discontent.

Weight Watchers, I learned, have clubs. They go to meetings. You know, like Alcoholics Anonymous and Gamblers Anonymous. They watch each other and atone publicly for banana splits and lemon chiffon pie. After 7 p. m. the kitchen refrigerator is electrified. The box of chocolates has a bear trap in the top layer. A woman I know goes to bed with a photo of a chocolate layer cake and cries in the icing.

Losing weight isn't will power. It's won't power. Diets are worthless, as has been said many times, because fat slobs like me think of a diet as something you get on in order to get off. Pills won't do it, either. They depress the appetite and jazz the nerves so high that I cha-cha when I go to bed.

At five a. m. I'm staring at the dark ceiling watching the colored meat balls go around. I get sexy dreams about thick steaks and home fries. I have a desperate brother-in-law, Emil Steencken, who can dine on a bowl of Tobasco sauce if you'll let him put ketchup on it.

I'm 171. For a man five feet seven and a half inches tall, that's a hogshead of lard. My wife tries to seduce me into eating sauted grass, but my stomach keeps shaking my esophagous no. Who likes wild rice? That's Mao

Astra Baer writes an article about a Weight Watcher named Irene Edelbaum, 5 feet 5 inches, 347 pounds. She looked as though she had swallowed Jackie Leonard. Now she's 197. Bully for her. To make her smile they have to pinch her cheeks. I hope she reads the article they have on herbs and spices. No one flies on those weeds.

There is a good fashion layout in color, but the models aren't weight Watchers. They're all five feet thirteen and weigh 104 pounds. Sick. My wife is 5 feet 7 inches tall and weighs 134. The only difference between her and Venus de Milo is that Kelly has arms. And hands, palm up.

She looks round. And I look around to see who's looking around her. Now Toots Shor—that's fat. Jimmy Cannon watched him waddle up a flight of stairs and said: "Reminds me of two little boys fighting under a blanket."

The Weight Watchers and Matty Simmons will do well. Far be it from me to point a finger, but Matty is fatty. If he goes down to 140, he'll be able to hide behind a letter opener. I played golf with Rocky Marciano today and, at 246, he looks like Italian Boys Town.

Once upon a time, Buddy Hackett and Jackie Gleason went on a diet prescribed by the same doctor. Hackett dropped weight. The Greatest picked up a gross. At Sardi's one evening, Gleason was eating when Buddy walked in. "Hey Jackie," he said, "I lost 35 pounds. Look up, I brought the doctor with me."

Drew Pearson Says

Another White House Deal Is Sought by Adam Powell

WASHINGTON — There was some very significant byplay behind the recent California speeches of Adam Clayton Powell, the Harlem globe-trotter.

The byplay included overtures to President Johnson that if the Justice Department would drop its grand jury probe of Powell's finances, Powell would mobilize Negroes against black power and for harmonious race relations.

Once before, in 1956, Powell made similar overtures to the White House when occcupied by Dwight D. Eisenhower. The overtures were accepted. At that time Powell was on the verge of income tax trouble; two secretaries had been prosecuted and one, Miss Hattie Dodson, was already in the federal penitentiary at Alderson, W. Va.

Powell proposed that if Miss Dodson was released from Alderson and if his tax troubles were forgotten, he, Powell, a Democrat, would come out for Eisenhower, a Republican, for re-election.

The bid was eagerly accepted. The dapper Congressman from Harlem duly stood on the White House steps to announce that he would vote for Eisenhower and he called upon all Negroes to do the same. Thereafter Powell was given funds by the Republican National Committee, plus a staff, and worked hard for Ike. His income tax case was dropped for the time being, though finally resurrected by a runaway grand jury in New York which would not take orders from Washington. The trial resulted in a hung jury, and the case was later dismissed by Bobby Kennedy as one of his first acts after becoming Attorney General.

Recently Powell has made somewhat the same proposal to the White House. He knows that a grand jury has been investigating him and that he faces trouble. This time he offers not to campaign for Johnson, who already has strong Negro support, but to campaign for better race relations. He was willing to go out and combat the Stokely Carmichaels, the Rap Browns, and the black power advocates. However, his proposal fell on deaf ears. He got no takers at the White House.

Accordingly Adam went to Watts, Calif.—the first time he has really left his exile in Bimini except to appear before the grand jury in Washington. In Watts, he gave the White House a taste of what he could do in the way of rabble-rousing—this time supporting Stokely Carmichael.

However, it was only a taste. Adam didn't go all the way. Obviously he wanted to show the President what his power could be. This wasn't particularly necessary, because Johnson, having served in Congress with Adam and seen him operate, knows that he is probably the most effective spellbinder in the Negro race. He could be a great influence for racial harmony—or for rioting and bloodshed.

On one occasion Powell flew to Jakarta, Indonesia, on his own, to attend the Asia - Africa conference, where the favorite pastime was knocking the USA. He delivered a strong speech defending the USA and the progress made by American Negroes.

But this time Adam wants to make a deal in advance.

—One Senator's Record—

Few Senators have received such overwhelming votes from both liberals and reactionaries as Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa. Within two days he learned that Americans for Democratic Action and AFL-CIO's COPE had given him a 99 per cent rating on his 11-year voting record. The 99 per cent was the highest rating ADA announced for any member of the Senate. Next day, Sen. Clark learned that the ultra-reactionary Liberty Lobby had given his record — a rating of exactly zero.

—Answering The Mail—

Lewis Katz, Philadelphia—The reason for the delay in announcing the President's call upon the Pope was the interesting fact that the Presidential plane is geared to send the entire Strategic Air Command into the air against an enemy in a matter of split seconds, but it cannot communicate with American embassies. The plane carries complicated electronic gear which can reach the SAC base at Colorado Springs and Omaha in about 18 seconds, but to reach American embassies it must go through the State Department in Washington.

Thus, while the President's plane was flying over India he could not communicate with the American Embassy in India or in Pakistan. He had to communicate via the State Department, which then relayed the message back to the embassy concerned. or four hours flying over India, therefore, the President was out of touch with the American embassies in Rome, Karachi, and New Delhi.

The President knew that the Pope had a Christmas Eve broadcast to deliver to the Catholic world, and he wanted to time his arrival so as not to disrupt that schedule. It took some communications back and forth between Rome and the Presidential plane to arrange this.

Albert Jackson, Washington, D. C.—Miriam Makeba got inveigled without her realizing it into appearing on the some platform with Stokely Carmichael in Tanzania where anti-American, pro-communist songs were sung. Miriam is a citizen of Tanzania and went back there to get her passport renewed. The president of Tanzania invited her to attend the meeting at which Carmichael was going to speak. She would have preferred not to go, but felt she had to defer to a presidential request. She did not, however, sit on the platform. She sat in the audience, mainly comprised of college students.

After Carmichael spoke, the audience started to chant "Makeba, Makeba," and demanded that she sing. She sang a number which was not anti-American but was taken from the RCA Victor album "An Evening with Belafonte and Makeba," which is titled "Beware Verwoerd." It was a warning to the prime minister of South Africa that the black man is on the move.

Miriam has been a generous contributor of her time and talent to various projects to aid the cause of better relations between the United States and African countries.

Henry J. Taylor Says

De Gaulle Would Destroy U. S. Leadership

President Charles de Gaulle, behind the scenes, tried to sabotage Presidential envoy Chester Bowles' mission to Cambodia on U. S.-Vietnam matters. How de Gaulle succeeded remains to be established, but French influence on Prince Norodom Sihanouk is strong.

As de Gaulle systematically strikes against our country, millions generously infer he is senile, which he definitely is not. And the false explanation of senility weakens our ability to survive his part in the Moscow-Peking-Paris attack.

His roots, of course, are in great events and any clarification of the attack starts with these.

De Gaulle made his Resistance appeal from London on June 18, 1940. He symbolized the Resistance, and we propped him up handsomely in this, although we knew he had a reputation for biting the feeding hand. When today de Gaulle complains of Anglo-American slights he makes us forget he exploded our patience himself. Winston Churchill's statement that "of all the crosses I have to bear the Cross of Lorraine (de Gaulle) is the worst" is something we're entitled to remember.

Though de Gaulle was the symbol of French resistance, the response was to France, not to him—a fact he twice denied to me and which he now denies to anybody.

French escapees went first to safety at the Spanish government's ancient penitentiary at Pamplona, then pilgrimaged to the enormous escapee camp at Mirando de Ebro and ultimately to the old bull ring staudim at Malaga. They embarked there, as I once did on this trip with them, to join de Gaulle's Anglo-American-supported Fighting French in North Africa.

Starting with the landing in the African Cameroons in 1940, the Fighting French had rallied Gabon, French Equitorial Africa, Chad and Ubangi to the cause and were well entrenched in the Mediterranean's northern strip, including Syria. In the Pacific and Far East, Tahiti and New Caledonia declared for the Free French, followed by Pondicherry and the French possessions in India. Then Senegal, French Guinea, the Ivory Coast, Dahomey, Madagascar and Niger (all now in the United Nations where each has a vote as heavy as that of the United States) all decared. So did Guadeloupe and Martinique, as well as some islands off Newfoundland.

Gabon typifies de Gaulle's cynical preachments about intervention, which are sheer double-talk. The French had timber and iron holdings there. The territory was proclaimed independent August 17, 1960. On February 18, 1964, native junior officers threw French-subsidized stooge dictator Leon M'Ba in the clink and reached for his power and the French purse. Bingo! De Gaulle sent in French paratroopers the next day.

The Kremlin inherited nearly four million French Communists whose loyalty is to Moscow. Many of their leaders were French Army deserters, Maurice Thorez, became Vice-Premier of France. In the large measure their Red divisive tactics defeated France in Vietnam, Morocco, Tunisia and Algeria. De Gaulle, from the very beginning, in power and out, dealt with the French Communists.

He had dealt with them in the mistaken idea that he personally could remain a free agent. And, as for their sponsors in Moscow and Peking, de Gaulle must win his points by diplomatic blackmail — a game he knows well.

Twice America went to help France expel her invaders, liberate her sons from prisons, help France recover her independence and her liberties and the right to regain a place among civilized nations. In fact, except for American intervention there would be no de Gaulle.

Yet de Gaulle's primary policy is to sabotage and, if possible, destroy America's world leadership. For this destructive purpose he has created his de facto Moscow-Peking-Paris axis. We are suffering the horrors of Vietnam because of its manipulations. And de Gaulle's Asian policy, which accounts for his Cambodian finagle, his Arab policy, his hostility to NATO, his recalcitrance in the Common Market and his Latin-American adventures are all likewise Red objectives—legs on the de facto Moscow-Peking-Paris axis stool.

The payoff to us is in what de Gaulle does, and this is only beclouded by such distracting excuses as "senility." We should collect at once France's long-overdue, and payable, debts to us instead of allowing de Gaulle to exploit America's gold crisis and in all intellectual ways recognize him for what he is: our declared enemy.

Lindsay's Formula

Editor, The Freeman

Mayor Lindsay's proposed new state aid formula would reward the spendthrifts and punish the prudent. The Lindsay plan would abolish the present method of distributing state aid on a per capita population basis. Instead, the Mayor's idea is to use the amount of local taxes levied — and monies spent—as a basis of determining the amount of state aid each locality will get.

This means, in effect, that the more Mayor Lindsay spends—and he can spend—the greater his financial reward from the pockets of long-suffering taxpayers all over the state.

Enormous pressures are being applied on New York City to spend, and spend, and spend. These special interest groups and Lindsay-bred power brokers will be even more energetic once it is guaranteed that the taxpayers of the entire state will automatically underwrite a fixed percentage of each dollar New York City spends.

Such a system of state aid will obviously encourage even more extravagance by Mayor Lindsay, although he seems to need little encouragement.

The people of the entire state will be best served by the legislature and executive reminding Mayor Lindsay of one of his major campaign promises—massive economies in government and substantial reductions in spending.

Flu Epidemic

When a dozen schools remained closed in Buffalo, due to influenza absences, other health officials were consulted about closing schools elsewhere when absenteeism was high. The answer is a good guide for school officials everywhere.

"The only reason to close a school is when there are so many children out you can't teach a good lesson or there are so many teachers out there is no one left to teach," was the reply.

As a matter of fact, the flu epidemic this year has been much wider than had been expected. Absenteeism in schools, offices and factories is very high. Nonetheless, the epidemic is a mild one.

Epidemiologists say that influenza is a cyclical disease. Every two or three years, mild epidemics occur. Perhaps four times in a century, a severe world-wide outbreak occurs. The worst in modern times was the pandemic of 1918-1919. It killed an estimated 20 million, two and a half times all those killed in World War 1, which had just ended. It also disabled as many or more than those which that war wounded.

Today, medicine has reduced the risk. There are vaccines to help prevent the flue and antibiotics to fight pneumonia and other complications. But the best news about the current flu epidemic is that it is passing through its most severe stages now and will start to calm down as we progress into February.

Auxiliary Police

Auxiliary police, formed shortly after World War II, have done traffic patrol and other volunteer duties in various cities of the country. So far as is known, they will do regular police duty for the first time in the country when 400 volunteers go on duty in high-crime districts of Buffalo, N. Y., to augment the services of the 3,000-man force in that city.

The volunteers—all trained and in uniform—are scheduled to patrol the streets, probably from 6 p. m. until midnight. They will carry nightsticks but no firearms. They will be equipped with walkie-talkie radios for quick two-way communication.

William J. Flynn, county defense director, said he had no trouble rounding up all the volunteers needed. The auxiliaries are not paid, but they are covered by workmen's compensation paid by the county. While they have had riot training they will not be patrolling riot-prone areas but other districts, thus releasing regular patrolmen for riot control.

The auxiliaries will alleviate a shortage of regular policemen. A recent call for examination for 51 vacancies in the regular police force attracted only 24 applicants. The city must make police duty more appealing in order to attract more applicants. Meantime, the volunteers will fill the immediate need. Their response showed that civic pride is high in the nation's twentieth city.

$900 Million Rise

It is not called a tax, but the new postal rates which went into effect recently will produce $900 million more a year and it is spent before it is collected. It goes to pay postal workers a six per cent increase and other civil service workers a four per cent rise.

As all who use the postal system now know, first class letters went up Jan. 8 from five to six cents an ounce; airmail letters from eight to 10 cents an ounce; postal cards from four to five cents each and airmail cards from six to eight cents.

Second class mail rates, mostly newspapers and magazines, were increased about 24 per cent. Bulk third class mail, mostly advertising circulars, increased 34 per cent.

Mailers are cautioned that letters bearing insufficient postage will be returned for additional stamps. So you'd better heed the increases, or else you'll lose several days getting your letters away.

South Vietnam Must Pass on Peace Terms

WASHINGTON — Probably the most significant development in the Vietnam war situation in a long time is a speech just delivered by the President of the South Vietnam Republic, in which he criticized the United States for assuming the initiative in negotiating peace in Vietnam. He feels that this is the function of his own government.

Actually, President Nguyen Van Thieu is right from the standpoint of international law. For the United States has sent its troops to the battle region at the request of the South Vietnamese government and is, therefore, in the status of an ally which may may consult with other allies and with the government at Saigon. But the final decision as to whether North Vienam shall continue to be bombed and whether armed forces should be sent into Cambodia in "hot pursuit" rests with the South Vietnamese government.

The South Vietnam president declared that any unconditional halting of the bombing of Vietnam is "preposterous" and "absurd," and he urged instead that every pressure be exerted against North Vietnam and the Viet Cong unless they stop their aggression.

The speech, which was delivered to South Vietnamese newspaper editors, is said to reflect a fear among officials of the Saigon government—particularly the military men — that President Johnson may conclude a peace agreement with the Communists which will be unsatisfactory to the South Vietnamese government.

This is the first time that even what may prove to be a mere difference of opinion, rather than a rift, between the United States and the new government in South-Vietnam has appeared. It could have constructive results, because too many people in the United States, perticularly in Congress, have been talking as if the United States is in complete control of the actions of the South Vietnamese government and as if the latter would do as bidden by the Washington administration. This naturally produces resentment and causes uneasiness in South Vietnam.

It is, of course, possible that President Johnson may not be displeased at this utterance by President Thieu. For in a sense it makes clear that the initiative in peace negotiations is not entirely within the authority of the United States, and hence the responsibility for continuance of the war cannot rightfully be placed upon Washington.

The government of South Vietnam is fighting to preserve its independence and to repel the aggressor forces of North Vietnam which are trying to conquer the South. It cannot afford any peace arrangement which might weaken the South Vietnamese government and possibly lead to domination and a takeover by North Vietnam. President Thieu issued a plain warning when he said:

"The Republic of Vietnam most naturally should have the central role in any development relating to the events in Vietnam."

As for Cambodia, the South Vietnamese president was emphatic that the Communists should not be permitted to use Cambodian territory as a sanctuary from which to launch attacks. He declared there have been consistent violations of Camdodian neutrality by the Viet Cong and that the Saigon government reserves the right to pursue guerrillas into Cambodia.

After President Thieu's speech was reported in the American press, Secretary of State Dean Rusk issued a statement reiterating the basic principle that "the South Vietnamese people must determine their own future without external interference." He said the United States stands by its declaration of December 8 that "the imposition of any coalition government would be at variance with this princple."

President Johnson, to be sure, has made the same point before. But evidently there are individuals, inside and outside Congress, as well as organizations which seem to think the President of the United States can push a button and end the Vietnam war at will. The Johnson Administration has indicated plainly that it will not make peace in Vietnam unless terms satisfactory to the South Vietnamese are obtained.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

It was bound to happen. There is a new magazine called Weight Watchers. These people, I would guess, watch each other round the curves at the dinner table. An old friend of mine, Matty Simmons, runs it. He used to edit the Diners Club magazine, which suggests eating, and now he has gone anti-food with this watchamacallit watchers.

His business manager is a girl named Enid, and you know what that spells back ward. I don't know whether to buy a subscription or send a sandwich. A cavernous blonde named Jean Nidetch writes a readers column and I read part of the first letter: "I've lost 20 pounds and want to lose 40 more. In the meantime, though, I have absolutely nothing to wear. . ."

If she has to lose 40 more, she has already lost the grouch who buys the clothes. Take three tablecloths and make a bikini. Better yet, look like Buddy Hackett. He's the only man I know whose vest picks up the dust. The doctor takes Buddy's knee reflexes from the back.

Jackie Gleason—well, he's our founder, like Buddha. Rock his head back and forth and he pops like champagne. For a man who has to sit so far from the lasagna, it's amazing how much of it manages to get in his big mouth. My father's a pretty good eater. Now, in his age, he has a shape like a boa constrictor after swallowing a reindeer. He thinks his chest slipped.

Simmons begins to lose me when he runs an advertisement that says: "The Springtime of a woman' Life Should Begin at 55." The Springtime of a woman's life begins the day she meets the right man. It ends the day she marries him. Everything after is the winter of discontent.

Weight Watchers, I learned, have clubs. They go to meetings. You know, like Alcoholics Anonymous and Gamblers Anonymous. They watch each other and atone publicly for banana splits and lemon chiffon pie. After 7 p. m. the kitchen refrigerator is electrified. The box of chocolates has a bear trap in the top layer. A woman I know goes to bed with a photo of a chocolate layer cake and cries in the icing.

Losing weight isn't will power. It's won't power. Diets are worthless, as has been said many times, because fat slobs like me think of a diet as something you get on in order to get off. Pills won't do it, either. They depress the appetite and jazz the nerves so high that I cha-cha when I go to bed.

At five a. m. I'm staring at the dark ceiling watching the colored meat balls go around. I get sexy dreams about thick steaks and home fries. I have a desperate brother-in-law, Emil Steencken, who can dine on a bowl of Tobasco sauce if you'll let him put ketchup on it.

I'm 171. For a man five feet seven and a half inches tall, that's a hogshead of lard. My wife tries to seduce me into eating sauted grass, but my stomach keeps shaking my esophagous no. Who likes wild rice? That's Mao

Astra Baer writes an article about a Weight Watcher named Irene Edelbaum, 5 feet 5 inches, 347 pounds. She looked as though she had swallowed Jackie Leonard. Now she's 197. Bully for her. To make her smile they have to pinch her cheeks. I hope she reads the article they have on herbs and spices. No one flies on those weeds.

There is a good fashion layout in color, but the models aren't weight Watchers. They're all five feet thirteen and weigh 104 pounds. Sick. My wife is 5 feet 7 inches tall and weighs 134. The only difference between her and Venus de Milo is that Kelly has arms. And hands, palm up.

She looks round. And I look around to see who's looking around her. Now Toots Shor—that's fat. Jimmy Cannon watched him waddle up a flight of stairs and said: "Reminds me of two little boys fighting under a blanket."

The Weight Watchers and Matty Simmons will do well. Far be it from me to point a finger, but Matty is fatty. If he goes down to 140, he'll be able to hide behind a letter opener. I played golf with Rocky Marciano today and, at 246, he looks like Italian Boys Town.

Once upon a time, Buddy Hackett and Jackie Gleason went on a diet prescribed by the same doctor. Hackett dropped weight. The Greatest picked up a gross. At Sardi's one evening, Gleason was eating when Buddy walked in. "Hey Jackie," he said, "I lost 35 pounds. Look up, I brought the doctor with me."

Another White House Deal Is Sought by Adam Powell

WASHINGTON — There was some very significant byplay behind the recent California speeches of Adam Clayton Powell, the Harlem globe-trotter.

The byplay included overtures to President Johnson that if the Justice Department would drop its grand jury probe of Powell's finances, Powell would mobilize Negroes against black power and for harmonious race relations.

Once before, in 1956, Powell made similar overtures to the White House when occcupied by Dwight D. Eisenhower. The overtures were accepted. At that time Powell was on the verge of income tax trouble; two secretaries had been prosecuted and one, Miss Hattie Dodson, was already in the federal penitentiary at Alderson, W. Va.

Powell proposed that if Miss Dodson was released from Alderson and if his tax troubles were forgotten, he, Powell, a Democrat, would come out for Eisenhower, a Republican, for re-election.

The bid was eagerly accepted. The dapper Congressman from Harlem duly stood on the White House steps to announce that he would vote for Eisenhower and he called upon all Negroes to do the same. Thereafter Powell was given funds by the Republican National Committee, plus a staff, and worked hard for Ike. His income tax case was dropped for the time being, though finally resurrected by a runaway grand jury in New York which would not take orders from Washington. The trial resulted in a hung jury, and the case was later dismissed by Bobby Kennedy as one of his first acts after becoming Attorney General.

Recently Powell has made somewhat the same proposal to the White House. He knows that a grand jury has been investigating him and that he faces trouble. This time he offers not to campaign for Johnson, who already has strong Negro support, but to campaign for better race relations. He was willing to go out and combat the Stokely Carmichaels, the Rap Browns, and the black power advocates. However, his proposal fell on deaf ears. He got no takers at the White House.

Accordingly Adam went to Watts, Calif.—the first time he has really left his exile in Bimini except to appear before the grand jury in Washington. In Watts, he gave the White House a taste of what he could do in the way of rabble-rousing—this time supporting Stokely Carmichael.

However, it was only a taste. Adam didn't go all the way. Obviously he wanted to show the President what his power could be. This wasn't particularly necessary, because Johnson, having served in Congress with Adam and seen him operate, knows that he is probably the most effective spellbinder in the Negro race. He could be a great influence for racial harmony—or for rioting and bloodshed.

On one occasion Powell flew to Jakarta, Indonesia, on his own, to attend the Asia - Africa conference, where the favorite pastime was knocking the USA. He delivered a strong speech defending the USA and the progress made by American Negroes.

But this time Adam wants to make a deal in advance.

—One Senator's Record—

Few Senators have received such overwhelming votes from both liberals and reactionaries as Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa. Within two days he learned that Americans for Democratic Action and AFL-CIO's COPE had given him a 99 per cent rating on his 11-year voting record. The 99 per cent was the highest rating ADA announced for any member of the Senate. Next day, Sen. Clark learned that the ultra-reactionary Liberty Lobby had given his record — a rating of exactly zero.

—Answering The Mail—

Lewis Katz, Philadelphia—The reason for the delay in announcing the President's call upon the Pope was the interesting fact that the Presidential plane is geared to send the entire Strategic Air Command into the air against an enemy in a matter of split seconds, but it cannot communicate with American embassies. The plane carries complicated electronic gear which can reach the SAC base at Colorado Springs and Omaha in about 18 seconds, but to reach American embassies it must go through the State Department in Washington.

Thus, while the President's plane was flying over India he could not communicate with the American Embassy in India or in Pakistan. He had to communicate via the State Department, which then relayed the message back to the embassy concerned, or four hours flying over India, therefore, the President was out of touch with the American embassies in Rome, Karachi, and New Delhi.

The President knew that the Pope had a Christmas Eve broadcast to deliver to the Catholic world, and he wanted to time his arrival so as not to disrupt that schedule. It took some communications back and forth between Rome and the Presidential plane to arrange this.

Albert Jackson, Washington, D. C.—Miriam Makeba got inveigled without her realizing it into appearing on the some platform with Stokely Carmichael in Tanzania where anti-American, pro-communist songs were sung. Miriam is a citizen of Tanzania and went back there to get her passport renewed. The president of Tanzania invited her to attend the meeting at which Carmichael was going to speak. She would have preferred not to go, but felt she had to defer to a presidential request. She did not, however, sit on the platform. She sat in the audience, mainly comprised of college students.

After Carmichael spoke, the audience started to chant "Makeba, Makeba," and demanded that she sing. She sang a number which was not anti-American but was taken from the RCA Victor album "An Evening with Belafonte and Makeba," which is titled "Beware Verwoerd." It was a warning to the prime minister of South Africa that the black man is on the move.

Miriam has been a generous contributor of her time and talent to various projects to aid the cause of better relations between the United States and African countries.

Henry J. Taylor Says

De Gaulle Would Destroy U. S. Leadership

President Charles de Gaulle, behind the scenes, tried to sabotage Presidential envoy Chester Bowles' mission to Cambodia on U. S.-Vietnam matters. How de Gaulle succeeded remains to be established, but French influence on Prince Norodom Sihanouk is strong.

As de Gaulle systematically strikes against our country, millions generously infer he is senile, which he definitely is not. And the false explanation of senility weakens our ability to survive his part in the Moscow-Peking-Paris attack.

His roots, of course, are in great events and any clarification of the attack starts with these.

De Gaulle made his Resistance appeal from London on June 18, 1940. He symbolized the Resistance, and we propped him up handsomely in this, although we knew he had a reputation for biting the feeding hand. When today de Gaulle complains of Anglo-American slights he makes us forget he exploded our patience himself. Winston Churchill's statement that "of all the crosses I have to bear the Cross of Lorraine (de Gaulle) is the worst" is something we're entitled to remember.

Though de Gaulle was the symbol of French resistance, the response was to France, not to him—a fact he twice denied to me and which he now denies to anybody.

French escapees went first to safety at the Spanish government's ancient penitentiary at Pamplona, then pilgrimaged to the enormous escapee camp at Mirando de Ebro and ultimately to the old bull ring staudim at Malaga. They embarked there, as I once did on this trip with them, to join de Gaulle's Anglo-American-supported Fighting French in North Africa.

Starting with the landing in the African Cameroons in 1940, the Fighting French had rallied Gabon, French Equitorial Africa, Chad and Ubangi to the cause and were well entrenched in the Mediterranean's northern strip, including Syria. In the Pacific and Far East, Tahiti and New Caledonia declared for the Free French, followed by Pondicherry and the French possessions in India. Then Senegal, French Guinea, the Ivory Coast, Dahomey, Madagascar and Niger (all now in the United Nations where each has a vote as heavy as that of the United States) all decared. So did Guadeloupe and Martinique, as well as some islands off Newfoundland.

Gabon typifies de Gaulle's cynical preachments about intervention, which are sheer double-talk. The French had timber and iron holdings there. The territory was proclaimed independent August 17, 1960. On February 18, 1964, native junior officers threw French-subsidized stooge dictator Leon M'Ba in the clink and reached for his power and the French purse. Bingo! De Gaulle sent in French paratroopers the next day.

The Kremlin inherited nearly four million French Communists whose loyalty is to Moscow. Many of their leaders were French Army deserters, Maurice Thorez, became Vice-Premier of France. In the large measure their Red divisive tactics defeated France in Vietnam, Morocco, Tunisia and Algeria. De Gaulle, from the very beginning, in power and out, dealt with the French Communists.

He had dealt with them in the mistaken idea that he personally could remain a free agent. And, as for their sponsors in Moscow and Peking, de Gaulle must win his points by diplomatic blackmail — a game he knows well.

Twice America went to help France expel her invaders, liberate her sons from prisons, help France recover her independence and her liberties and the right to regain a place among civilized nations. In fact, except for American intervention there would be no de Gaulle.

Yet de Gaulle's primary policy is to sabotage and, if possible, destroy America's world leadership. For this destructive purpose he has created his de facto Moscow-Peking-Paris axis. We are suffering the horrors of Vietnam because of its manipulations. And de Gaulle's Asian policy, which accounts for his Cambodian finagle, his Arab policy, his hostility to NATO, his recalcitrance in the Common Market and his Latin-American adventures are all likewise Red objectives—legs on the de facto Moscow-Peking-Paris axis stool.

The payoff to us is in what de Gaulle does, and this is only beclouded by such distracting excuses as "senility." We should collect at once France's long-overdue, and payable, debts to us instead of allowing de Gaulle to exploit America's gold crisis and in all intellectual ways recognize him for what he is: our declared enemy.

Social Security System Is In Balance, Say Authorities

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Publications

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The harshest critics of the Social Security system, watching it grow and take on more and more burdens like Medicare, like to argue that it is at least $350 billion in the red and steadily going broke.

Without minimizing the huge financial problems which inevitably accompany the system's constant enlargement, it seems fair to say that these arguments are insupportable.

In the first place, the $350 billion figure represents the entire unfunded outstanding obligations of the Social Security system. But this total sum it not owed NOW in any real sense, and could not be unless the many millions of potential beneficiaries in this country suddenly—in one curious stroke—became eligible together for their retirement, survivors' and disabled benefits.

See It in Good Shape

Of course nothing like that is going to happen. What counts is the system's capacity to pay its obligations as they develop. Most economists and other specialists believe it is in good shape if, generally, it has a fund reserve roughly equal to the amounts it must pay out in benefits in a given year.

Social Security authorities say trust funds of the system presently hold close to $26 billion, more than enough to cover an expected record $25.2 billion outlay in cash benefits in 1968 as new higher payments take effect.

Some critics argue that so close a relationship between income and outgo is dangerous. But present and future income is guaranteed by law, since Social Security taxes must be deducted from workers' pay checks, employers must match these deductions, and additional revenues are gathered as interest on the accumulated funds.

Furthermore, Congress in its 1967 Social Security revisions has just spread the base from which the tax is collected to reach earnings up to $7,800 instead of the old $6,600, and has provided for six tax increases between 1969 and 1987.

More Will Pay

On top of this, steadily rising wage levels suggest that in the years ahead more and more workers will be paying Social Security taxes up to—or near—the newly specified income top of $7,800.

Another point is that the new top probably could be lifted again, at least to the $10,800 level the administration sought in 1967, without too much political fuss. And there would be still more leeway here, since analysts note that even at the $10,800 level only 87 per cent of U.S. workers would be taxed on all their wages.

Despite Social Security's enormous and continuing growth, receipts have exceeded payments in all but five of its more than 30 years of life. In the next five years forecasts are that perhaps another $36 billion will be added to its trust fund reserves — notwithstanding rising outgo.

Never Make Claims

The system is helped, additionally, by the fact that many Americans who pay in never make any claims against it. Some die before retirement time and leave no survivors, some work on past retirement age at good income levels and never seek benefits.

One anlyst points out that the system is being heavily freshened at the youthful end of the worker scale. In a typical year, he says, 2.2 million Americans enter the labor force, but only 675,000 or so retire under Social Security. As the heavy entering numbers move up the income ladder, their tax contributions should prove immense.

The whole Social Security enterprise has grown to such proportions that it is estimated Social Security today accounts for 18 per cent of all federal taxes raised. The percentage conceivably may go higher.

The Social Security tax structure is now taking in upwards of $25 billion a year this total, too, is rising.

Some specialists, indeed, are arguing that, far from being broke, Social Security is beginning to accumulate too much money in its trust funds and that future pileups might have a strongly deflationary effect on the whole economy.

Calls for Bombing Halt

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—What does the price tag say?

If the United States called a pause in the bombing of North Vietnam and if the North Vietnamese responded by slowing down their fighting in Soutn Vietnam, then the pause would be worth it and peace talks might get started.

If the United States stopped bombing the North in the hope of a reciprocal response but the North used the pause to build up its forces in the South with men and supplies, U. S. ground forces in the South would have to pay the price.

So far the North has never shown any intention of slowing down its own side of the war when there was an American pause. But the calls for a bombing halt, temporary or permanent, go on.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield is the latest one to oppose the bombing. He wants a permanent halt to it.

He thinks what the North said on New Year's Day may be "one small indication" that if the United States stopped the bombing the North Vietnamese might be willing to talk peace.

This is what he said Sunday. He was referring to the North Vietnamese statement Jan. 1 that an end to the bombing will bring peace talks. In the past Hanoi had only said such U. S. action could — rather than will — bring talks.

But North Vietnam really didn't make it that simple.

Hanoi said there will be peace talks if the United States unconditionally ends the bombing and all other acts of war. But it didn't say it would stop its end of the war if the United States met its demands.

And so far President Johnson, thinking of the price tag, has refused to end the bombing. Instead, he is trying to find out what exactly North Vietnam will do if the bombing stops.

But Mansfield went beyond just hoping for the best. He said of the bombing, and gave it as a principal reason for wanting the bombing stopped altogether, whether or not the North Vietnamese respond:

"I think that militarily it has not accomplished its objective, politically I think it's very risky, and morally I think it's quite calamitous.

On Monday, a committee of distinguished men, including former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, tried to take a detached view of the bombing problem. Some of the others in this group are retired General of the Army Omar N. Bradley, and Paul Douglas, former senator from Illinois.

The group—called the Citizens Committee for Peace with Freedom in Vietnam—published a pamphlet giving the two sides of the argument about ending the bombing of the North. But it also offered conclusions of its own.

It said the bombing is not as central to the American effort in Vietnam as some of its proponents claim nor as much of an obstacle to negotiations as its opponents claim.

It said the war cannot be won in the air by bombing the North. But the bombing is a help to American ground forces fighting in the South and the war can be lost on the ground, the group said.

Defense Firms Set for Vietnam Peace

BABSON PARK, Mass. — "An early 'outbreak' of peace in Vietnam would not only be bullish for the stock market as a whole but would not seriously affect the defense sector of the market," Roger E. Spear, president of the Spear & Staff, Inc., investment adviser, said today.

"Our contacts in the Pentagon tell us that defense industries as a whole are pretty well prepared for any eventuality, whether it be demobilization or a further mobilization," Spear said, "In fact, we find that many companies would rather experience a slowdown in defense procurement for war items in order to resume production of goods for the civilian sector of the economy."

Spear singled out Raytheon Company as an example of one of the many defense-oriented firms which are well prepared to cope with any quick peace settlement in Vietnam.

"We are informed, in fact," Spear declared, "that the company believes it would have been better off without the Vietnam War, taking into consideration the amount of work they are getting as a result of it, and the profit potential of 'peace-time' products where output could have been increased."

Spear said: "Government accounts for about $575 million of Raytheon's revenues and about 10 per cent of that, or $55-$60 million, is related to Vietnam. But only about half of the Vietnam business in turn is directly related to the war effort. That would include bomb fuses and the like. If complete demobilization happened over a short period of time this direct portion would disappear and the company would feel the efforts over a period of 6 to 9 months. But we are talking here of only about 5 per cent of sales, and major defense programs such as the Nike-X and SAM-D would pick up the lost momentum within a comparatively short time. period

"A major factor contributing to defense companies' readiness for any quick changeover to peace in Vietnam," Spear said, "is the fact that Government procurement men are doing a remarkably good job of advising companies as to probable future procurement requirements.

"The fact that there are only a handful of companies devoting a large portion of their activities to the production of goods destined for Vietnam and the fact that the great bulk of companies whose operations include only a small portion of Vietnam production are well-informed should reduce the impact of eventual demobilization," Spear concluded.

Social Security System Is In Balance, Say Authorities

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Publications

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The harshest critics of the Social Security system, watching it grow and take on more and more burdens like Medicare, like to argue that it is at least $350 billion in the red and steadily going broke.

Without minimizing the huge financial problems which inevitably accompany the system's constant enlargement, it seems fair to say that these arguments are insupportable.

In the first place, the $350 billion figure represents the entire unfunded outstanding obligations of the Social Security system. But this total sum it not owed NOW in any real sense, and could not be unless the many millions of potential beneficiaries in this country suddenly—in one curious stroke—became eligible together for their retirement, survivors' and disabled benefits.

See It in Good Shape

Of course nothing like that is going to happen. What counts is the system's capacity to pay its obligations as they develop. Most economists and other specialists believe it is in good shape if, generally, it has a fund reserve roughly equal to the amounts it must pay out in benefits in a given year.

Social Security authorities say trust funds of the system presently hold close to $26 billion, more than enough to cover an expected record $25.2 billion outlay in cash benefits in 1968 as new higher payments take effect.

Some critics argue that so close a relationship between income and outgo is dangerous. But present and future income is guaranteed by law, since Social Security taxes must be deducted from workers' pay checks, employers must match these deductions, and additional revenues are gathered as interest on the accumulated funds.

Furthermore, Congress in its 1967 Social Security revisions has just spread the base from which the tax is collected to reach earnings up to $7,800 instead of the old $6,600, and has provided for six tax increases between 1969 and 1987.

More Will Pay

On top of this, steadily rising wage levels suggest that in the years ahead more and more workers will be paying Social Security taxes up to—or near—the newly specified income top of $7,800.

Another point is that the new top probably could be lifted again, at least to the $10,800 level the administration sought in 1967, without too much political fuss. And there would be still more leeway here, since analysts note that even at the $10,800 level only 87 per cent of U.S. workers would be taxed on all their wages.

Despite Social Security's enormous and continuing growth, receipts have exceeded payments in all but five of its more than 30 years of life. In the next five years forecasts are that perhaps another $36 billion will be added to its trust fund reserves — notwithstanding rising outgo.

Never Make Claims

The system is helped, additionally, by the fact that many Americans who pay in never make any claims against it. Some die before retirement time and leave no survivors, some work on past retirement age at good income levels and never seek benefits.

One anlyst points out that the system is being heavily freshened at the youthful end of the worker scale. In a typical year, he says, 2.2 million Americans enter the labor force, but only 675,000 or so retire under Social Security. As the heavy entering numbers move up the income ladder, their tax contributions should prove immense.

The whole Social Security enterprise has grown to such proportions that it is estimated Social Security today accounts for 18 per cent of all federal taxes raised. The percentage conceivably may go higher.

The Social Security tax structure is now taking in upwards of $25 billion a year this total, too, is rising.

Some specialists, indeed, are arguing that, far from being broke, Social Security is beginning to accumulate too much money in its trust funds and that future pileups might have a strongly deflationary effect on the whole economy.

Calls for Bombing Halt

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—What does the price tag say?

If the United States called a pause in the bombing of North Vietnam and if the North Vietnamese responded by slowing down their fighting in Soutn Vietnam, then the pause would be worth it and peace talks might get started.

If the United States stopped bombing the North in the hope of a reciprocal response but the North used the pause to build up its forces in the South with men and supplies, U. S. ground forces in the South would have to pay the price.

So far the North has never shown any intention of slowing down its own side of the war when there was an American pause. But the calls for a bombing halt, temporary or permanent, go on.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield is the latest one to oppose the bombing. He wants a permanent halt to it.

He thinks what the North said on New Year's Day may be "one small indication" that if the United States stopped the bombing the North Vietnamese might be willing to talk peace.

This is what he said Sunday. He was referring to the North Vietnamese statement Jan. 1 that an end to the bombing will bring peace talks. In the past Hanoi had only said such U. S. action could — rather than will — bring talks.

But North Vietnam really didn't make it that simple.

Hanoi said there will be peace talks if the United States unconditionally ends the bombing and all other acts of war. But it didn't say it would stop its end of the war if the United States met its demands.

And so far President Johnson, thinking of the price tag, has refused to end the bombing. Instead, he is trying to find out what exactly North Vietnam will do if the bombing stops.

But Mansfield went beyond just hoping for the best. He said of the bombing, and gave it as a principal reason for wanting the bombing stopped altogether, whether or not the North Vietnamese respond:

"I think that militarily it has not accomplished its objective, politically I think it's very risky, and morally I think it's quite calamitous.

On Monday, a committee of distinguished men, including former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, tried to take a detached view of the bombing problem. Some of the others in this group are retired General of the Army Omar N. Bradley, and Paul Douglas, former senator from Illinois.

The group—called the Citizens Committee for Peace with Freedom in Vietnam—published a pamphlet giving the two sides of the argument about ending the bombing of the North. But it also offered conclusions of its own.

It said the bombing is not as central to the American effort in Vietnam as some of its proponents claim nor as much of an obstacle to negotiations as its opponents claim.

It said the war cannot be won in the air by bombing the North. But the bombing is a help to American ground forces fighting in the South and the war can be lost on the ground, the group said.

Health Council Meets Thursday

The Ulster County Health Services Council faces a busy agenda at it's meeting Thursday 7:30 p. m. at the Saugerties High School.

Professor Richard Glazer, chairman, said today reports will be given on the county blood pool program, shared medical computer facilities; comprehensive health planning meeting of the Mid-Hudson Valley held at Dutchess County and possibilities of a shared medical library program to make best use of existing facilities. and decreasing duplication in book purchasing.

Teh meeting is open to all who are interested in health planning. Professor Glazer noted that the local council is the only one in the area and possibly in the state to have organized specific projects.

Wrists Slashed

Dominic Catone, 29, of the Evergreen Hostel, Albany Avenue Extension, was rushed to Kingston Hospital shortly before 12:30 a. m. today after he allegedly slashed his wrists with a razor blade, according to Kingston State Police. Troopers said Catone was unemployed and had been despondent. The incident was investigated by BCI Investigator Fred Cooper, Sergeant Joseph Ellsworth and Trooper David Wachtel.

Water Leak In Saugerties

Water pressure in parts of Saugerties was reported low today following a leak which became evident yesterday afternoon, according to the office of the water superintendent Mandeville Diaz.

A spokesman said at noon today that department employes, trying to locate both the shut off valves and the leak in the water main are hampered by snow and ice.

No estimate of when the leak will be repaired could be given but meanwhile residents are urged to use the least amount of water possible in order that the present pressure may be maintained.

Memoriam

In Loving Memory of our grandmother, Mrs. Mary Boughton, who passed away four years ago today January 17, 1964.
We do not forget her,
We love her too dearly
For her memory to fade
From our lives like a dream.
Our lips need not speak
When our hearts mourn sincerely.
For our grief often dwells
Where it seldom is seen.
GEORGE, ROSEMARY AND LISA.

Memoriam

In Loving Memory of our mother, Mrs. Mary Boughton, who passed away four years ago today January 17, 1964.
Because God knew your work was o'er,
Your children taught and grown,
He called you to come and dwell,
Where no more work is done;
Where the golden sun doth never set
And the sky's forever blue;
It's there, we hope in God's good time,
Dear Mother, to be with you.

Health Council Meets Thursday

The Ulster County Health Services Council faces a busy agenda at it's meeting Thursday 7:30 p. m. at the Saugerties High School.

Professor Richard Glazer, chairman, said today reports will be given on the county blood pool program, shared medical computer facilities; comprehensive health planning meeting of the Mid-Hudson Valley held at Dutchess County and possibilities of a shared medical library program to make best use of existing facilities. and decreasing duplication in book purchasing.

Teh meeting is open to all who are interested in health planning. Professor Glazer noted that the local council is the only one in the area and possibly in the state to have organized specific projects.

Wrists Slashed

Dominic Catone, 29, of the Evergreen Hostel, Albany Avenue Extension, was rushed to Kingston Hospital shortly before 12:30 a. m. today after he allegedly slashed his wrists with a razor blade, according to Kingston State Police. Troopers said Catone was unemployed and had been despondent. The incident was investigated by BCI Investigator Fred Cooper, Sergeant Joseph Ellsworth and Trooper David Wachtel.

Water Leak In Saugerties

Water pressure in parts of Saugerties was reported low today following a leak which became evident yesterday afternoon, according to the office of the water superintendent Mandeville Diaz.

A spokesman said at noon today that department employes, trying to locate both the shut off valves and the leak in the water main are hampered by snow and ice.

No estimate of when the leak will be repaired could be given but meanwhile residents are urged to use the least amount of water possible in order that the present pressure may be maintained.

Passer Gets Bronze Star In Vietnam

Word has been received that Sp/4 Richard H. Passer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Konosa Jr., RD 3, Saugerties, has received the Bronze Star for heroism in connection with military operations against hostile forces. Passer distinguished himself while serving as a door gunner aboard an aerial rocket helicopter.

Receiving a request for medical extraction of a wounded soldier, Specialist Passer volunteered to fly to the battle area. After his aircraft landed, Passer without regard for his own personal safety, moved through intense hostile fire to assist the wounded man to the helicopter.

The Army said that Passer's quick action saved his comrades life and was in the highest tradition of military valor. Passer serves with the 1st Cavalry Division.

Completes Basic

WILLIAM G. SCHOONMAKER, who guardian is Mrs. Betty A. Perry of Ruby Road, Lake Katrine, has completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex. He has been assigned to the Air Force Technical Training Center at Lowry AFB, Colo., for specialized schooling as a supply specialist. Airman Schoonmaker is a 1966 graduate of Kingston High School.

Men Enlist

Chief John W. Drake, USN, recruiter in charge of the U. S. Navy Recruiting Station in Kingston, has announced the following December enlistments:

Men enlisting from Kingston: John F. Schussler, Thomas F. Berryann and Kevin R. Steuding; Woodstock: Ronald G. Hutchinson; Ellenville: Jeffrey L. Heusser; Tillson: Wilhelm H. Salewski; Boiceville: Johnnie A. Hoag; Jeffersonville: Michael I. Kaplan; Ulster Park: William L. Daum; Monticello: Dennis O. Wood; Maple Hill: James H. Hoffman; Samsonville: Lawrence A. White; and from New Paltz: Daniel P. Matthews.

Chief Drake also stated that during December three area men with prior military service entered the Navy. From Kingston, with prior service in the U. S. Army, James R. Wilson entered the Navy as a constructionman. Also from Kingston, with prior service in the U. S. Marine Corps, David G. McCrory entered the Navy as a Construction Mechanic Petty Officer First Class. After a separation from military service for a period of four years, Sonar Technician Third Class Gary R. Schneider, from New Paltz, has reentered the U. S. Navy.

Aboard Ship

Seaman Apprentice David Oakley, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dorothy E. Oakley of 363 Wilbur Avenue, Kingston, is serving aboard the U.S. Sixth Fleet destroyer USS Douglas H. Fox in the Mediterranean.

The Norfolk, Va., homeported destroyer was one of two American destroyers which participated in a North Atlantic Treaty Organization exercise. The exercise took place in the Mediterranean with submarines, aircraft and surface units from France and Italy.

Pennock on Hawk

Fireman Apprentice David R. Pennock, U. S. N., son of Mrs. Rudy DeSilvia of Boiceville, is serving aboard the U. S. Seventh Fleet attack carrier USS Kitty Hawk off the coast of North Vietnam.

While off the coast of Vietnam the mission of the Kitty Hawk will be the launching of aircraft for strikes against enemy supply and communications lines. The aircraft will also support U. S. and Allied ground forces conducting operations in South Vietnam.

Henderson at Dix

Army Private Donald W. Henderson, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd W. Henderson, 127 Central Avenue, Cortland, completed a light vehicle driver course at Fort Dix, N. J., Dec. 15.

During the course, he was trained in the operation and maintenance of military vehicles up to and including the two and one-half ton truck. Instruction was also given in the operation of the internal combustion engine and chassis assembly.

GABRIELLE BRONCATO

Recently promoted Staff Sergeant Gabrielle Broncato, sister of Vincent Broncato of Tillson, will begin a one-year tour of duty in Vietnam this month. Sgt. Broncato, a graduate of Kingston High School, completed her basic and advanced clerical training at Fort McClellan, Ala., in 1961. Subsequent assignments included duty with the Army Intelligence Corps in Fort Holabird, Md., and Frankfort, Germany. For the past 18 months she has served as chief of administration, education and training branch, Walter Reed Army Medical Center, Washington, D.C. She will be in the area until Jan. 19.

Marine Recruits

Marine Privates Robert W. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde W. Smith of RD 3, Kingston and Lawrence J. Winters, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Winters of 70 DuBois Road, New Paltz were graduated from eight weeks recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S. C.

They will now undergo from two to four weeks of individual combat training and then, after leave at home, will report to his first Marine Corps assignment.

The intensified Marine recruit training emphasizes rigid physical conditioning and survival techniques, both at sea and ashore, to develop self-confidence and endurance. Marksmanship with the M-14 rifle and 45-caliber pistol are equally stressed, and close order drill instills the traditions of Marine Corps teamwork.

A thorough study of basic military subjects, hygiene, first aid and sanitation, and the customs, courtesies, history and and mission of the Marine Corps serve to polish the new Marine's recruit education and prepare him to join the Marine combat forces.

At School

RAYMOND WINTER, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Winter of 20 Josephine Avenue, Kingston, was accepted for the U.S. Army Warrant Officer Flight Training Program during December, 1967, and enlisted for a two-year period.

Prior to entry into service he graduated from Kingston High School, 1965, received an associate in applied science degree in mechanical technology, 1967, and was employed by Ferroxcube Corporation as a draftsman.

According to SFC Edward Keene, Army Recruiter, after completion of basic training, Pvt. Winter will receive training at Fort Walters, Tex. and Flight Training at Fort Rucker, Ala., and after completion become a Warrant Officer in the U.S. Army.

Fisk Graduates

Airman Apprentice Robert J. Fisk, U. S. N., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harley R. Fisk of 915 Albany Avenue, Kingston, was graduated from the Aviation Mechanical Fundamentals School at the Naval Air Technical Training Center, Memphis, Tenn.

He studied mathematics, physics, electrical principals, atomic structure, static and dynamic electricity, magnetic theory and the theory and construction of aircraft batteries.

Phelan Trains

Army Private John J. Phelan Jr., 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Phelan Sr., Route 28, Shokan, completed a wheeled vehicle mechanic course Dec. 15 at Fort Dix, N. J.

During the course, he was trained to repair internal combustion engines and wheeled vehicle chassis components. Instruction was given in the fundamentals of electrical and transmission systems.

Senior Problems Aired by Council

The Senior Citizen Advisory Council of Kingston is continuing to hold bi-weekly meetings to discuss problems of the senior citizen of Ulster County.

The council was formed in November under the direction of Alexander Yosman of the Kingston Housing Authority and includes representatives from the Health Department, Social Security Office, Department of Social Services, Gateway Industries, the Kingston Recreation Commission, and the New York Employment Office.

The Senior Citizen Telephone is still in operation and has been received well by the community. Approximately five calls a day are received from senior citizens or persons knowing senior citizens with a problem. The number is 338-0933 and may be called weekdays from 1 to 5 p.m.

The council is still attempting to seek a solution to transportation problems for senior citizens and a report is expected soon as to developments.

The Kingston Area Financial Council in cooperation with the Advisory Council will soon be announcing the distribution of buddy-system cards to senior citizens, to be used as a safety and precautionary measure. The Financial Council is undertaking the expense of the printing of the cards, as the Advisory Council operates without funds.

One of the most current needs which has come to light through the council, is the need of full or part time employment for senior citizens. The Employment Division of the New York State Labor Department and Gateway Industries are attempting to alleviate this situation.

In addition to its other activities, the council is trying to implement a visitation program for shut-ins. Further details will be released in the near future.

Marbletown Citizens To Hear UCCC Head

DR. GEORGE B. ERBSTEIN

Dr. George B. Erbstein, president of the Ulster County Community College, will speak to the Marbletown Citizens Organization at the monthly meeting Thursday, Jan. 18, at 7:30 p.m. His topic will be the Ulster County Community College and its effect on the Town of Marbletown and its residents.

Dr. Erbstein is a Hudson Valley native who has had 20 years experience in community college education. He was named UCCC president last April, succeeding Dr. Dale B. Lake, who became president of Kalamazoo Valley Community College in Michigan.

A native of Beacon, Dr. Erbstein served for six years with Montgomery Junior College in Maryland before becoming UCCC president. He served there as Dean of Instruction and then Dean of Faculty.

Previously he was a chemistry instructor and Director of the Evening and Extension and Community Services Division at Orange County Community College, and a chemistry and zoology instructor at Cazenovia Junior College in Cazenovia.

The Marbletown Citizens Organization holds its meetings on the third Thursday of each month at the American Legion Hall, Route 209, Stone Ridge. All members are urged to attend this meeting.

TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE ASSOCIATE DPRESS

Today is Wednesday, Jan. 17, the 17th day of 1968. There are 349 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1945, Soviet and Polish patriot forces liberated Warsaw—five years, three months and 20 days after it had fallen to the Nazis.

On this date—

In 1706, Benjamin Franklin was born in Boston.

In 1899, the United States took possession of Wake Island.

In 1950, gunmen held up the building of an armored car service in Boston and escaped with $1.5 million in cash and checks.

Ten years ago — It was disclosed that Soviet Communist chief Nikita Khrushchev had held secret talks with Polish leaders in Poland. No details were given.

Five years ago — The United States proposed that U.S. missiles in Italy be replaced with Polaris missile submarines in the Mediterranean.

Senior Problems Aired by Council

The Senior Citizen Advisory Council of Kingston is continuing to hold bi-weekly meetings to discuss problems of the senior citizen of Ulster County.

The council was formed in November under the direction of Alexander Yosman of the Kingston Housing Authority and includes representatives from the Health Department, Social Security Office, Department of Social Services, Gateway Industries, the Kingston Recreation Commission, and the New York Employment Office.

The Senior Citizen Telephone is still in operation and has been received well by the community. Approximately five calls a day are received from senior citizens or persons knowing senior citizens with a problem. The number is 338-0933 and may be called weekdays from 1 to 5 p.m.

The council is still attempting to seek a solution to transportation problems for senior citizens and a report is expected soon as to developments.

The Kingston Area Financial Council in cooperation with the Advisory Council will soon be announcing the distribution of buddy-system cards to senior citizens, to be used as a safety and precautionary measure. The Financial Council is undertaking the expense of the printing of the cards, as the Advisory Council operates without funds.

One of the most current needs which has come to light through the council, is the need of full or part time employment for senior citizens. The Employment Division of the New York State Labor Department and Gateway Industries are attempting to alleviate this situation.

In addition to its other activities, the council is trying to implement a visitation program for shut-ins. Further details will be released in the near future.

Marbletown Citizens To Hear UCCC Head

DR. GEORGE B. ERBSTEIN

Dr. George B. Erbstein, president of the Ulster County Community College, will speak to the Marbletown Citizens Organization at the monthly meeting Thursday, Jan. 18, at 7:30 p.m. His topic will be the Ulster County Community College and its effect on the Town of Marbletown and its residents.

Dr. Erbstein is a Hudson Valley native who has had 20 years experience in community college education. He was named UCCC president last April, succeeding Dr. Dale B. Lake, who became president of Kalamazoo Valley Community College in Michigan.

A native of Beacon, Dr. Erbstein served for six years with Montgomery Junior College in Maryland before becoming UCCC president. He served there as Dean of Instruction and then Dean of Faculty.

Previously he was a chemistry instructor and Director of the Evening and Extension and Community Services Division at Orange County Community College, and a chemistry and zoology instructor at Cazenovia Junior College in Cazenovia.

The Marbletown Citizens Organization holds its meetings on the third Thursday of each month at the American Legion Hall, Route 209, Stone Ridge. All members are urged to attend this meeting.

TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE ASSOCIATE DPRESS

Today is Wednesday, Jan. 17, the 17th day of 1968. There are 349 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1945, Soviet and Polish patriot forces liberated Warsaw—five years, three months and 20 days after it had fallen to the Nazis.

On this date—

In 1706, Benjamin Franklin was born in Boston.

In 1899, the United States took possession of Wake Island.

In 1950, gunmen held up the building of an armored car service in Boston and escaped with $1.5 million in cash and checks.

Ten years ago — It was disclosed that Soviet Communist chief Nikita Khrushchev had held secret talks with Polish leaders in Poland. No details were given.

Five years ago — The United States proposed that U.S. missiles in Italy be replaced with Polaris missile submarines in the Mediterranean.

By LYNN MULVANEY

A ski team, proposed for the Rondout Valley Central School, hit a snow bank last night. The Board of Education, even though voting 4 to 3 in favor of the measure, failed to get a majority vote of its membership. Two of its number were absent.

Board president J. R. Sheil, Mrs. Gladys Carle, Clarence Coogan and John Schoonmaker Jr. voted in favor. Horace Saar, Mrs. Eleanor Black and Herbert Seimer voted against. Edward Hill and George Stockin did not attend.

Benefits Over Cost

Those favoring the addition of the competitive undertaking at a cost, for the balance of the year, of $460, said they felt that the expenditure was not too much in view of benefits to be derived.

Board president Sheil volunteered that the board "shouldn't be running scared" because of the last big school budget. He stressed the importance of competitive sports and said he believed that if a youngster had the desire to ski, he could do so in spite of his families' financial standing by working for money for equipment.

His statement was in answer to the critics contention that skiing was only for those who could afford it and therefore was limited.

Mrs. Black and Sarr expressed that sentiment.

"I think we are overstressing athletics," said Seimer, who asked that the matter be tabled. "Are the colleges looking for athletic or academic persons?" he asked.

"Both," a number of persons chorused. About 30 persons attended the meeting.

One of their number volunteered that athletic scholarships for skiing were available and urged that the school encourage students to undertake skiing competition.

Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Theodore Grenda said that about 20 boys and girls from the school system have indicated their interest in the program. He said that present insurance would cover the undertaking and that the cost of equipment to the individual student was his own responsibility just as it is when a child enrolls in a musical instrument course.

Assault Case Is Adjourned Until Friday

Facing a charge of first degree assault as the aftermath of a stabbing incident at Gene's Bar and Grill on Center Street, Ellenville, Sunday night, Ramon Rodriquez, 38, of that village, was arraigned Tuesday afternoon before Police Justice Ronald Elias.

Counsel for the defendant entered an innocent plea and requested an adjournment. In lieu of bail Rodriquez was committed to the county jail and examination was set down for 3 p. m. Friday, Jan. 19.

The victim of the stabbing, Alberta Smith, of Ellenville, remained a patient at the Ellenville Community Hospital. Because of her condition police have not been permitted to question her.

The stabbing ended an altercation between Rodriquez and the woman, who was said to be a girl friend of the defendant, according to police. Several patrons and employes were in the tavern when the incident occurred.

The woman had been stabbed in the chest. Her condition was listed as fair.

After his arrest Sunday night, Rodiquez volunteered to tell police that he had taken rat poison. He was rushed to the local hospital where his stomach was pumped out and after his recovery from the poison, he was committed to jail until arraignment yesterday.

The wahoo, a relative of the tuna, is reputed to be the fastest fish in the ocean, capable of speeds above 48 m.p.h.

Must Act Politically If War Is Slowed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Republican presidential candidate and a group of influential Americans say in separate statements that if the Vietnam war is to be slowed down or stopped the Communist Viet Cong must be dealt with politically.

Michigan Gov. George Romney, campaigning in New Hampshire, said Tuesday the Johnson administration should encourage South Vietnam to seek peace talks with the Viet Cong's political arm, the National Liberation Front. He said the NLF will have to be "reckoned with in any settlement in Vietnam."

A group of prominent citizens, including retired Army Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, said in New York any dangers involved in dealing politically with the NLF would not be as great as a long-time effort to destroy it.

This group, which studied the Vietnam situation under the auspices of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, also proposed a halt to U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

In a memorandum to President Johnson the group said the goal should be to "defend South Vietnam without surrender and without increasing the risks of a wider war.'

The group said a bombing halt "would tend to shift international pressures from Washington to Hanoi.'

It also urged that the Saigon government be pressured to take more military and political responsibility for pacification of South Vietnam, saying aid to South Vietnam should be made conditional on its fulfillment of such commitments.

Among those at the meeting, in addition to Gen. Ridgway, were Charles Y. Yost, deputy chief of the U.S. mission to the United Nations; Roger Hilsman, former assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, and Roswell Gilpatrick, former deputy secretary of defense.

Romney said his ideas on dealing with the Viet Cong wouldn't require formal recognition of the NLF. He said the Saigon government should be encouraged to talk quietly with NLF officials.

Romney said he would oppose imposition of a coalition government on South Vietnam if it resulted from agreement by the Saigon leaders and the Communists. But he added he would go along if it resulted from free elections.

A top administration spokesman said current U.S. war policy takes into account the security of the rest of Southeast Asia.

William P. Bundy, assistant secretary of state, told a Miami audience 'time has been bought for Asia' because of U.S. involvement in Vietnam. He said only an honorable, secure peace in South Vietnam can provide the climate of confidence needed for the development of non-Communist countries in the area.

Saugerties Drum Corps Will Form

A new senior drum corps in Saugerties is expected to be organized Thursday 7:30 p. m. at the Roger Donlon Auditorium, Partition Street, Saugerties.

The new senior corps is open to all 16 years or older residents or non-residents of Saugerties.

Casper Miller, drum major of the defunct Saugerties Drum Corps said the new corps will be a parade corps with no marching and maneuvering activities.

Miller said 16 attended a recent meeting and he hopes that those interested in joining will attend this session.

Assault Case Is Adjourned Until Friday

Facing a charge of first degree assault as the aftermath of a stabbing incident at Gene's Bar and Grill on Center Street, Ellenville, Sunday night, Ramon Rodriquez, 38, of that village, was arraigned Tuesday afternoon before Police Justice Ronald Elias.

Counsel for the defendant entered an innocent plea and requested an adjournment. In lieu of bail Rodriquez was committed to the county jail and examination was set down for 3 p. m. Friday, Jan. 19.

The victim of the stabbing, Alberta Smith, of Ellenville, remained a patient at the Ellenville Community Hospital. Because of her condition police have not been permitted to question her.

The stabbing ended an altercation between Rodriquez and the woman, who was said to be a girl friend of the defendant, according to police. Several patrons and employes were in the tavern when the incident occurred.

The woman had been stabbed in the chest. Her condition was listed as fair.

After his arrest Sunday night, Rodiquez volunteered to tell police that he had taken rat poison. He was rushed to the local hospital where his stomach was pumped out and after his recovery from the poison, he was committed to jail until arraignment yesterday.

The wahoo, a relative of the tuna, is reputed to be the fastest fish in the ocean, capable of speeds above 48 m.p.h.

Must Act Politically If War Is Slowed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Republican presidential candidate and a group of influential Americans say in separate statements that if the Vietnam war is to be slowed down or stopped the Communist Viet Cong must be dealt with politically.

Michigan Gov. George Romney, campaigning in New Hampshire, said Tuesday the Johnson administration should encourage South Vietnam to seek peace talks with the Viet Cong's political arm, the National Liberation Front. He said the NLF will have to be "reckoned with in any settlement in Vietnam."

A group of prominent citizens, including retired Army Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, said in New York any dangers involved in dealing politically with the NLF would not be as great as a long-time effort to destroy it.

This group, which studied the Vietnam situation under the auspices of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, also proposed a halt to U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

In a memorandum to President Johnson the group said the goal should be to "defend South Vietnam without surrender and without increasing the risks of a wider war.'

The group said a bombing halt "would tend to shift international pressures from Washington to Hanoi.'

It also urged that the Saigon government be pressured to take more military and political responsibility for pacification of South Vietnam, saying aid to South Vietnam should be made conditional on its fulfillment of such commitments.

Among those at the meeting, in addition to Gen. Ridgway, were Charles Y. Yost, deputy chief of the U.S. mission to the United Nations; Roger Hilsman, former assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, and Roswell Gilpatrick, former deputy secretary of defense.

Romney said his ideas on dealing with the Viet Cong wouldn't require formal recognition of the NLF. He said the Saigon government should be encouraged to talk quietly with NLF officials.

Romney said he would oppose imposition of a coalition government on South Vietnam if it resulted from agreement by the Saigon leaders and the Communists. But he added he would go along if it resulted from free elections.

A top administration spokesman said current U.S. war policy takes into account the security of the rest of Southeast Asia.

William P. Bundy, assistant secretary of state, told a Miami audience 'time has been bought for Asia' because of U.S. involvement in Vietnam. He said only an honorable, secure peace in South Vietnam can provide the climate of confidence needed for the development of non-Communist countries in the area.

Saugerties Drum Corps Will Form

A new senior drum corps in Saugerties is expected to be organized Thursday 7:30 p. m. at the Roger Donlon Auditorium, Partition Street, Saugerties.

The new senior corps is open to all 16 years or older residents or non-residents of Saugerties.

Casper Miller, drum major of the defunct Saugerties Drum Corps said the new corps will be a parade corps with no marching and maneuvering activities.

Miller said 16 attended a recent meeting and he hopes that those interested in joining will attend this session.

Dies of Injuries

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — A woman struck by a motorcycle Dec. 21 has died in Binghamton General Hospital.

Mrs. Ethel Cummings of Binghamton died Tuesday of injuries received in the accident near her home, police said.

On JFK Assassination

Garrison's Case Ready for Court

By BILL CRIDER

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Back when big Jim Garrison's Kennedy assassination probe was new he said: "The key to the whole case is through the looking glass. Black is white, white is black."

The cryptic Alice in Wonderland allusion puzzled many at the time. But it proved to be an accurate description. A year later, it still applies.

About the only thing the Warren Commission and Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison agree on is the date of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, slain in Dallas, Tex., Nov. 22, 1963.

In the conflicting versions, black often does become white —if you take that to mean that opposite conclusions are drawn from the same circumstances.

Now Garrison's controversial case—with its reverse English approach to one of the century's great crimes—is due to be tested in court, under legal rules of evidence.

F. Irving Dymond, a defense lawyer for Clay L. Shaw, said the Orleans Parish (county) Criminal District Court trial is tentatively set for Feb. 13.

The charge against Shaw, which he emphatically denies, is conspiring to murder the president.

Shaw is 54, a tall, lean, wealthy, well-tailored retired businessman with craggy features. His silvery hair lies flat in tight, precise waves. He was an Army major in World War II. He says he hasn't the faintest idea why Garrison accused him of plotting to kill Kennedy.

"The defense will not seek a continuance," Dymond said. "Of course, we will have a few motions to make before the trial."

The motions, Dymond added, may include a request for a change in venue. If granted, this would switch the trial to some other Louisiana judicial district. Garrison, however, could remain as prosecutor.

Shaw was the first to be charged in Garrison's probe. Arrested March 1, 1967, he has been free under $10,000 bond and it is not unusual to see him enjoying an evening out at one of the city's plush restaurants.

The 46-year-old, 6-foot-6 district attorney packs a small pistol under his coat and has a political reputation as a fast draw with a sweeping statement. He snapped back at his critics with gusto.

"The involvement of high officials of the U.S. government in the affair becomes more and more apparent," he says.

Among other things, Garrison said FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover was warned five days in advance that an assassination attempt would be made in Dallas Nov. 22, 1963. And he repeatedly accused President Johnson of having "actively concealed evidence about the murder of his predecessor"— a reference to the secret label on some aspects of the investigation.

White House spokesmen shrug off the statements.

There was no comment from the FBI—or from another frequent Garrison target, the Central Intelligence Agency, which he accused of covering up evidence.

Garrison bases his case on his contention that the assassination was a devious conspiracy involving several men— and that the conspiracy originated in New Orleans.

This runs counter to the official report of the Warren Commission which investigated the assassination. It says former New Orleans resident Lee Harvey Oswald, 24, shot the president. But the commission said it had found no evidence that Oswald was part of any conspiracy.

Other examples of Garrison's black versus white include:

In the commission view, Oswald was motivated by, among other factors, a sore ego, hostility toward society and a commitment to Marxism and communism. Not so, says Garrison. He says Oswald was anti-Communist, a CIA agent and was set up as a "patsy" by other conspirators who found out he was an undercover man.

Garrison lists Jack Ruby, the Dallas strip joint owner who killed Oswald in a Dallas police station, as a conspirator. The commission said it found "no sign of any conduct" which suggests that he was involved in the assassination.

And so it goes.

A conspiracy charge similar to the one against Shaw was filed Dec. 20 against Edgar Eugene Bradley, 49, of North Hollywood, Calif. It differs in that it does not name any of the "others" in the alleged conspiracy.

Bradley said he will fight extradition from California. "This man is either being highly paid to do this or he's off his rocker," he said.

Garrison has kept the activities of his investigators secret as much as possible. When public accounting of expenditures gave hints of their operation, he turned to private sources for money.

A group of businessmen formed Truth and Consequences of New Orleans, Inc., and chipped in to form an operatng fund. Cochairman Joseph M. Rault Jr., a wealthy oil man, said the secretive organization remains unchanged, despite the growing controversy.

"Our position is the same as it was at the start," he said. "We supply the money for the investigation. We leave the rest to the courts."

Kingston Savings Names LeFever as Head Again

With a $6,875,500 increase in total assets for the year, 1967 was the biggest growth year in the bank's 93-year history. The 12.66 per cent gain resulted in total assets as of December 31, 1967, of $61,168,000.

President LeFever reported that Kingston Savings Bank reached many new highs in 1967. In addition to the new high in total assets, records were set in total deposits, which increased 12.55 per cent to $54,488,000 on December 31, 1967, and in the amount of mortgage loans outstanding, $50,960,000, an increase of 13.40 per cent during the year.

Total interest-dividends paid depositors during the year on regular passbook savings and club accounts amounted to $2,539,435. Additions to surplus, undivided profits and reserves —funds set aside for the depositors' protection—amounted to $547,885 for the year, to create a total as of Dec. 31 in excess of $5,424,800.

In 1967, the Kingston Savings Bank became the first bank in Ulster County to obtain a branch approval under the new statute passed early in the year. Work on the expanded customer parking area was completed, and President LeFever reported many favorable compliments received for its Colonial design and atmosphere. He also reported that the "on-line" computer operation for savings accounts proved successful.

Discussing the outlook for 1968, LeFever said, "We are planning to open the new branch office on Route 9W in the town of Ulster, convenient to the cloverleaf interchange with Routes 209 and 199. This branch will provide ample parking space and drive-in window service as well as lobby service. At the main office, space released by the "on-line" operation will allow extensive alterations to provide a larger, more attractive and convenient customer lobby area.

"Another way we feel we can be of greater service as a 'People Bank' is for the Mutual Banks of New York State to be permitted to offer unsecured personal loans. It is hoped that the 1968 New York State Legislature will change the Banking Law to permit this," LeFever said.

On JFK Assassination

By BILL CRIDER

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Back when big Jim Garrison's Kennedy assassination probe was new he said: "The key to the whole case is through the looking glass. Black is white, white is black."

The cryptic Alice in Wonderland allusion puzzled many at the time. But it proved to be an accurate description. A year later, it still applies.

About the only thing the Warren Commission and Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison agree on is the date of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, slain in Dallas, Tex., Nov. 22, 1963.

In the conflicting versions, black often does become white —if you take that to mean that opposite conclusions are drawn from the same circumstances.

Now Garrison's controversial case—with its reverse English approach to one of the century's great crimes—is due to be tested in court, under legal rules of evidence.

F. Irving Dymond, a defense lawyer for Clay L. Shaw, said the Orleans Parish (county) Criminal District Court trial is tentatively set for Feb. 13.

The charge against Shaw, which he emphatically denies, is conspiring to murder the president.

Shaw is 54, a tall, lean, wealthy, well-tailored retired businessman with craggy features. His silvery hair lies flat in tight, precise waves. He was an Army major in World War II. He says he hasn't the faintest idea why Garrison accused him of plotting to kill Kennedy.

"The defense will not seek a continuance," Dymond said. "Of course, we will have a few motions to make before the trial."

The motions, Dymond added, may include a request for a change in venue. If granted, this would switch the trial to some other Louisiana judicial district. Garrison, however, could remain as prosecutor.

Shaw was the first to be charged in Garrison's probe. Arrested March 1, 1967, he has been free under $10,000 bond and it is not unusual to see him enjoying an evening out at one of the city's plush restaurants.

The 46-year-old, 6-foot-6 district attorney packs a small pistol under his coat and has a political reputation as a fast draw with a sweeping statement. He snapped back at his critics with gusto.

"The involvement of high officials of the U.S. government in the affair becomes more and more apparent," he says.

Among other things, Garrison said FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover was warned five days in advance that an assassination attempt would be made in Dallas Nov. 22, 1963. And he repeatedly accused President Johnson of having "actively concealed evidence about the murder of his predecessor"— a reference to the secret label on some aspects of the investigation.

White House spokesmen shrug off the statements.

There was no comment from the FBI—or from another frequent Garrison target, the Central Intelligence Agency, which he accused of covering up evidence.

Garrison bases his case on his contention that the assassination was a devious conspiracy involving several men— and that the conspiracy originated in New Orleans.

This runs counter to the official report of the Warren Commission which investigated the assassination. It says former New Orleans resident Lee Harvey Oswald, 24, shot the president. But the commission said it had found no evidence that Oswald was part of any conspiracy.

Other examples of Garrison's black versus white include:

In the commission view, Oswald was motivated by, among other factors, a sore ego, hostility toward society and a commitment to Marxism and communism. Not so, says Garrison. He says Oswald was anti-Communist, a CIA agent and was set up as a "patsy" by other conspirators who found out he was an undercover man.

Garrison lists Jack Ruby, the Dallas strip joint owner who killed Oswald in a Dallas police station, as a conspirator. The commission said it found "no sign of any conduct" which suggests that he was involved in the assassination.

And so it goes.

A conspiracy charge similar to the one against Shaw was filed Dec. 20 against Edgar Eugene Bradley, 49, of North Hollywood, Calif. It differs in that it does not name any of the "others" in the alleged conspiracy.

Bradley said he will fight extradition from California. "This man is either being highly paid to do this or he's off his rocker," he said.

Garrison has kept the activities of his investigators secret as much as possible. When public accounting of expenditures gave hints of their operation, he turned to private sources for money.

A group of businessmen formed Truth and Consequences of New Orleans, Inc., and chipped in to form an operatng fund. Cochairman Joseph M. Rault Jr., a wealthy oil man, said the secretive organization remains unchanged, despite the growing controversy.

"Our position is the same as it was at the start," he said. "We supply the money for the investigation. We leave the rest to the courts."

Kingston Savings Names LeFever as Head Again

With a $6,875,500 increase in total assets for the year, 1967 was the biggest growth year in the bank's 93-year history. The 12.66 per cent gain resulted in total assets as of December 31, 1967, of $61,168,000.

President LeFever reported that Kingston Savings Bank reached many new highs in 1967. In addition to the new high in total assets, records were set in total deposits, which increased 12.55 per cent to $54,488,000 on December 31, 1967, and in the amount of mortgage loans outstanding, $50,960,000, an increase of 13.40 per cent during the year.

Total interest-dividends paid depositors during the year on regular passbook savings and club accounts amounted to $2,539,435. Additions to surplus, undivided profits and reserves —funds set aside for the depositors' protection—amounted to $547,885 for the year, to create a total as of Dec. 31 in excess of $5,424,800.

In 1967, the Kingston Savings Bank became the first bank in Ulster County to obtain a branch approval under the new statute passed early in the year. Work on the expanded customer parking area was completed, and President LeFever reported many favorable compliments received for its Colonial design and atmosphere. He also reported that the "on-line" computer operation for savings accounts proved successful.

Discussing the outlook for 1968, LeFever said, "We are planning to open the new branch office on Route 9W in the town of Ulster, convenient to the cloverleaf interchange with Routes 209 and 199. This branch will provide ample parking space and drive-in window service as well as lobby service. At the main office, space released by the "on-line" operation will allow extensive alterations to provide a larger, more attractive and convenient customer lobby area.

"Another way we feel we can be of greater service as a 'People Bank' is for the Mutual Banks of New York State to be permitted to offer unsecured personal loans. It is hoped that the 1968 New York State Legislature will change the Banking Law to permit this," LeFever said.

Reelect Byman as President Of Kingston Hospital Board

Edward C. Byman of 8 Chestnut Street, Rolling Meadows, was reelected president of The Kingston Hospital's Board of Trustees at the annual meeting this week. A member of the Board of Trustees for the past four years, Byman has served as its president since January, 1966.

Also reelected were Arthur B. Ewig and George Tamke, vice-presidents; Wilbur R. Peters, secretary, and Amos R. Newcombe, treasurer.

Officers were elected at the annual meeting of the Board, following the annual meeting of the Kingston Hospital Corporation.

Two new trustees were elected at the Corporation annual meeting. They are Richard L. Treat, vice-president and general manager of The Kingston Daily Freeman, and Dr. W. Wendell Hoover, superintendent of schools for Kingston City Schools, Consolidated.

Trustees reelected to their second three-year terms were Vice-president Tamke, Richard M. Kalish, Dr. Gilbert F. Hoppenstedt and Abraham Streifer.

In his report, President Byman noted that new records were set in almost all areas of service during 1967. Patient days increased 5.7 per cent to 60,272; emergency treatments were up 12.4 per cent; electrocardiograms up 11.6 per cent; operations increased 8 per cent, and physical therapy 41 percent.

Average occupancy of the hospital increased 4 percent to 85 percent, he reported.

To Begin in June

Construction work on the completion of the two upper floors of the new building may start about June of 1968, Byman said. These floors will be fitted with intensive and cardiac care and self-care units. Planning was started in July last year, and architectural and design work is currently underway.

The hospital expects to finance this work without a formal fund drive, Byman said.

Highlighting the past year were a number of steps taken to improve the facilities and equipment of the hospital, the president said. He listed among them:

Paving a parking area for employes on the site of the former church on Foxhall Avenue, which had been purchased by the hospital.

Creation of a parking area for physicians on the former Moore property on Broadway opposite the hospital. This action was taken to relieve the congestion at the emergency entrance.

Installation of a new X-ray unit.

Approval to purchase a Radio-Isotope scanner as an aid to diagnostics for the physicians.

Installation of a central dictating system to improve hospital records.

Signing an agreement with the New York State Hospital Association to use a shared computer facility. Conversion to data processing procedures will begin in the first quarter of this year.

Administrator Resigned

During the year Robert M. Schnitzer resigned as hospital administrator to accept a position with the New York State Department of Health. President Byman noted that the hospital made considerable progress during Schnitzer's tenure, and "The Board wishes to express its sincere thanks again to Mr. Schnitzer for his many years of devoted service to Kingston Hospital . . . We wish him full success in his new career."

Last month the appointment of M. Ray Ferguson of Lancaster, Pa., as administrator was announced, but subsequently Ferguson found it necessary to decline the appointment, it was reported. Announcement of a new appointment will be made in the near future.

The hospital president's annual report paid tribute to the Kingston Hospital auxiliary for its work under the leadership of Mrs. Richard M. Kalish. During the year the auxiliary presented to the hospital a $1,500 Aquamatic K Therma unit designed to change body temperatures of acutely ill patients; made its final payment on its $25,000 pledge to the 1962 building fund; and presented the hospital with new addressograph equipment.

Others who were praised in the annual report included Miss Rosemary Pellegrino, director of nursing, and her staff; members of the medical board and medical staff; Police Chief Robert Murphy, Fire Chief James M. Brett, and members of their respective departments.

It was noted that Herbert L. Shultz was retiring from the Board of Trustees due to the by-law limitation to two consecutive three-year terms. "He has been a strong member of our team and it is with sorrow and yet appreciation that we accept his retirement," Byman said. The entire board membership, he said, had been called on "for extensive time" during the past year.

County Schools To Get State Aid

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt announced today a distribution of State aid for education. Ulster County will get $917,274, for its supervisory districts and $2,747,480 for its city (Kingston) and villages.

The grand sum of $372,066,944 is being distributed to the school districts of the State as the State's share in support of public schools.

The payment to the State's cities, villages and supervisory districts represent the second apportionment of State aid due them on the basis of statistics for their 1966-67 school year.

Checks are being mailed to the individual school districts in accordance with apportionment computations made by the State Department of Education and verified by the State Department of Audit and Control.

City Laundromat Fire Blamed on Gas Flame

A fire caused by the heat from a gas flame igniting a wooden board sent Kingston firemen to the East O'Reilly Street Laundromat last night and inside of 20 minutes they had extinguished the small flames and returned to their firehouse.

A call had been put through to the firemen at 8:58 p. m. and, under the direction of deputy chief Glyn Southard, one engine was dispatched to the laundromat located at 15 East O'Reilly Street.

Firemen found the smoke coming from one of the dryers of the establishment. The dryers electricity was shut off and the laundromat was aired to clear the place of smoke.

The flame was put out with pressurized water and CO2.

A spokesman for the fire department said that there was some slight damage to the insulation and a small section of wiring around the dryer.

The fire fighters returned to headquarters at 9:20 p. m.

Things to do with the 4 extra slices.

1. Two extra sandwiches with that delicious MIRACLE-MIX flavor.
2. Sixteen extra hors d'oeuvres with the texture that never lets you down.
3. Four extra slices of toast with no holes in them for jelly to leak through.
4. Or blow it all on one magnificent quadruple-decker.

GOD-COUNTRY AWARD — Three star scouts of Troop 130, Boy Scouts of America, Trinity Episcopal Church, Saugerties, were recipients of the God and Country award given annually in New York City. (L) are Warren Hornbeck, Bishop Horace W. B. Donegan, Edward Hillje and Dana Holmquist.

Three Scouts Receive God and Country Award

Three star scouts of Saugerties Troop 130, Trinity Episcopal Church, Warren Hornbeck, Dana Holmquist and Edward Hillje received God and Country awards recently presented at Cathedral Church of St. John Divine in New York City.

The boys were presented by their rector, the Rev. Richard G. Shepard to the Bishop of New York, the Rt. Rev. Horace W. B. Donegan, who pinned the award on each boy.

Several hundred persons including the boy's parents and scoutmaster John Gade witnessed the presentation.

To qualify for the award, the boys underwent an intensive course in faith, doctrine and practices of the church. They also served as acolytes, built an altar rail for the New St. Athanasuis Chapel. In addition, the scouts prepared the chapel for use and helped build a creche designed by Hornbeck.

Republicans Installing Pavlovich as President

Paul Pavlovich will be installed as the third president of the Saugerties Republican Club Saturday at the Flamingo Restaurant.

The installation will take place at 8 following a buffet dinner with serving beginning at 6:30 p.m. Dancing will follow.

Other officials to take office include: Charles Faus, vice president; Carol Cook, recording secretary; Doris Metzelaar, corresponding secretary and Frank Greco, treasurer.

The semi-social event is expected to be attended by a number of county Republican leaders. Tickets are available from club members.

PAUL PAVLOVICH

Club Talk Centers on Computers

The education department of the Saugerties Woman's Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Robert Moser, 30 Finger Street, Saugerties, Thursday, Jan. 18 at 8 p.m.

Guest speaker will be John Fitzpatrick, manager of information systems at IBM.

Fitzpatrick joined the company in 1955 and is presently a project manager. He is president of the Hudson Valley Chapter of the Data Processing Management Association and holds a certificate of data processing. He attended Bowling Green University, Bowling Green, Ohio.

He will speak on the effect of computers on educational life.

Plattekill Notes

The charter was draped and memorial service held at the meeting of the Plattekill Grange Saturday evening in memory of the late Ora S. Lippincott who had been an active member of the organization for more than 40 years. The service was conducted by the chaplain, Mrs. Gerald Gardiner and by Mrs. Madeline Zuelle, acting Ceres.

Announcements were made of the third in the current series of card parties to be held on Saturday evening, Jan. 20; a meeting of the youth committee on Saturday, 1:30 p.m., Jan. 20; the annual roast beef supper Saturday, Feb. 3 from 5 to 7 p.m.

Regional Grange Conferences in charge of the State Master, Robert Drake, the State Lecturer, Roger Miller and the State Secretary, Morris Halladay to be held at Kinderhook Grange on Thursday, Feb. 1, 8-10 p.m. and at Monticello Grange in Sullivan County, Feb. 3 were announced by Grange Deputy, Charles Everett. All local Grange officers and members are eligible to attend.

Also scheduled on the county Grange calendar is the quarterly meeting of the Ulster County Officers' Association at Ulster Park Grange Friday, Feb. 2, at 8 p.m.

Winners in the contests in the social hour were birthday cakes and table decorations, Mrs. Milton Van Duser, Jeffrey DeVoe, and Mrs. Paul Evans; crazy hats, Daniel Myers and Jeffrey DeVoe.

Smoking Material

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—An Army priavte home on leave from Vietnam received some smoking material in the mail.

Postal inspectors said the 128 packages disguised as filter-tip metholated cigarettes contained 2,560 marijuana cigarettes. Each package had been opened from the bottom and the regular tobacco substituted with high grade marijuana, postal inspectors said. The private was charged with causing marijuana to be smuggled into the country.

Boy Scout News

Rugged Scouts Have Go at Winter Camp

The Scouts of Troop 11 held a weekend camp out this weekend at Woodland Valley.

This was accomplished in subzero temperature and with 12 to 15 inches of accumulated snow on the ground.

The camp out climaxed a program of fall and winter camping which is utilized to instruct the boys in the proper camping methods and to give them an all season camp program.

The winter program to date included the fall district camporee in Forsyth Park in October, and a weekend camp and hike in November.

Scouts attending included Victor Osborn, senior patrol leader; Thomas O'Brien ,assistant senior patrol leader; Bernard Horgan, Joseph Bertone and Kent St. John, patrol leaders. Also attending were George Vogel, William Powers, Philip Studwell, Robert Eldridge, James Lannen, John O'Brien, Ernest Rowe III, Steven Schallenkamp and John McIver.

Widespread Book

Harriet Beecher Stowe's anti-slavery book, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," or "Life Among the Lowly," published in 1852, is considered among the chief causes of the Civil War. In addition to its wide circulation in the United States, the book was translated into 23 languages.

Last Fight of Kind

The last bare-knuckle fight in professional boxing took place in 1889 between John L. Sullivan and Jake Kilrain. Sullivan knocked out Kilrain in a 75-round battle that lasted over two hours and 15 minutes.

Hot Reception Greets Enterprise in Japan

By KENNETH ISHII
Associated Press Writer

SASEBO, Japan (AP) — Radical leftists vowed today to drive the American nuclear-powered aircraft carrier Enterprise from Japan's shores by the same riot tactics that kept President Eisenhower away in 1960.

In a warmup for the 75,000-ton carrier's arrival at the Sasebo naval base later this week, about 800 leftist students tried to invade the base today. Riot police drove them off in a three-hour battle with heavy casualties on both sides.

Sasebo City Hospital said it treated about 500 students and onlookers for bruises and the effects of tear gas.

Police casualties were not immediately announced. At least 20 students were reported arrested.

Fighting started on a 20-foot-wide bridge leading to the main entrance of the Sasebo base where the Enterprise is expected Friday or Saturday on her way to duty in Vietnam. She and her escort, the frigate Truxton, will be the first nuclear-powered surface warships to visit Japan.

The students wielded sticks and threw rocks. The police, protected by shields and armored trucks, forced them back with tear gas and icy streams from fire hoses. Then about 1,000 officers moved in with clubs and dispersed the mob.

A spokesman for Sampa, one of the militant factions of the Zengakuren student organization, said the students were determined to "create a riot and force the Enterprise away in the same way that Zengakuren riots forced President Eisenhower to cancel his visit."

Zengakuren opposes the Vietnam war and the U.S.-Japan security treaty which comes up for review in 1970, but the spokesman said the group's target is the Japanese government and its alliance with the United States. He said the demonstrators would not molest U.S. military personnel in Sasebo.

The 1960 riots in Tokyo were a futile attempt to prevent the signing of the U.S.-Japan treaty. Though it didn't block the treaty, Eisenhower canceled plans to visit Japan after his press secretary, James H. Hagerty, was mobbed at the Tokyo airport. After the treaty was signed, Premier Nobusuke Kishi resigned.

Police had 5,800 men in Sasebo to deal with the students. The average citizen in the city of 250,000 seemed indifferent, and merchants staged a 30-car parade today to welcome the carrier.

MILE OF DIMES — These teenagers will help the March of Dimes campaign when they stage their "Mile of Dimes" drive Saturday, Jan. 20. They'll be under the direction of Leon Van Heusen, youth director of extension and camp, YMCA, assisted by Mrs. Virgina Hyatt of the Woodstock area. The teeners, numbering about 60, represent three Hi-Y Clubs, Woodstock, Ellenville and Phoenicia areas, recently attended a conference at Albany Medical Center where they heard Dr. William Peterson, program director of Treatment Center, explain Center's workings and were taken on a tour of the Birth Defects Center. Red Cross Continues Efforts To Assist U.S. Prisoners

The American Red Cross is continuing to make every effort through every channel to contact and assist American servicemen held as prisoners of war in Southeast Asia, Zale Liese, chapter chairman of the Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross reported recently. To date the organization has had only slight success, but the attempts continue. In an effort to do its utmost for the prisoners, the American Red Cross has offered to meet with representatives from the Viet Cong or North Vietnam any place, any time.

According to Liese, the Viet Cong in South Vietnam hold an undetermined number of Americans prisoners. Although they have not signed the Geneva Conventions, they say prisoners are treated "humanely." However, to date there has been no conclusive information on the type of treatment of prisoners, although it is clear conditions vary in different areas. The American Red Cross has had direct contact with the National Liberation Front both in person and through efforts of the International Committee of the Red Cross, but with no real success as yet. On occasion, prisoners of war held by the National Liberation Front have been released.

Different Situations

The situation is somewhat different in North Vietnam, Liese continued. Although it is a signatory of the Geneva Conventions, as yet the International Committee of Red Cross delegates have not been allowed in the country to visit the prisoners and determine at first hand their treatment and handling. As with the National Liberation Front, the government states that captured Americans are being treated humanely. When North Vietnam signed the conventions, it did so with a reservation: that "prisoners of war prosecuted and convicted of war crimes or for crimes against humanity, in accordance with the principle laid down by the Nuremberg court of justice, shall not benefit from the present convention."

Therefore, the North Vietnam government considers American prisoners "war criminals" and not covered by the Geneva Conventions concerning the treatment of prisoners of war. However, there is no evidence that any prisoners have been prosecuted and convicted of any crimes, and although threats of trials have been made, none has been either officially or unofficially announced. The plight of Americans held in North Vietnam recently received worldwide publicity when some of them were publicly paraded, and cameramen from Japan, East Germany, and other countries were allowed to film them and sell the footage. Some mail from prisoners' families has reached the prisoners through a Hanoi address, and families have received mail in return.

The International Committee of Red Cross delegates were able to visit some American prisoners held by the Pathet Lao forces after long negotiations several years ago. Some mail from families has been turned over to Pathel Lao officials.

None in Cambodia

Liese pointed out that no Americans are being held in Cambodia, which makes it a possible neutral ground for prisoner negotiations. Two years ago, through the efforts of the International Committee of the Red Cross and the American Red Cross, packages were forwarded to prisoners held by the Viet Cong through Cambodia.

Liese said that the most successful area of aid to Americans held in other countries has been the cooperative effort between the American Red Cross and its sister society on the mainland of China. For years American Red Cross has delivered monthly Red Cross and family parcels to American civilians (originally 50, now numbering 4) held in China. Through the cooperative efforts of the two Red Cross societies, immediate relatives of the Americans have been able to visit. Two years ago, it was reported that Air Force Philip E. Smith's plane was lost over the Gulf of Tonkin and he was in Chinese hands. Through the established communication channel, the Chinese reported he was in good health and could also receive mail and monthly parcels, a procedure that has continued to date. With the recent reports of another American being held in China, the American Red Cross is now attempting to determine his condition and initiate action so that he may also receive monthly food packages and mail.

In an effort to be ready whenever contact with prisoners is established, the American Red Cross has stockpiled prisoner-of-war packages in the Far East, ready for shipment at any time, Liese added.

The American Red Cross is assisted in this work by contributions of the American public. Residents of Ulster County contribute to this fund through the Ulster County Community Chest and the Red Cross Month of March fund drive.

Army OCS Grads Have Advantage

The Army recently detailed new plans to bring more rapid promotions and pay increases to young men successfully completing Army Officer Candidate School.

These plans reduce the time-in-grade requirement for promotion to first lieutenant and to captain. This new system, currently being phased in, will become fully effective May 2, 1968 and will make it possible for young men to become captains 24 months after receiving their commissions, instead of the previous 54 months.

Sergeant Edward Keene, local Army Recruiter, explaining the benefits of OCS and the new rapid promotion plan, said "All OCS training stresses leadership development; the new plan stresses recognition of outstanding ability through rapid promotions resulting in increased salaries, responsibilities and prestige."

Young men interested in further information about Army Officer Candidate School and other Army opportunities may write or visit Sergeant Keene at 640 Broadway.

Receives Grant

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Central New York State Parks Commission has received a $389,534 - grant to help develop Glimmergrass State Park on the shore of Otsego Lake.

The award by the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation was announced Monday.

Official Insect

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP) — The Oregon rain beetle has won the backing of the head of the Oregon State University entomology department as the top candidate for the official state insect.

Paul Richter had been campaigning for the snake fly. But he switched his allegiance to the rain beetle, "because of its adaptation to the Oregon climate."

The rain beetle, however, has one drawback. It feeds off the roots of the Douglas fir, which is the Oregon State tree.

When cooking spaghetti or macaroni, add one tablespoon cooking oil to prevent boiling over.

New at Rondout National

Two new directors of the Rondout National Bank were named Tuesday morning at the annual stockholders meeting.

Serving on the board will be Dr. Milton M. Grover Jr., radiologist at Benedictine Hospital and Richard L. Treat, vice president and general manager of The Kingston Freeman.

Directors in addition to the two new members are William J. Dwyer, Irving L. Eyles, James A. Dwyer, William F. Edelmuth, George W. Schneider, Adrian Kaplan, Vincent J. Andretta, Lawrence A. Quilty and John L. Larkin.

Dr. Grover who was director of the Ulster County Tumor Clinic from 1951 to 1961 has been radiologist at Benedictine Hospital for the past seven years. He is a member of Ulster County Medical Society, New York State Medical Society, American Medical Association, New York State Radiological Society, Diplomate American Board of Radiology and the American College of Radiology.

In the community he is a member and consistoryman of Fair Street Reformed Church; past president of Kingston Rotary, member of the board of directors of Ulster County Cancer Society and TB and Health Association and a member of the budget committee of the Ulster County Community Chest. In the past he served as a member of the board of directors of the New York State Division of American Cancer Society.

Treat, long associated with the newspaper business throughout the country, came to The Freman as assistant general manger in November, 1966, and was named general manager in March, 1967.

A resident of Saugerties, he has become very active in the greater community. This week he was named to the board of trustees of Kingston Hospital. A member of the board of the Kingston Area YMCA, he heads the business division of the current fund campaign. Treat is a member of the Kingston Human Relations Commission and is an active member of Kingston Lions Club and Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

Prior to coming to The Freeman, Treat held a number of executive publishing posts in Schenectady, Fremont, Calif., and Chester, Pa.

Two Courses Offered By UCCC at Ellenville

Two extension courses—Criminology and Freshman Composition I—will be offered by Ulster County Community College at Ellenville High School in the spring semester.

The college is offering the courses in Ellenville to take higher education to the people in the country.

Persons interested in registration by mail for these courses may write the registrar at Ulster County Community College. It also is possible to register in person for the courses at the college's Stone Ridge campus Thursday, Feb. 1, from 6 to 9 p.m., and Saturday, Feb. 3, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Interested students can seek advisement about the courses they want to take prior to registration at the Stone Ridge campus of UCCC.

Criminology

Criminology will be offered from 7 to 9:40 p.m., Tuesday nights, starting Feb. 6, in Room 36 at Ellenville High School. The prerequisite is Principles of Sociology or permission of the the instructor.

Criminology is a study of the problems connected with human behavior which is disapproved by dominant social groups and the efforts to adjust relations. Topics to be studied will include the nature of crime, extent and cost of crime, types of crime, environmental factors in delinquency, juvenile courts, institutional treatment and preventive measures.

Writing Skills

Freshman Composition I, which is open to all who have a high school diploma or its equivalent, will be offered Wednesday nights from 7 to 9:40 p.m., starting Feb. 7, in Room 36 at Ellenville High School.

This course will place emphasis on the development of writing skills with a review of essential rhetoric and grammar.

Additional information about the courses may be obtained by calling or writing James C. Haviland, director of community services, at Ulster County Community College.

A 'Sheltered Workshop' for Kingston Will Be Topic

Laying the Groundwork for a Sheltered Workshop, will be discussed by Dr. Herbert Goldstein, chairman of the department of special education of Yeshiva University, at a public meeting Thursday, Jan. 25, 8 p.m., at the Association for Retarded Children office, 1 Van Buren Street, at Broadway.

Warren Russell, Ulster County Chapter president of the retarded children's group, said a sheltered workshop should not be confused with the Halfway House for retarded under consideration for locating at 170 Albany Avenue.

He said the county chapter recognizes the need for the Halfway House which would provide a residence for those who are able to work in regular low skill jobs in the community.

"A sheltered workshop serves a different purpose," Russell said. "It provides a place for work for seriously retarded persons who live at home and who are unable to work in the community. These retarded adults must be very carefully protected from persons who would take advantage of them. The Halfway House residents would be more able to protect themselves and would be more capable at various jobs. A sheltered workshop would give the seriously retarded in our community a place to earn limited wages, among friends, throughout their lifetime."

Russell estimated that there are well over 100 retarded persons in Ulster County who would be able to benefit from a sheltered workshop program.

Dr. Goldstein's talk on preliminary planning for a sheltered workshop will be based on many years of experience in teaching and research on mental retardation, Russell said.

Dr. Goldstein is a member of the special education advisory committee of the United Cerebral Palsy Research and Education Committee; a member of the education, management service, and research committees of the American Association on Mental Deficiency; consulting editor for the Journal of Exceptional Children and the American Journal of Mental Deficiency; and a former Fulbright scholar and lecturer on mental retardation with the University of Oslo, Norway.

In addition to his position as chairman at Yeshiva, he is also professor of special education at the University's Ferkauf Graduate School of Humanities and Social Sciences.

The county chapter president invited all who are interested in the mentally retarded, including residents of the Albany Avenue area, to attend the meeting on the sheltered workshop program.

Vincent Puleo, Kingston schools psychologist, who is presently working toward his doctorate at Yeshiva, is program chairman of the Ulster County retarded group.

Foods Firm Acquires Gant Co.

Consolidated Foods Corp. has announced it reached agreement in principle to acquire Gant Shirt Companies of New Haven, Conn., a maker of men's and women's shirts. Gant of Kingston, Inc., with a factory at 77 Cornell Street, is included in the transaction.

A spokesman at the local facility of Gant's said there will be no change in personnel or in the operation of the business in this city.

Terms of the transaction call for Consolidated to initially issue about 125,000 common shares having a current market value of about $7 million.

Late in 1965, Gant purchased the former F. Jacobson & Sons shirt manufacturing plant on Cornell Street.

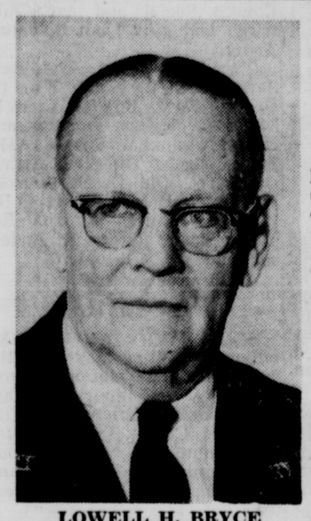
Gant was founded in 1928 by the late Bernard Gant and pioneered a prosperous shirt contracting business in New Haven. After serving in the armed forces in World War II, Gant's sons, Elliott and Martin took over their father's business, and under their direction the firm prospered, becoming a shirt manufacturer of its own.

The firm ended fiscal year 1965 on June 30 with sales volume approaching $10 million producing some 225,000 dozen shirts, about 15 per cent of which were for women.

Gant company maintained four plants in New Haven and sales offices in New York City, but due to demand for the Gant product, they underwent steady expansion from 1955-65, creating a necessity for a plant in the Hudson Valley.

That facility is now in operation at 77 Cornell Street.

There are 550 different kinds of acacia trees native to tropical and subtropical areas. An Indian acacia produces a valuble medicine called catechu.



LOWELL H. BRYCE

Knights Templar Slates Installation

Lowell H. Bryce of Troy, past grand commander of the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar, of the State of New York will be the installing officer at the public installation of the officers of Rondout Commandery 52, Knights Templar, Saturday, 8 p.m., in the Masonic Temple, 31 Albany Avenue.

Bryce has a long and distinguished Masonic record having served as Master of Apollo Lodge 15, Free and Accepted Masons; high priest of Apollo Chapter 48, Royal Arch Masons; illustrious master of Bloss Council 14, Royal and Select Masters; commander of Apollo Commandery 15, Knights Templar and is a member of the Albany Sovereign Consistory and an honorary 33rd degree Mason, and past potentate of Oriental Temple, Order of the Mystic Shrine.

He is also a member of many other fraternal bodies and is active in his church and community.

Many prominent members with their ladies will be present from Zone 4 which consists of Newburgh, Poughkeepsie, Port Jervis, Middletown, Haverstraw and Kingston as well as from Hudson, Albany, Troy and Schenectady.

All Master Masons, their ladies and friends, may attend.

Quake Toll Put at 337

SICILY (AP—The unofficial earthquake toll in western Sicily rose to 337 today, with nearly 1,000 still missing, and most were women, children and aged.

Most of the able-bodied men of the 10 towns hardest hit are among the thousands of Italian laborers who leave home to find work.

Death Count Mounting

The death count was mounting as crews dug desperately through mounds of rubble, and communications were restored to villages that had been isolated by the big earthquake Monday.

Giuseppa Impastato, 103 years old and known as "Little Grandmother," was found seriously injured in the rubble of her home in Montevago. She died on the way to a hospital 16 miles away.

An estimated 20,000 Sicilians were homeless.

Premier Aldo Moro met with his Cabinet to discuss the worst catastrophe to hit Sicily since the Messina earthquake of 1908 took 75,000 lives.

Aftershocks continued through Tuesday night, spreading more panic and keeping thousands out of doors, huddled in frozen fields and vineyards. Palermo, the regional capital was all but emptied of its half million inhabitants during the night.

The Palermo waterfront section known as St. Peter's was evacuated. Many buildings there showed cracks after an aftershock recorded at 8.5 on the 12-point Mercalli scale hit the city at nightfall Tuesday. It was the strongest tremor since the 9-point quake that caused the bulk of the deaths and damage Monday.

The Mercalli scale evaluates earthquakes on the basis of their effects on the landscape, structures and people. Nine points means weak masonry destroyed and ordinary masonry heavily damaged.

Health Threat Increases

Despite the influx of tons of food, medicines, clothing and tents, many Sicilians still were without adequate shelter and food. Twenty persons with pneumonia from three successive nights outdoors were treated in the Trapani hospital.

The general threat to health increased. Rescue workers who could be spared from looking for survivors were ordered to clear out the decomposing carcasses of hundreds of horses, cows and other animals from the debris of barns.

Packs of hungry dogs roamed the countryside, bringing fears of a rabies epidemic.

The inmates of Palermo's Ucciardone Prison were allowed to spend the night in an interior courtyard far from any large structure. Frightened by tremors, the convicts banged their spoons on aluminum plates for hours and threatened to riot if they could not leave their cells. Outside the prison walls their relatives stood screaming. Authorities gave in.

Dr. Gorman Testimonial Scheduled for Friday

Dr. Gerald P. Gorman, Ulster County Democratic chairman, will be honored at a testimonial dinner Friday night at Deanie's Restaurant in Woodstock.

Dr. Gorman, a prominent Kingston surgeon, opened his office in 1959. Since then he has served as a member of the Ulster County Board of Health, president of the Ulster County Chapter of the American Cancer Society and the local chapter of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society.

In 1965, Dr. Gorman was the Democratic candidate for coroner, losing by less than 400 votes. He campaigned on the establishment of a medical examiner system for Ulter County.

Born on Staten Island, Dr. Gorman received his BA from Manhattan College, and his MD from Georgetown University. He served in the U. S. Navy in both World War II and Korea. He is married to Dr. Lorraine Gannon Gorman and they are the parents of three daughters and two sons.

Woodstock Democratic chairman John O. Bonilla characterizes Dr. Gorman as representing a new breed of profesional individuals, interested in helping his community, that has entered Democratic politics. Commenting further on this, Bonilla made the following statement:

"Dr. Gorman represents a vigor and vitality that has long been lacking in Ulster County policies, part of that segment of the population that should and must take interest in our politics if it is to be raised above the level of machine politics as we have known it in both parties. He has attracted young people with new and vigorous ideas and has worked to revitalize the party."

The town chairman announced that tickets for the event have been sold out.

Principal speaker will be Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick who has recently returned from Vietnam and who has also announced that he will seek the senatorial seat now held by Senator Jacob K. Javits.

P-TA Card Party Friday, Jan. 26

Mrs. Richard Peekema and Mrs. Lawrence Vallee have announced final arrangements for the annual P-TA Card Party to be held Friday, Jan. 26 at 8 p.m. at Deanie's Restaurant in Woodstock.

Sponsored by the Woodstock School P-TA it is for the benefit of the school enrichment fund. Refreshments will be served and tickets will be available at the school or at the door. The public is invited.

Life

Life, the lesson-sermon for the Woodstock Christian Science Church, will be read next Sunday at the 11 a.m. service.

Sunday school also convenes at 11.

Woodstock Fire Company Elects New Officers

Chief Duncan Wilson reported that there were eight calls during the month of December and a total of 80 alarms during 1967. It was also reported that Boy Scouts marked all the fire hydrants in town and residents are asked to shovel around them whenever snow piles up.

Announcement was made of an annual dinner to be held in late February or early March.

The next four-company meeting will be Monday, Jan. 29 at 8 at Lake Hill, the guests of Company 3.

Fire Auxiliary Elects Slate

New officers were installed recently at a meeting of Woodstock Fire Company 4 Auxiliary as follows: president, Marge Kalcinski; vice president, Pat Klementis; secretary, Catherine Iatridis; treasurer, Margit Schreiner; assistant treasurer, Marge Gernon.

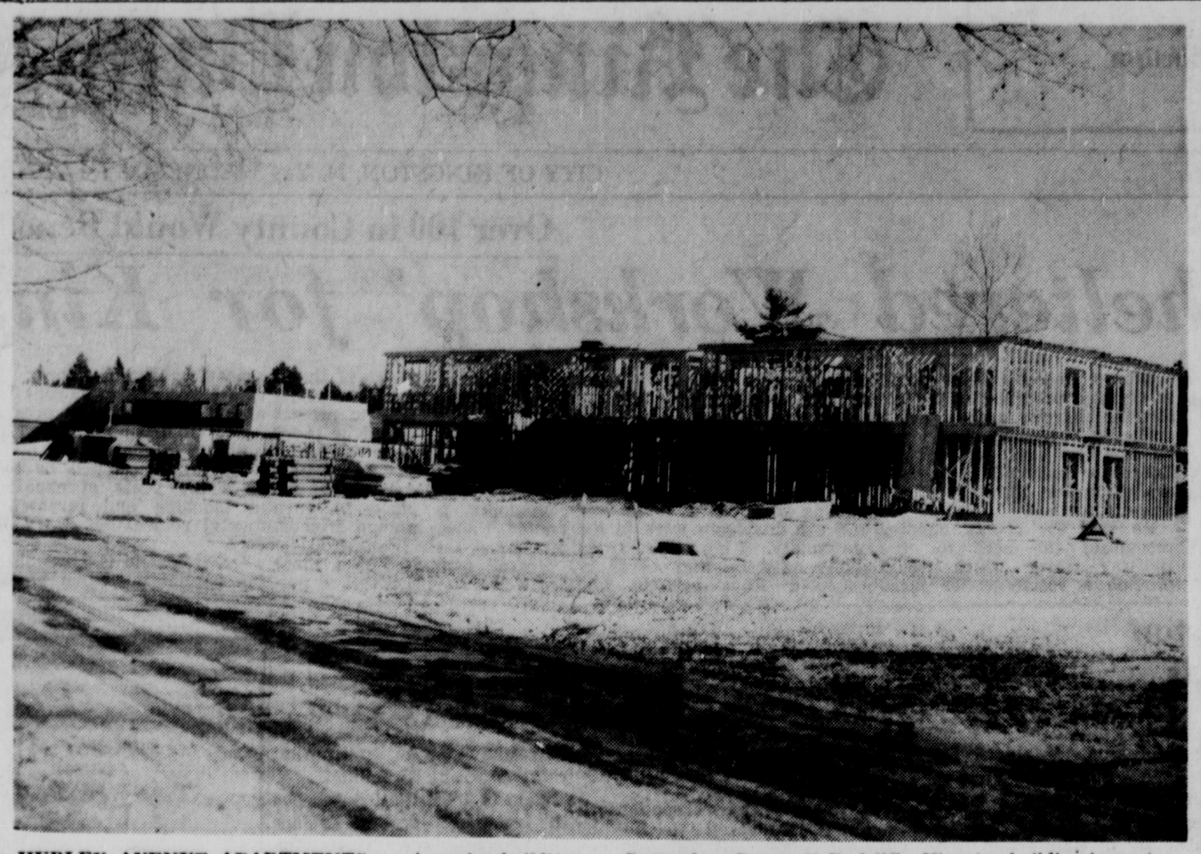
A report of 1967 revealed the purchase of a much-needed resuscitator for the fire company. The auxiliary expressed appreciation to the Zena residents for support of the project.

The next meeting will be Feb. 5 at 8:30 p.m.

List Sermon

The Rev. James W. Cook will conduct the worship service Jan. 21 at Overlook Methodist Church and has chosen as his topic, It Can Happen Here!

Church school sessions will be held at 9:30 and 11 a.m. A nursery is provided throughout the morning.



HURLEY AVENUE APARTMENTS — A major building complex being built by the Environment Communities Inc., of Glendale, Pa., on this Hurley Avenue site, is progressing in construction. The apartment complex will be known as Stony Run Apartments. This phase of the project will consist of 12 separate apartment buildings with one, two and three bedroom units. The estimated cost of this portion of the complex is $600,000. Actual work started in mid-September. George E. Radcliffe, Kingston building inspector, said plans call for a swimming pool and large flower garden. The site is large enough for 14 additional apartment buildings. A pumping station will be built to pump raw sewage into the city's sewer system. The cost of the latter phase of the project will be paid for by Environment Communities Inc. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Face-Lifting

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A $1-billion face-lifting may be in the works for the motion picture capital. A preliminary plan approved by the Los Angeles City Planning Commission calls for establishment of a Hollywood motion picture, television and communications industry center.

The proposed movie center would be built on 85 acres on which the city has placed a six-month building freeze. Eventually the project would embrace 556 acres.

P-TA Card Party Friday, Jan. 26

Mrs. Richard Peekema and Mrs. Lawrence Vallee have announced final arrangements for the annual P-TA Card Party to be held Friday, Jan. 26 at 8 p.m. at Deanie's Restaurant in Woodstock.

Sponsored by the Woodstock School P-TA it is for the benefit of the school enrichment fund. Refreshments will be served and tickets will be available at the school or at the door. The public is invited.

Life

Life, the lesson-sermon for the Woodstock Christian Science Church, will be read next Sunday at the 11 a.m. service.

Sunday school also convenes at 11.

Woodstock Fire Company Elects New Officers

Chief Duncan Wilson reported that there were eight calls during the month of December and a total of 80 alarms during 1967. It was also reported that Boy Scouts marked all the fire hydrants in town and residents are asked to shovel around them whenever snow piles up.

Announcement was made of an annual dinner to be held in late February or early March.

The next four-company meeting will be Monday, Jan. 29 at 8 at Lake Hill, the guests of Company 3.

Fire Auxiliary Elects Slate

New officers were installed recently at a meeting of Woodstock Fire Company 4 Auxiliary as follows: president, Marge Kalcinski; vice president, Pat Klementis; secretary, Catherine Iatridis; treasurer, Margit Schreiner; assistant treasurer, Marge Gernon.

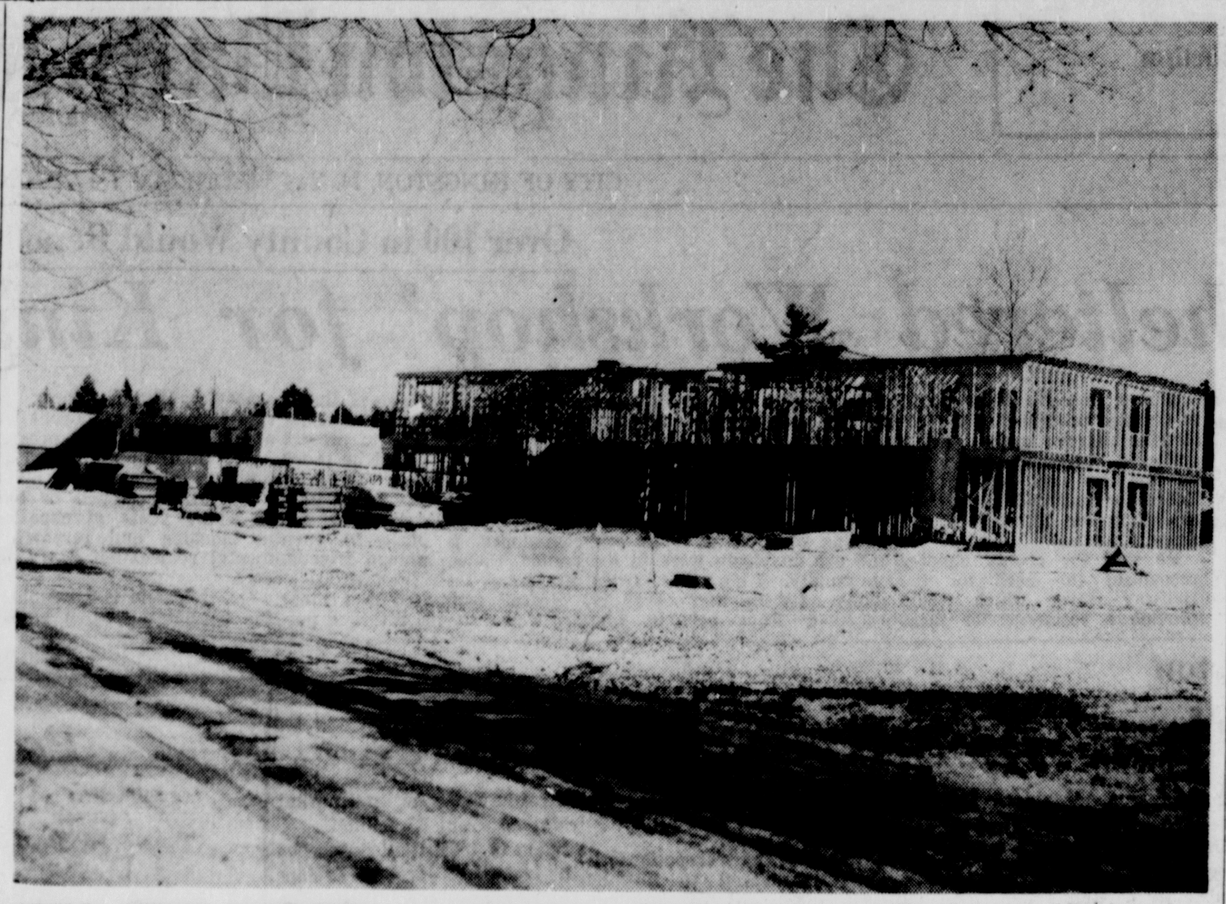
A report of 1967 revealed the purchase of a much-needed resusitator for the fire company. The auxiliary expressed appreciation to the Zena residents for support of the project.

The next meeting will be Feb. 5 at 8:30 p.m.

List Sermon

The Rev. James W. Cook will conduct the worship service Jan. 21 at Overlook Methodist Church and has chosen as his topic, It Can Happen Here!

Church school sessions will be held at 9:30 and 11 a.m. A nursery is provided throughout the morning.



HURLEY AVENUE APARTMENTS — A major building complex being built by the Environment Communities Inc., of Glendale, Pa., on this Hurley Avenue site, is progressing in construction. The apartment complex will be known as Stony Run Apartments. This phase of the project will consist of 12 separate apartment buildings with one, two and three bedroom units. The estimated cost of this portion of the complex is $600,000. Actual work started in mid-September. George E. Radcliffe, Kingston building inspector, said plans call for a swimming pool and large flower garden. The site is large enough for 14 additional apartment buildings. A pumping station will be built to pump raw sewage into the city's sewer system. The cost of the latter phase of the project will be paid for by Environment Communities Inc. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

SHERIFF MARTIN

A special and important meeting of the licensees comprising the Ulster County Hotel and Restaurant Liquor Dealer's Association has been called for Thursday at 1:30 p.m., it was announced today.

Tomorrow's meeting will be of utmost importance, the statement said, and will feature a talk by Sheriff William B. Martin. The sheriff's talk is billed on a subject that is a "governing factor to our industry," according to an association spokesman.

A full membership attendance is requested.

Museum Group Meets Friday

The fourth annual meeting of the membership of the Mid-Hudson-Catskill Museum will be at 8 p.m. Friday at the Coykendall Science Lecture Hall, State University College, Mohonk Avenue, New Paltz. Members and all who have interest in the purposes of the Museum of Natural History may attend.

Dr. Robert W. Pyle will be the speaker. Dr. Pyle, a valued trustee of the museum, has recently returned from a year's mission to India.

'Containment Outmoded'

Landon Would 'Build Bridges' With Reds

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — The American policy of "containment of communism" was called outmoded today by Alf M. Landon, former governor of Kansas. In its stead, he urged "building bridges" with the Communist nations through trade expansion.

Landon, the 1936 Republican presidential nominee, made his remarks in an address for a noon luncheon of the Rotary Club.

As of three months ago, Landon said, containment of Communism became the third announced Vietnam policy of President Johnson in three years. The other two, he said, were economic and technical aid to help South Vietnamese to help themselves, as advocated by his two predecessors, and, after February, 1965, the policies advocated by Sen. Barry Goldwater, including bombing of North Vietnam.

An HST Original

The containment policy was originally proposed by President Harry Truman in 1947 Landon said, at which time he supported it.

"Then that policy was designed to contain a solid monolithic Communist bloc. Today that bloc is utterly split—principally between China and the Soviet Union. Also, it is fragmenting between many other conflicting governments.

"This split and fragmentation is growing all the time for two primary reasons. First, nationalism is transcending ideology throughout the world—including the Communist world. Therefore, national interests conflict with the Soviet attempts to rule and dominae the Communis world in terms of Soviet interests.

"Second ... state capitalism is eroding state communism. Even within the Soviet Union and China, we witness the growing demand for freedom from the police state rulers."

Therefore, Landon said, "if there is a policy outmoded for America today, it is the purely negative containment policy."

"It is outmoded because it does not take into account the changes in the world the past 20 years. Nor does it take into account present incipient world changes in the next 20 years.

A settlement in Vietnam would still leave negative and outmoded containment as the basis of American foreign policy, he told the Rotarians.

"This is to say that—because containment cannot be situational—it has to be international in scope. It has to be equally responsive to Communist diversity anywhere in the world at the same time."

Landon said continued pursuit of containment would be tantamount to reversal of what appeared to be a new direction in President Johnson's foreign policy of building bridges with the Communist world.

"There are many restrictions on our trade with Communist countries which the president himself could eliminate. Where he does not have such authority, he could appeal to Congress to repeal legislation restricting trade."

what kind of coffeemaker do you use?

It really doesn't matter.
Any coffeemaker can give you a good cup of coffee, providing you use a fine fresh coffee that is ground exactly right for your coffeemaker.

We've always known that the correct grind is important to coffee flavor.
That's why, years ago, we developed Custom-Grinding.
That's why we don't have just one or two grinds
but seven different grinds... to fit any coffeemaker.
including electric percolators, of course,
(Ask for medium-fine grind for electrics).

Custom-Grinding means a little extra work for us and a little extra time for you.
(It takes 15 seconds to grind a pound).
But what a difference in flavor those few seconds make.

You know, there's only one reason we insist on selling custom-ground bean coffees... WE CARE.

Sulking Sellers Still Going Strong

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The antics of Peter Sellers on the set of his current movie have brought the movie capital to the realization that star temperament is not dead after all.

In recent times it was generally believed that the rigid economics of the new Hollywood had ruled out the explosions of ego and temper that have been part of the local scene since Gloria Swanson and Pola Negri feuded at Paramount in the 1920s.

"Producers simply won't put up with recalcitrant actors," said one observer. "The film companies can't afford to lose shooting time because a performer is sulking in his dressing room."

But now Sellers is proving that stars can still indulge in fits of temper and get away with it. He is now filming a hippie epic, "I Love You, Alice B. Toklas," at Warner Bros.-Seven Arts, and reports of his didos have been circulating the town.

According to witnesses, the British comic: consistently arrives late so the company often gets few shots before lunch; screamed at Oscar winner Jo Van Fleet; screamed at the script clerk for wearing purple, which Sellers considers an unlucky color on a film set; screamed at the film's publicity man and other workers; threatened to interrogate the entire crew to discover who was circulating stories that he was screaming at people. Sellers has declined comment on the reports.

Such reports are relished by the movie crowd, which is delighted to learn that the human element—and actors can be intensely human—still remains in Hollywood. The death knell for temperament seemed to have been sounded last year when Judy Garland was fired from "Valley of the Dolls" and replaced with Susan Hayward. Miss Garland's inability to appear on time for her scenes prompted an impatient response from 20th Century-Fox.

"I think that was a mistake," observes a veteran film director. "I've had my share of headaches with stars, but sometimes you have to put up with their eccentricities and nurse them along. A personality like Judy Garland comes along once in a lifetime, and a studio should cherish such a star and do everything possible to get a performance from her.

"It was the same with Marilyn Monroe. Fox fired her from her last picture because she was always late and couldn't remember her lines. But Marilyn was always like that. Billy Wilder put up with her behavior on 'Some Like It Hot' and got classic performance."

Today's bosses are not likely to listen to such an argument. The keynote of production now is efficiency, and that means completing a film with as much dispatch as is consistent with quality. Workman like actors are selected for films in preference to those whith a reputation for delaying films.

Director Robert Aldrich explains "I had 17 actors in 'The Dirty Dozen,' and 16 of them were cooperative. The other one came late, claimed he was tired, didn't know his lines, wanted to go home early. What could I do—fire him and call it 'the Dirty 11'?

"No I nursed him along and finished the picture. I've had him in seven pictures before, but I'll tell you this: I'll never hire him again."

Of course, directors do put up with actors' temperament nowadays— when the actor is a top star. None of the 20 major stars belongs to any studio. So they can't be disciplined, as Louis B. Mayer did with Judy Garland when she was chronically late to "Annie Get Your Gun." Betty Hutton replaced her.

Doing the Right Thing

GOOD MANNERS STILL MARK OF GRACIOUS, EDUCATED PERSON

It's time to have a quiz on plain everyday manners — the general rules on which you will be judged as a well-mannered person or an etiquette delinquent. If you score 10 or better, you'll be considered a gracious, knowledgeable person; between seven and nine, you'll be accepted; but below seven, your list of discriminating friends will be short indeed.

1. May a lady smoke on a city street?
2. Should a man grasp a woman's arm or elbow when walking on the street?
3. Must a man always stay on the curb side when walking with a woman?
4. Should a man carry all packages for a woman?
5. May a man get off a bus ahead of his female companion?
6. Does a woman go through a revolving door first?
7. Should a man generally seat a woman to his right?
8. Must a man take his hat off in an elevator?
9. Do men remove "outdoor" gloves before shaking hanks?
10. Must women remove their gloves to shake hands?
11. Must the men rise when a woman stops to speak to someone at their table in a restaurant?
12. Should a man pull out his companion's chair for her when arriving at a restaurant if the waiter does not do so?

Now the check your knowledge of manners in general.

1. No.
2. No. If the going is rough, she takes his arm.
3. No. Although if they are not crossing back and forth so that he must keep switching, most women prefer it.
4. No. She herself carries those which are not heavy or large.
5. Yes. He turns and gives her a hand to help her down.
6. Yes. Her escort pushes the next partition to help her start it.
7. Yes. Unless it would put her on an aisle or in an undesirable seat.
8. No. Unless in a hotel or apartment house elevator which is not crowded.
9. Yes. At least the right one.
10. No.
11. Yes. If it is a very large table, those at the other end need not stand.
12. Yes.

Care of Rugs and Carpets

Rugs and carpets are a large investment. If you want them to wear well and stay attractive, keep them clean, says Phyllis W. Barlow, Extension Home Economist. Dirt on the surface dulls the color of the rug; embedded particles cut its fibers.

You yourself must decide how often and how thoroughly you clean your rugs. The amount of dirt that is tracked in and the time and energy you have to spend will influence your decision.

A good rug deserves a smooth surface to lie on. A pad under the rug absorbs noise, softens the shock of walking, and increases the life of the carpet by cushioning it against wear. Follow maufacturer's directions for care and cleaning of the pad.

Occasionally reverse the position of rugs to distribute wear. Furniture cups under the legs of heavy furniture prevent excessive pressure on small areas. When you move heavy furniture, lift it; never drag it over the rug.

Give immediate attention to anything that is spilled on the rug. Blot up as much as possible with a solft cloth or tissue. A solution of mild synthetic detergent and water (1 teaspoon detergent to 1 cup lukewarm water) will remove many spots if used before the spot dries. Using a circular motion, sponge the area with a soft cloth, beginning at the outer edge and working in. Blot up the solution and rinse with clear water.

Some spots that are not removed by this method may disappear if you apply a mixture of 1 teaspoon white vinegar and 3 teaspoons lukewarm water. Finish by sponging with a cloth dampened in lukewarm water.

Remove grease spots with a grease solvent such as carbon tetrachloride. Use cautiously if the rug has a rubber backing—it may dissolve the rubber. When the grease has been removed, sponge with clear lukewarm water and blot up excess moisture.

Moth and carpet beetle damage is less apt to occur when rugs are kept clean. After a rug is thoroughly cleaned, spray under large pieces of furniture with a moth repellent. Most sprays are effective for several months so you will not need to move heavy chairs and davenports every time the rugs are cleaned with a vacuum cleaner.

When there is heavy traffic on a rug, you may need to clean it daily with a vacuum cleaner or carpet sweeper. A light vacuuming (three passes over each area) will pick up much of the soil before it becomes embedded in the fibers. At intervals you may want to clean the rug more thoroughly by using the vacuum cleaner for a longer period of time.

New rugs may have short loose fibers embedded in the pile as a result of clipping during the manufacturing process. It does not affect the wearing quality of the rug to remove these fibers with a vacuum cleaner.

Areas in front of doorways and in traffic lanes may become more soiled than other sections of the rug. The appearance of the rug can be improved by cleaning these soiled areas with a shampoo or an absorbent cleaner.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I just discovered a marvelous sewing shortcut. It has saved me so many minutes this afternoon that I've time to write and tell you about it.

When sewing on hard-to-mark materials (I've been working with cotton seersucker), unthread your sewing machine needle, remove the bobbin and stitch through dart lines before removing the pattern from the material.

The tiny needle holes leave your darts marked very clearly on both sides of the material in jig time.

Myrt

Dear Folks:

I just got through talking to one of the topmost authorities on wild birds. He stressed that they need suet in their diets. But how to feed them this heavy, thick suet without leaving it on the ground was another problem.

He told me to nail a small hunk of suet on a tree trunk or on the limb so the birds could peck at it.

So next time you trim the excess fat off that roast, try to remember to nail a piece of it in your tree. It sure will add to the bird's diet.

Dear Heloise:

Have you ever tried to lay linoleum and had it bulge here and there?

When this happend recently to us, I came on the idea of simply putting one or two holes in the center of the bulge with a regular straight pin and then pressing the air out.

It works like a charm.

No one can see the small holes and our linoleum is flat and smooth as can be.

It's Going to Be A White World for Women This Spring

Valentino's models were icily elegant from their slouched white berets to their white pumps trimmed with gold "V for Valentino" buckles.

He showed V-necked fabric pullovers, cardigans and jumpers, pulled down long and belted over skirts pleated all around. Long white silk scarves were knotted round the neck with their ends trailing down to the floor at the back.

It was a casual look but poised, easy and elegant.

The costumes dripped with details. There were nature-lover touches like belts made of polished wood knobs linked with chains, tiny pine cones embroidered on a white linen blouse, real oak leaves ringed with rhinestones on a white party dress, facsimile feather prints curling realistically on a cream wool pantsuit, coral branches set in gold and encrusted on a white silk coat. As handled by Valentino, they were artistic, never arty crafty.

White outnumbered other shades by 10 to 1. A sprinkling of pale fawn, honey blonde, cream, oatmeal, navy and black were his only relaxations of the all-white rule.

Boutique Manned by Well Known Offspring

By LINDA DEUTSCH

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — When a lady tries on shoes at the Shop for Pappagallo in Beverly Hills, the girl who slips the slipper on her foot is likely to be the daughter of a movie star, the child of a film studio executive or a budding starlet herself.

These pretty salesgirls, tripping about the shop in their micro-mini smocks, are among the little extras that make Pappagallo a boutique with a difference.

Women browsers—and sometimes men too—often stop at the white-fronted French chateau style building just to look at the interior decor. With its Harlow style orange velvet couches, fur throw rugs and antique armoires, it's something to see.

One of the main attractions is the eight-sided mirrored dressing room in which a miniskirted maiden can see her own image reflected into infinity.

"Tony Curtis came in here one day with his wife," recalls manager William Fischler, "He went into the mirrored dressing room and closed the door and we didn't see him again for an hour. We thought he had left, but then we opened the door and he was still in there looking at all those mirrors."

But the biggest attraction, Fischler admits, are the girls.

Blonde-haired Francesca Hilton, daughter of Zsa Zsa Gabor and Conrad Hilton, works at the shop on the days when she is not auditioning for television parts. The 19-year-old Francesca wants to be an actress.

Also taking turns working whenever they're free are Wendy Stark, daughter of producer Ray Stark and the granddaughter of comedienne Fanny Brice; Patty Findlater, 20, daughter of Jack Findlater, executive vice president of Universal Studios; Melantha Tatum, 21, daughter of Don Tatum, vice president of Walt Disney Studios; Edie Baskin, of the Baskin-Robbins ice cream family; Jan Hirsch, 20-year-old daughter of dog food company owner Clement Hirsch, and Patti Chandler, 23, a starlet who works at the shop when she's not appearing on television shows.

Melantha says the job at Pappagallo is just "something to keep me busy," but others, like Patti Chandler, took the job because of the attractive working hours.

Most girls put in two or three days a week, and can alter their schedules a day in advance. Patty Findlater, a professional model, says this is perfect for her since modeling jobs are sporadic, and she likes to keep busy.

The girls, who say they heard about the shop from friends who worked there, admit they spend most of their salaries on dresses, shoes and boutique items that they're supposed to be selling. The shop specializes in its own brand of shoes priced at $14 for flats and $20 for heels. There are also kicky, but not kookie, dresses and shifts designed by Jean Bandler, in a price range of $35 to over $100 for evening gowns.

The dresses are available in limited numbers at the 33 Pappagallo shops around the country, but the Beverly Hills shop offers a special service to its customers. "Before any woman purchases a dress," says Fischler, "We tell her who else has bought that dress and when."

The owners say the name "Pappagallo" means a man-about-town in Italian, and although the shop is mainly a haven for females, it has one young male employe. James Anderson, a 23-year-old green-eyed Texan trying to break into commercial films, serves coffee to the lady customers. He says the job is "very good exposure," but admits the main attraction is all the girls.

And whose little Valentine are you . . . . daddy's boyfriend, you . . . . daddy's, boyfriend's, fiance's? You could ALSO be The Freeman's Valentine . . . . 1968 Page One Valentine Queen, to be exact.

What do you have to do? It's simple. Mail a wallet size photo of yourself plus such pertinent facts as full name, address, age, name and address of parents, school attending or place of employment to: Page One Valentinne Contest, Kingston Daily Freeman, Kingston, New York.

Who is eligible to compete? All single girls between the ages of 17 - 21 who are NOT employed by The Freeman (or related to anyone there) are qualified to enter this newspaper's first Page One Valentine Contest.

What will the winner receive? Our 1968 Queen will be the recipient of a $50 U.S. Savings Bond from The Freeman, plus 25 beautiful gifts; a gown, shoes, crown, gift certificates, perfume, dinner for two, jewelry, are just some of the numerous presnts which will be presented to the queen.

And as a special bonus, the 1968 Valentine Queen's portrait will be published on the front page of this newspaper on Valentine's Day along with her biography.

What stores are participating in this Valentine event? Gifts for the Valentine Queen will be donated by Doreen's Bridals and Formals, 297 Wall Street; Wallace's, Albany Avenue; Rowe's Shoe Store, 34 John Street; Salvucci's, West Hurley; Goldman's, 1 Main Street; Gladys Hathmaker, 290 Fair Street; Kaye Sportwair, 328 Wall Street; London's, 33 North Front Street; Leventhal's, 288 Wall Street;

Also Gold's, 322 Wall Street; Safford and Scudder Jewelers, 310 Wall Street; Nugent's, Kingston Plaza; Britts, Kingston Plaza.

Who will select the finalists? A panel of judges will choose six finalists from all the photographs submitted. These photos will be published in The Freeman and the public will vote for the Page One Valentine winner.

Where will one obtain a ballot? Along with the pictures of the six finalists there will be a ballot published for the convenience of the public. Your family, relatives, friends, the public-at-large may send in a vote for their selected candidate for the 1968 Page One Valentine Queen.

Deadline for all entries is Wednesday, Jan. 31. Balloting will close by February 12 and the decision of the judges will be final. All photos become the property of this newspaper.

So you've always wondered how Princess Grace felt when she became a member of royalty. Here's your opportunity to find out . . . you could become a Queen!

Doing the Right Thing

It's time to have a quiz on plain everyday manners — the general rules on which you will be judged as a well-mannered person or an etiquette delinquent. If you score 10 or better, you'll be considered a gracious, knowledgeable person; between seven and nine, you'll be accepted; but below seven, your list of discriminating friends will be short indeed.

1. May a lady smoke on a city street?
2. Should a man grasp a woman's arm or elbow when walking on the street?
3. Must a man always stay on the curb side when walking with a woman?
4. Should a man carry all packages for a woman?
5. May a man get off a bus ahead of his female companion?
6. Does a woman go through a revolving door first?
7. Should a man generally seat a woman to his right?
8. Must a man take his hat off in an elevator?
9. Do men remove "outdoor" gloves before shaking hanks?
10. Must women remove their gloves to shake hands?
11. Must the men rise when a woman stops to speak to someone at their table in a restaurant?
12. Should a man pull out his companion's chair for her when arriving at a restaurant if the waiter does not do so?

Now the check your knowledge of manners in general.

1. No.
2. No. If the going is rough, she takes his arm.
3. No. Although if they are not crossing back and forth so that he must keep switching, most women prefer it.
4. No. She herself carries those which are not heavy or large.
5. Yes. He turns and gives her a hand to help her down.
6. Yes. Her escort pushes the next partition to help her start it.
7. Yes. Unless it would put her on an aisle or in an undesirable seat.
8. No. Unless in a hotel or apartment house elevator which is not crowded.
9. Yes. At least the right one.
10. No.
11. Yes. If it is a very large table, those at the other end need not stand.
12. Yes.

Care of Rugs and Carpets

Rugs and carpets are a large investment. If you want them to wear well and stay attractive, keep them clean, says Phyllis W. Barlow, Extension Home Economist. Dirt on the surface dulls the color of the rug; embedded particles cut its fibers.

You yourself must decide how often and how thoroughly you clean your rugs. The amount of dirt that is tracked in and the time and energy you have to spend will influence your decision.

A good rug deserves a smooth surface to lie on. A pad under the rug absorbs noise, softens the shock of walking, and increases the life of the carpet by cushioning it against wear. Follow maufacturer's directions for care and cleaning of the pad.

Occasionally reverse the position of rugs to distribute wear. Furniture cups under the legs of heavy furniture prevent excessive pressure on small areas. When you move heavy furniture, lift it; never drag it over the rug.

Give immediate attention to anything that is spilled on the rug. Blot up as much as possible with a solft cloth or tissue. A solution of mild synthetic detergent and water (1 teaspoon detergent to 1 cup lukewarm water) will remove many spots if used before the spot dries. Using a circular motion, sponge the area with a soft cloth, beginning at the outer edge and working in. Blot up the solution and rinse with clear water.

Some spots that are not removed by this method may disappear if you apply a mixture of 1 teaspoon white vinegar and 3 teaspoons lukewarm water. Finish by sponging with a cloth dampened in lukewarm water.

Remove grease spots with a grease solvent such as carbon tetrachloride. Use cautiously if the rug has a rubber backing—it may dissolve the rubber. When the grease has been removed, sponge with clear lukewarm water and blot up excess moisture.

Moth and carpet beetle damage is less apt to occur when rugs are kept clean. After a rug is thoroughly cleaned, spray under large pieces of furniture with a moth repellent. Most sprays are effective for several months so you will not need to move heavy chairs and davenports every time the rugs are cleaned with a vacuum cleaner.

When there is heavy traffic on a rug, you may need to clean it daily with a vacuum cleaner or carpet sweeper. A light vacuuming (three passes over each area) will pick up much of the soil before it becomes embedded in the fibers. At intervals you may want to clean the rug more thoroughly by using the vacuum cleaner for a longer period of time.

New rugs may have short loose fibers embedded in the pile as a result of clipping during the manufacturing process. It does not affect the wearing quality of the rug to remove these fibers with a vacuum cleaner.

Areas in front of doorways and in traffic lanes may become more soiled than other sections of the rug. The appearance of the rug can be improved by cleaning these soiled areas with a shampoo or an absorbent cleaner.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I just discovered a marvelous sewing shortcut. It has saved me so many minutes this afternoon that I've time to write and tell you about it.

When sewing on hard-to-mark materials (I've been working with cotton seersucker), unthread your sewing machine needle, remove the bobbin and stitch through dart lines before removing the pattern from the material.

The tiny needle holes leave your darts marked very clearly on both sides of the material in jig time.

Dear Folks:

I just got through talking to one of the topmost authorities on wild birds. He stressed that they need suet in their diets. But how to feed them this heavy, thick suet without leaving it on the ground was another problem.

He told me to nail a small hunk of suet on a tree trunk or on the limb so the birds could peck at it.

So next time you trim the excess fat off that roast, try to remember to nail a piece of it in your tree. It sure will add to the bird's diet.

Dear Heloise:

Have you ever tried to lay linoleum and had it bulge here and there?

When this happend recently to us, I came on the idea of simply putting one or two holes in the center of the bulge with a regular straight pin and then pressing the air out.

It works like a charm.

No one can see the small holes and our linoleum is flat and smooth as can be.

Boutique Manned by Well Known Offspring

By LINDA DEUTSCH

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — When a lady tries on shoes at the Shop for Pappagallo in Beverly Hills, the girl who slips the slipper on her foot is likely to be the daughter of a movie star, the child of a film studio executive or a budding starlet herself.

These pretty salesgirls, tripping about the shop in their micro-mini smocks, are among the little extras that make Pappagallo a boutique with a difference.

Women browsers—and sometimes men too—often stop at the white-fronted French chateau style building just to look at the interior decor. With its Harlow style orange velvet couches, fur throw rugs and antique armoires, it's something to see.

One of the main attractions is the eight-sided mirrored dressing room in which a miniskirted maiden can see her own image reflected into infinity.

"Tony Curtis came in here one day with his wife," recalls manager William Fischler, "He went into the mirrored dressing room and closed the door and we didn't see him again for an hour. We thought he had left, but then we opened the door and he was still in there looking at all those mirrors."

But the biggest attraction, Fischler admits, are the girls.

Blonde-haired Francesca Hilton, daughter of Zsa Zsa Gabor and Conrad Hilton, works at the shop on the days when she is not auditioning for television parts. The 19-year-old Francesca wants to be an actress.

It's Going to Be A White World for Women This Spring

Valentino's models were icily elegant from their slouched white berets to their white pumps trimmed with gold "V for Valentino" buckles.

He showed V-necked fabric pullovers, cardigans and jumpers, pulled down long and belted over skirts pleated all around. Long white silk scarves were knotted round the neck with their ends trailing down to the floor at the back.

It was a casual look but poised, easy and elegant.

The costumes dripped with details. There were nature-lover touches like belts made of polished wood knobs linked with chains, tiny pine cones embroidered on a white linen blouse, real oak leaves ringed with rhinestones on a white party dress, facsimile feather prints curling realistically on a cream wool pantsuit, coral branches set in gold and encrusted on a white silk coat. As handled by Valentino, they were artistic, never arty crafty.

White outnumbered other shades by 10 to 1. A sprinkling of pale fawn, honey blonde, cream, oatmeal, navy and black were his only relaxations of the all-white rule.

Hey Kids! Parents Have Rights Too

By JEAN DONALD
St. Petersburg, Fla., Times

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Children should be seen and not heard.

Honor thy father and thy mother.

Do not speak unless spoken to.

. . . These were the rules by which parents ruled the roost in a bygone era.

Thirty or 40 years ago the rights of the adult were clearly recognized. Children had no rights, just the privileges their parents granted them," says Wesley Jenkins, director of the Family and Children's Service here.

Since World War II, however, America's child-rearing philosophy has changed. Now more often than not, children run the home.

"Today's family is child-centered. Parents' lives—particularly a mother's—are devoted to fulfilling the needs of the children. Children have been elevated to the position of supremacy," says Jenkins.

"But I think we're reaching a point now where parents are beginning to take a close look at the responsibilities of children and the rights of parents."

What are the rights of a parent, and the rights of a mother in particular? Pediatricians, psychologists and mothers themselves have their own ideas on the subject.

Jenkins and psychologist Dr. Sidney J. Merin agree a mother has the right to her own time and privacy as long as it doesn't injure others. "A mother has the right to use a substitute kind of child care in order to get some kind of freedom from the family once in awhile," says Jenkins. "It should be perfectly acceptable for mother to trade babysitting services with a neighbor."

She has the right to pursue her own skills and talents as long as it's not injurious to others. "If a mother is willing to recognize her rights—realize that she needn't stop growing and producing because she's a mother—and not be guilt-ridden by it, she and her children will be much happier," says Dr. Merin.

"A mother has the right to certain prerogatives just because she is a mother," Jenkins feels. "For example, if the youngsters have been watching TV all day and there's a program she wants to watch, she has the right to say You've picked the programs all day. Now I would like to watch this one for an hour."

She has the right to expect at least moderate obedience and conformity.

She also has the right to seclusion with her husband and the right to have her husband discuss problems involving family alone.

A mother should have the rights to limit children's play to those areas of the home designed for uninhibited activity.

One pediatrician feels "parents have certain rights and should demand certain considerations from their children. For example, a mother's bedroom should BE her room and the children should have to have permission before they enter," he says.

"Parents should be left alone when sleeping. Children should be taught to stay in their own beds and not make a nuisance of themselves," the physician continued. "But mothers can't demand complete privacy. If parents want absolute privacy, they shouldn't have been parents."

Another pediatrician feels mothers should be able to have certain possessions, such as good furniture and the children should be taught not to damage it. "They should be kept occupied in another room," he says.

He doesn't feel telling a child he can't play in a certain room is psychologically damaging. "In fact, I think we need more of it."

According to Dr. Merin, mothers SHOULD pursue their rights, "or they may unconsciously resent their children if they feel the children consume all their time. Mothers who are intelligent, creative, gregarious, assertive, and who are productive, may find themselves feeling tied down by the responsibilities of motherhood and may resent their children. But if they pursue their own rights, they'll be happier—and so will the child."

THIS NAVY AND WHITE wool checked dress with wide Navy belt and swinging skirt indicates some of the trends expected when the couture showings begin here later this month. This creation by Star has the skirt-length just covering the kneecap. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

The Mature Parent

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

THE SHIFTING OF BLAME FOR PAINFUL EXPERIENCES

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: My niece, 17, has been committed to a mental hospital. Mrs. Lawrence, my sister-in-law never wanted this child and there were arguments over her discipline between my brother and her all through the girl's childhood. Now she blames what she call his "softness" toward the girl for her mental illness and is being incouraged to blame him by the psychiatrist she is going to. How can you explain a doctor's support of such cruelty?

ANSWER: I can't. However, psychiatrists operate out of knowledge that you and I don't possess. So it's just possible that this one knows that your sister-in-law will blame herself for the girl's condition if she can't blame her husband for it. And that she herself would fall to pieces under her own self-accusation.

For there are people, you see, who must blame somebody—other people or themselves—for any painful experience life imposes on them.

Otherwise, they would have to look at the fact that our human lives are subject to unforeseeable troubles that we could not avert. And as this is truth they cannot stand, they've got to think of their lives as always controllable.

And a very comfortable notion it is, too. Like your sister-in-law, it enables them to cast themselves as the heroine (or hero) of the plot—and the other fellow as its villain. But psychiatrists who know that we are neither heroic nor villainous are very quick to spot this infantile view of life in a patient. And the doctor will play along with it until the patient is strong enough to reject the role of virtuous heroine and release her husband from his role of hopeless villian.

We Americans, I think, have a particularly difficult time when life imposes one of its painful experiences on us.

From somewhere we've acquired the impression that if we're just good enough, obey the Commandments and attend church regularly, we assure ourselves of an untroubled existence. So when trouble strikes, it accuses us of badness. Thus, we must struggle, not only with the trouble but also with that secret sureness of our badness. Since we can't manage them both, we've got to transfer the badness, the blame for the child's mental illness. Which just could be another thing your sister-in-law's psychiatrist knows.

Y-Wives Plan Sale

On Thursday evening the Y-Wives of the YWCA will hold their annual miscellaneous sale. The event will be directed by specific persons selected from the club's members.

Members are requested to bring jewelry, toys, bric-a-brac, and other items to the meeting. All articles must be in good condition.

After the sale a business meeting will be held.

ACTRESS FAYE DUNAWAY dresses with stylish delicacy in this recent photo. The co-star of the film, "Bonnie and Clyde," was named to the list of the world's 12 "best-dressed" women for 1967 in New York on January 9. This is her first appearance on the listing which is made each year on the basis of ballots entered by fashion experts, designers and observers from all over the world. (UPI Telephoto).

Holds Installation

On Saturday evening, Jan. 14, Congregation Agudas Achim held its installation of officers for the coming year.

The wit and wisdom of attorney Maurice Goldberg, principal speaker, provided a warm contrast to the chill outdoors.

After a greeting by Rabbi H. Z. Rappaport, and a musical rendition by Cantor Shlomovitz, attorney Goldberg officially discharged from their duties the previous slate of officers and installed those newly elected.

David Popick succeeds Manuel Lipton as president. Installed as first vice president was Herman Schneider; second vice president in charge of religious affairs, Hyman Reher; recording and corresponding secretary, Jack Schienvold; financial secretary, Ed Toder; treasurer, Joe Epstein.

In his acceptance speech, president-elect Popick conveyed to his congregation his pride in being elected president of his congregation, now more than 100 years old. He expressed hope that Agudas Achim would continue to grow spiritually and culturally and that his congregation would be an assest to the community which it has served many years.

The newly elected officers will be assisted by the Board of Directors consisting of Jack Shienvold, Manuel Lipton, Ted Weiner, Joe Krosner, Louis Eaton, Phil Kleinman, Bernie Abelove, Mike Weiner, Louis Klein, Ira Trast, Raphael Klein and Ruby Lewis.

A cocktail party was held after the installation.

Tiny Tips

When honey has turned to sugar, place the honey jar in a saucepan containing hot water and let it stand.

When making a little girl shortie pajamas for the summer, make a pair of long pants too. The jacket usually lasts as long as two pairs of the pants do, and when summer is gone, she'll have a good winter pajama suit.

Remove the shell from a fresh coconut by this method. Heat the coconut in a moderately hot oven for 10 minutes. When the shell is cracked with a hammer, it will fall off in two pieces.

Here is a quick way to remove canned meats from their container, whole and in one piece, without breaking it to bits. Place the container on the back of the stove, or allow it to stand in hot water long enough to warm or melt the fat next to the tin.

Country Wife

By DOROTHY VAN DOREN

Weekend guests from the city look on us country dwellers with awe not unmixed with condescension. "Don't you get snowed in?" they ask. "Isn't the weather terribly oppressive? Aren't you lonely? Don't you miss the theater, the movies, the etceteras of the city?"

The answer to all these question is yes and no. In 10 years of living in the country we have been unable to get the car out of the barn just twice, once because of ice which must simply be left alone until it melts, once for a blizzard. Otherwise either we don't want to go out or are plowed out by a kind neighbor or the town plow.

The weather can indeed be oppressive in the city, too! Too heavy and hot in July—but we can always go swimming; too cold in January—but a big fire in the fireplace helps a lot.

Lonely? On the whole, no. Some of our best friends live in the country. They invite us to dinner fairly often and we return the compliment. We never go to the market without meeting a friend, usually several friends. Far from being lonely, we welcome a quiet evening with our feet up and a book to read.

Finally, do we miss the city? Sometimes we do, although movies do come to our town regularly and the theater is not a million miles away. However, if we are desperate with longing for the bright lights, we can satisfy our despair in a very simple way: we can go to the city for a couple of days and enjoy whatever it has to offer, from plays to crowds. When we get home the country seems even better.

There is nevertheless, one important difference between the city and the country and it is one that the weekend guests would never think of. In the country we do not walk. That's right. We get in the car instead. Last winter our family decided that walking was a must. Every morning we would go down the hill, about a third of a mile, to the mail box and back again.

We did it for about a week. We meant to keep it up but things kept interfering. We wanted to walk, we meant to walk, we promised ourselves that we would, but except rarely we didn't do it. It seems to me that when I lived in the city I walked all the time. It is certainly easier to walk than to wait for a taxi and the subway is not much fun.

So there it is. The country is just like the city, except that you don't walk. Although when weekend guests come, they are fired with zeal for exercise and the first thing they want to do is take a walk. Then we do.

Hey Kids! Parents Have Rights Too

By JEAN DONALD
St. Petersburg, Fla., Times

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Children should be seen and not heard.

Honor thy father and thy mother.

Do not speak unless spoken to.

... These were the rules by which parents ruled the roost in a bygone era.

Thirty or 40 years ago the rights of the adult were clearly recognized. Children had no rights, just the privileges their parents granted them," says Wesley Jenkins, director of the Family and Children's Service here.

Since World War II, however, America's child-rearing philosophy has changed. Now more often than not, children run the home.

"Today's family is child-centered. Parents' lives—particularly a mother's—are devoted to fulfilling the needs of the children. Children have been elevated to the position of supremacy," says Jenkins.

"But I think we're reaching a point now where parents are beginning to take a close look at the responsibilities of children and the rights of parents."

What are the rights of a parent, and the rights of a mother in particular? Pediatricians, psychologists and mothers themselves have their own ideas on the subject.

Jenkins and psychologist Dr. Sidney J. Merin agree a mother has the right to her own time and privacy as long as it doesn't injure others. "A mother has the right to use a substitute kind of child care in order to get some kind of freedom from the family once in awhile," says Jenkins. "It should be perfectly acceptable for mother to trade babysitting services with a neighbor."

She has the right to pursue her own skills and talents as long as it's not injurious to others. "If a mother is willing to recognize her rights—realize that she needn't stop growing and producing because she's a mother—and not be guilt-ridden by it, she and her children will be much happier," says Dr. Merin.

"A mother has the right to certain prerogatives just because she is a mother," Jenkins feels. "For example, if the youngsters have been watching TV all day and there's a program she wants to watch, she has the right to say You've picked the programs all day. Now I would like to watch this one for an hour."

She has the right to expect at least moderate obedience and conformity.

She also has the right to seclusion with her husband and the right to have her husband discuss problems involving family alone.

A mother should have the rights to limit children's play to those areas of the home designed for uninhibited activity.

One pediatrician feels "parents have certain rights and should demand certain considerations from their children. For example, a mother's bedroom should BE her room and the children should have to have permission before they enter," he says.

"Parents should be left alone when sleeping. Children should be taught to stay in their own beds and not make a nuisance of themselves," the physician continued. "But mothers can't demand complete privacy. If parents want absolute privacy, they shouldn't have been parents."

Another pediatrician feels mothers should be able to have certain possessions, such as good furniture and the children should be taught not to damage it. "They should be kept occupied in another room," he says.

He doesn't feel telling a child he can't play in a certain room is psychologically damaging. "In fact, I think we need more of it."

According to Dr. Merin, mothers SHOULD pursue their rights, "or they may unconsciously resent their children if they feel the children consume all their time. Mothers who are intelligent, creative, gregarious, assertive, and who are productive, may find themselves feeling tied down by the responsibilities of motherhood and may resent their children. But if they pursue their own rights, they'll be happier—and so will the child."

THIS NAVY AND WHITE wool checked dress with wide Navy belt and swinging skirt indicates some of the trends expected when the couture showings begin here later this month. This creation by Star has the skirt-length just covering the kneecap. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

The Mature Parent

THE SHIFTING OF BLAME FOR PAINFUL EXPERIENCES

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: My niece, 17, has been committed to a mental hospital. Mrs. Lawrence, my sister-in-law never wanted this child and there were arguments over her discipline between my brother and her all through the girl's childhood. Now she blames what she call his "softness" toward the girl for her mental illness and is being incouraged to blame him by the psychiatrist she is going to. How can you explain a doctor's support of such cruelty?

ANSWER: I can't. However, psychiatrists operate out of knowledge that you and I don't possess. So it's just possible that this one knows that your sister-in-law will blame herself for the girl's condition if she can't blame her husband for it. And that she herself would fall to pieces under her own self-accusation.

For there are people, you see, who must blame somebody—other people or themselves—for any painful experience life imposes on them.

Otherwise, they would have to look at the fact that our human lives are subject to unforeseeable troubles that we could not avert. And as this is truth they cannot stand, they've got to think of their lives as always controllable.

And a very comfortable notion it is, too. Like your sister-in-law, it enables them to cast themselves as the heroine (or hero) of the plot—and the other fellow as its villain. But psychiatrists who know that we are neither heroic nor villainous are very quick to spot this infantile view of life in a patient. And the doctor will play along with it until the patient is strong enough to reject the role of virtuous heroine and release her husband from his role of hopeless villian.

We Americans, I think, have a particularly difficult time when life imposes one of its painful experiences on us.

From somewhere we've acquired the impression that if we're just good enough, obey the Commandments and attend church regularly, we assure ourselves of an untroubled existence. So when trouble strikes, it accuses us of badness. Thus, we must struggle, not only with the trouble but also with that secret sureness of our badness. Since we can't manage them both, we've got to transfer the badness, the blame for the child's mental illness. Which just could be another thing your sister-in-law's psychiatrist knows.

Y-Wives Plan Sale

On Thursday evening the Y-Wives of the YWCA will hold their annual miscellaneous sale. The event will be directed by specific persons selected from the club's members.

Members are requested to bring jewelry, toys, bric-a-brac, and other items to the meeting. All articles must be in good condition.

After the sale a business meeting will be held.

ACTRESS FAYE DUNAWAY dresses with stylish delicacy in this recent photo. The co-star of the film, "Bonnie and Clyde," was named to the list of the world's 12 "best-dressed" women for 1967 in New York on January 9. This is her first appearance on the listing which is made each year on the basis of ballots entered by fashion experts, designers and observers from all over the world. (UPI Telephoto).

Holds Installation

On Saturday evening, Jan. 14, Congregation Agudas Achim held its installation of officers for the coming year.

The wit and wisdom of attorney Maurice Goldberg, principal speaker, provided a warm contrast to the chill outdoors.

After a greeting by Rabbi H. Z. Rappaport, and a musical rendition by Cantor Shlomovitz, attorney Goldberg officially discharged from their duties the previous slate of officers and installed those newly elected.

David Popick succeeds Manuel Lipton as president. Installed as first vice president was Herman Schneider; second vice president in charge of religious affairs, Hyman Reher; recording and corresponding secretary, Jack Schienvold; financial secretary, Ed Toder; treasurer, Joe Epstein.

In his acceptance speech, president-elect Popick conveyed to his congregation his pride in being elected president of his congregation, now more than 100 years old. He expressed hope that Agudas Achim would continue to grow spiritually and culturally and that his congregation would be an assest to the community which it has served many years.

The newly elected officers will be assisted by the Board of Directors consisting of Jack Shienvold, Manuel Lipton, Ted Weiner, Joe Krosner, Louis Eaton, Phil Kleinman, Bernie Abelove, Mike Weiner, Louis Klein, Ira Trast, Raphael Klein and Ruby Lewis.

A cocktail party was held after the installation.

Tiny Tips

When honey has turned to sugar, place the honey jar in a saucepan containing hot water and let it stand.

When making a little girl shortie pajamas for the summer, make a pair of long pants too. The jacket usually lasts as long as two pairs of the pants do, and when summer is gone, she'll have a good winter pajama suit.

Remove the shell from a fresh coconut by this method. Heat the coconut in a moderately hot oven for 10 minutes. When the shell is cracked with a hammer, it will fall off in two pieces.

Here is a quick way to remove canned meats from their container, whole and in one piece, without breaking it to bits. Place the container on the back of the stove, or allow it to stand in hot water long enough to warm or melt the fat next to the tin.

Michelle McCloskey Stars In Boys' YMCA Basketball

The YMCA Junior basketball program has been invaded this year by a hard driving, enthusiastic young lassie. She is Michelle McCloskey, a sixth grader at the JFK School, who holds her own in a league of more than 50 boys ranging in age from 8 through 12.

Michelle, a member of the first place Cougars, averages five points a game and a like amount of rebounds. She compensates for height disadvantage with quickness, timing and agility.

For those who know her, Michelle isn't classified as a tomboy. On the contrary, she is an all-around girl, who is involved in many activities. Her talents range from a popular member of the girls leaders corps to a graceful swimmer.

Michelle's brother, Francis, plays in the same league and they have a brother and two sisters home who are practicing basketball.

Year of Sophomore: Murphy and Mount

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

This could well be the year of the sophomore in college basketball. Rick Mount of Purdue and Calvin Murphy of Niagara are two of the best.

The 6-foot-3 Mount and the 5-10 Murphy demonstrated their talents to a high degree Tuesday night as midyear exams cut activity to a minimum. None of The Associated Press Top Ten teams saw action.

Home Teams Win

In other major games, all home court victories, Wisconsin edged Michigan State 70-68, Northwestern downed Minnesota 77-71, Cincinnati defeated Bradley 77-66, Bowling Green beat Kent State 77-60 and Rhode Island routed Vermont 92-65. On the road Dartmouth humbled Harvard 65-60 and Texas A&M squeaked past Texas 88-87.

Mount got his 33 points against Indiana on 10 field goals and 13 of 15 free throws. Murphy scored his 36 against DePaul on 16 two-pointers and four of five free throws.

Murphy had a hot second half with 22 points, leading fast breaks and stealing several DePaul passes. To thwart him, the Blue Demons, leading by 75-70 with five minutes left, went into a freeze to keep the ball away from Murphy as much as possible.

Roberson Scores 32

Rick Roberson's 23 points paced Cincinnati over Bradley, but the Bearcats lost Gordie Smith for the remainder of the season. He suffered an ankle injury in the second half and is scheduled to undergo surgery today.

Terry Gamber's 24 points led Northwestern's Big Ten leaders over Minnesota. Walt Piatkowski got 28 in leading Bowling Green over Kent.

As for Lew Alcindor, 7-1½ star of UCLA's unbeaten national champions, Coach Johnny Wooden announced he will not play against Portland Thursday night. It still is questionable whether he will be recovered sufficiently from the injury to his left eyeball to play against Houston Saturday night.

Hockey League Expands Slate

TORONTO (AP) — The National Hockey League, hoping for early parity between its established clubs and their young expansion rivals, has increased the 1968-69 schedule from 74 to 76 games and stepped up interdivision play by 12 games per team.

The schedule for next season, agreed upon Tuesday by the 12 NHL governors at a meeting prior to the 21st annual All-Star Game, calls for each club to play 40 games within its division and 36 against teams from the other division. This season the ratio is 50-24.

Gamble Beats NHL's Top Guns In All-Star Test

TORONTO (AP) — Bruce Gamble wears his sideburns Texas-long and spends a lot of time listening to Western music —when he's not facing the music as back-up man to Toronto's 43-year-old goaltending marvel, Johnny Bower.

Tuesday night, Gamble stood up to the fastest guns in the National Hockey League—East and West—and beat them to the draw.

The 29-year-old goalie, starting in place of the injured Bower, spent 40 hazardous minutes fending off superior firepower as Toronto's Stanley Cup champions rallied for a 4-3 victory in the NHL's 21st annual All-Star classic.

"It was Gable that killed us," said Coach Toe Blake of Montreal, whose high-scoring All-Star club peppered the Toronto goaltender with 30 shots in the first two periods but could only beat him twice.

Gamble came up with 17 stops in the opening session and 11 in the middle session before giving way to rookie Al Smith, who sealed the victory with nine more saves—including a brilliant stab of a Bobby Hull slap shot in the final minute. All-Star goalies Ed Giacomin of New York, Terry Sawchuk of Los Angeles and Glenn Hall of St. Louis each played one period, combining for 37 saves.

The All-Stars — representing the other 11 NHL clubs—spotted Toronto an early goal by Murray Oliver, then shot ahead 2-1 on tallies by Chicago's Stan Mikita, in the final minute of the first period, and Kenny Wharram, in the opening minute of the second session.

Defenseman Allan Stanley's 40-foot scoring drive triggered the Maple Leafs' comeback at 7:56 of the second period and they took the lead nine minutes later when Pete Stemkowski poked in Wayne Carleton's rebound.

OJ, Keyes Untouchables

Gary Beban, Hardy, DePoyster Top Plums in Football Draft

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

Pro football is getting ready to dig down into its "farm system" again and while 462 college seniors will be drafted, each with a blare of publicity trumpets from 26 teams in 25 cities, two of the biggest catches won't be in the pool.

The pros can't touch two of the 1967 prizes—Southern California's O. J. Simpson, who led the nation's collegians in rushing and LeRoy Keyes, Purdue's Mr. Everything.

Orange Juice and LeRoy will have another college season and the two lowly 1968 pro teams that will get 1-2 call on these standouts will be praying that neither stubs a toe.

But all is not lost for the pros. Waiting for them at the Jan. 30-31 New York 17-round draft will be half the All-America backfield—Heisman and Maxwell trophy winner Gary Beban of UCLA and fullback Larry Csonka, who broke all yardage gained records ever set at Syracuse.

Here are a few other choice plums for the pros, all of whom may be gobbled up in the first round:

Granville Liggins, Oklahoma's sensational middle guard.

Kim Hammond, Florida State's quarterback who set a raft of forward passing records with 37 completions for 362 yards in the Gator Bowl.

Ron Yary, 245-pound USC All-America tackle.

Warren McVea, Houston running back who at 185 pounds, is regarded by Coach Bill Yeoman as quicker than Glenn Davis of Army's great teams.

Ken Hebert, Houston's split end who scored 199 points in the last two seasons. He also is a kicker, having booted 38 extra points in 1967.

Kicking Specialists

Jerry DePoyster, Wyoming's great kick scorer who has made a number of 50-yard field goals. These would be 60 yarders in the pros because the pros are smart — they have goal posts on the goal lines. The colleges have their posts 10 yards behind the alumni stripe.

Dennis Homan, Alabama end who caught 54 passes last season and looked especially good in the Cotton Bowl.

Tom Schoen, Notre Dame's brilliant safety who averaged 10.6 yards on 42 punt returns.

Bob Johnson, Tennessee's great 238-pound 6-5 center who was on everybody's All-America team.

When all the drafting is finished, 26 teams, 16 in the National Football League and 10 in the American Football League, will call their first man picked their No. 1 choice. In some cases the first pick, say for a team such as the New York Jets who choose 16th, could be a player anywhere from 10th to 16th on their overall scouting list.

28 Extra Picks

The Cincinnati Bengals, new team for '68 in the AFL, will be permitted 28 extra draft selections.

As was the case last March, only athletes who have completed their college eligibility will be selected. No "redshirts" will be chosen. In other words, only seniors who will graduate in June will be picked.

In the cases of Beban, Csonka, Hardy, Yary, DePoyster and Johnson, it's not a question of which team they will play for in 1968. It's just a question of how much their new team will offer them for one, two or three season.

The old days when a player could bargain with both leagues are over. The proposed 1970 merger of the two leagues ended that. Any salary figures you see are purely estimated guesses. The pro clubs just hate to have their veterans know what the rookies are getting.

Gains Tie for DCSL Lead...

Poughkeepsie Upsets Arlington, 66-55

And then there was none!

The inspired Poughkeepsie High School Pioneers snapped Arlington High's 6-0 winning streak in the DCSL, 66-55, last night and moved into a first place tie with the Admirals with 6 and 1 game.

The Pioneers put the blanket on Arlington's high scoring sensation, Scott McCandlish, limiting him to 18 points, his lowest harvest of the season, and that was half the battle.

Bill Elting, a senior guard, covered McCandlish like a blanket throughout the game—a ragged, gruelling contest marked by numerous turnovers and low shooting percentages on both sides. The home court was, of course, a plus factor for the Pioneers.

Royce Scores 25

Tom Royce led Poughkeepsie with 25 points and collected six of a 10-straight skein the Pioneers put together in drawing away from Arlington, 20-9, in the first quarter. The quarter ended 20-11.

Arlington bounced back and forged ahead 31-30 on a drive sparked by Bill Atkins, who collected all of his eight points in that spurt. With 1:20 left in the half, McCandlish scored a tapin to put Arlington ahead, 33-20, but that was the high water mark for the Admirals. Poughkeepsie regained control and moved to a 39-33 halftime lead.

Arlington gained a 12-11 margin in a desultory third period when play reached its worst level of intensity. The Pioneers controlled both boards and often had three or four shots at followups after missing baskets.

In the last 6:15 of play, both teams combined for only 18 points. Dave Jones was runnerup with 14 for Poughkeepsie and Ken Sawyer decked 15 for Arlington.

Poughkeepsie won the Jayvee contest, 56-44.

Despite a 29 shooting percentage, Beacon routed Wappingers, 63-47, to move into second place with a 5-1 record. The Fallsmen hit only 25 per cent from the field and were limited to 5 points in the first quarter.

Nate Milligan, Beacon's leading scorer, potted 16 for the night and Tom Moore added 16. High man for Wappingers was Bruce Garrett with 14. Wappingers is now 2-4 in the UCAL.

Lourdes Raps Saugerties, 68-33

It was predictable all the way —Our Lady of Lourdes overpowering Saugerties High, 68-33, in a DCSL contest last night on the Saints' boards.

The victory moved Lourdes over the .500 mark with a 4-3 mark, while the Sawyers suffered their sixth setback in seven league games.

Lourdes raced off to a fast start that dazzled the Sawyers in the first quarter 17-4. Bill Perks of Saugerties had the only point in the first quarter, a foul shot collected in the opening minutes, until there was just a minute left to go. Roger Praetorius then eluded the Lourdes defenders and drove in for a layup. Praetorius collected a foul shot in the closing seconds to raise the Sawyer score to four at the quarter buzzer.

Meanwhile, Lourdes was not having any difficulty stuffing the ball through the visitor's hoop. Warriors combined for 17 tallies in the opening period, and it was all over from there.

Coach Bud Smith of Saugerties said, "They out-quicked us. That first quarter press really hurt."

John Carnright led the Sawyers with 10 points.

Four players broke double figures for the Warriors, led by Bill O'Neil with 15. Dave Janson, Mike Gorman and Rich Healey had 10 markers apiece.

Lourdes captured the jayvee game as well, 31-27.

Pussycats Are New Tigers in Pro Basketball

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The National Basketball Association's pussycats are turning into tigers.

The Cincinnati Royals, to take one example at hand, won their fourth straight game Tuesday night, thrashing the San Francisco Warriors 148-121. If the Royals can win just one more, their season record will be an even .500.

Then there are the Seattle SuperSonics, an expansion team that has had trouble doing much more than staying on the court. But the club made it two in a row Tuesday, beating Baltimore 142-116 and, lo, escaping the league's Western Division cellar.

That spot fell to the San Diego Rockets, a have-not team that kept right on not having, losing to Chicago 123-110 Tuesday.

In American Basketball Association action Tuesday, Kentucky beat Pittsburgh 107-106, Denver took Minnesota 111-94 and Dallas defeated Oakland 119-112.

Oscar Robertson's 27 points and Jerry Lucas' domination of the backboards gave Cincinnati its easy win. At the end of the third period the Royals led by 40 points. Fred Hetzel led the Warriors with 27 points.

Lourdes Raps Saugerties, 68-33

It was predictable all the way —Our Lady of Lourdes overpowering Saugerties High, 68-33, in a DCSL contest last night on the Saints' boards.

The victory moved Lourdes over the .500 mark with a 4-3 mark, while the Sawyers suffered their sixth setback in seven league games.

Lourdes raced off to a fast start that dazzled the Sawyers in the first quarter 17-4. Bill Perks of Saugerties had the only point in the first quarter, a foul shot collected in the opening minutes, until there was just a minute left to go. Roger Praetorius then eluded the Lourdes defenders and drove in for a layup. Praetorius collected a foul shot in the closing seconds to raise the Sawyer score to four at the quarter buzzer.

Meanwhile, Lourdes was not having any difficulty stuffing the ball through the visitor's hoop. Warriors combined for 17 tallies in the opening period, and it was all over from there.

Coach Bud Smith of Saugerties said, "They out-quicked us. That first quarter press really hurt."

John Carnright led the Sawyers with 10 points.

Four players broke double figures for the Warriors, led by Bill O'Neil with 15. Dave Janson, Mike Gorman and Rich Healey had 10 markers apiece.

Lourdes captured the jayvee game as well, 31-27.

Pussycats Are New Tigers in Pro Basketball

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The National Basketball Association's pussycats are turning into tigers.

The Cincinnati Royals, to take one example at hand, won their fourth straight game Tuesday night, thrashing the San Francisco Warriors 148-121. If the Royals can win just one more, their season record will be an even .500.

Then there are the Seattle SuperSonics, an expansion team that has had trouble doing much more than staying on the court. But the club made it two in a row Tuesday, beating Baltimore 142-116 and, lo, escaping the league's Western Division cellar.

That spot fell to the San Diego Rockets, a have-not team that kept right on not having, losing to Chicago 123-110 Tuesday.

In American Basketball Association action Tuesday, Kentucky beat Pittsburgh 107-106, Denver took Minnesota 111-94 and Dallas defeated Oakland 119-112.

Oscar Robertson's 27 points and Jerry Lucas' domination of the backboards gave Cincinnati its easy win. At the end of the third period the Royals led by 40 points. Fred Hetzel led the Warriors with 27 points.

Rod 'n Gun Report

by "Old Rip"

Winter is the difficult season for our wildlife. Snow and ice cover much of the food that would otherwise be available. The wind and cold increase the requirement for protective shelter for warmth and good food for energy. Deep snow makes travel harder.

Each form of wildlife has its own way of meeting these hardships. Some move to special types of cover; some have special adaptations, like the snowshoes of the varying hare and grouse; some store food near their bedroom, like the squirrel or beaver. The more mobile species fly south where conditions are less harsh.

The "seven sleepers," however, take the easy way out. They curl up and sleep the winter out. This elite group is made up of an odd assortment—bats, bears, chipmunks, coons, jumping mice, skunks, and woodchucks. Their ability to sleep away the winter varies considerably too.

The jumping mouse, woodchuck, and some of the bats are true hibernators, while the other four are just really heavy sleepers. Some bats migrate instead of hibernate, while some appear to make short migrations to good caves for hibernating.

THE TRUE HIBERNATORS have a marked reduction in their body temperature, rate of breathing, and heart rate, while there is relatively little change from normal in the case of the deep sleepers.

The woodchuck has a normal temperature of 96 degrees, but while hibernating it will drop to about 42 degrees. It normally breathes at a rate of about 260 times an hour, but only 14 times an hour while hibernating. The bats and jumping mice have similar changes.

The woodchuck dens up well below the frost level, so his 40-degree body temperature is just about that of the ground around him. Bats hibernating in caves also have body temperatures about the same as the surrounding air, and those in "warm" caves with a temperature of about 50 degrees can be aroused more quickly than those in caves of 40 degrees.

NATURE BUILT IN a safety mechanism which acts to arouse a hibernator if its body temperature drops almost to the freezing temperature, for body temperature of 32 degrees would be fatal.

Except for the chipmunk, all the "seven sleepers" are noted for the layer of lard they put on before retiring. This is the fuel which carries them through the winter. A chuck may den up at eight pounds and emerge in the spring a mere wisp of himself at four pounds.

The chipmunk simply stores food to carry him through the winter. When the hunger pangs arouse him, he rolls over in bed and reaches out from under the covers for a tasty acorn.

The skunk, coon, or bear may venture forth during any warm spell. In late February, the tracks of the male skunks are very common as they shuffle around in the snow looking for their lady friends.

It is during the sleep period of the winter that the bears give birth to their young. This maternity ward can be a cave in a rockslide, a hollow log, or just a snug shelter under the low-hanging branches of a dense spruce. It is little wonder that a female bear doesn't show her face all winter—the cubs she produces weigh only six to eight ounces. A newborn porcupine is fully as big!

SHORT SHOTS: Braving the wintry blasts, Otto Weaver, Charlie Jansen and Ed Secor of the Marbletown Sportsmen's Club made a recent safari to Schoharie county for their hunting. Weaver bagged a 25-pound male bobcat while Secor and Jansen settled for a white rabbit and a few cottontails.

Real early for fish tales but just couldn't let this one get away. While fishing at a Sullivan county hideaway, Charlie Cole was really shook when he saw his spanking new perch jig disappear through his tip-up hole.

A short time later and exactly 340 paces away, his buddy Vern Radel got a flag and came in with an 18-inch pickerel. You guessed it—the fish had Charlie's jig firmly hooked in his mouth. All ended well. Vern had a nice fish and Charlie his gear safe and sound and brother, Ed Radel, a fine story for his "premium" 3-ring beer customers.

OLD RIP SEZ: Think you have trouble? How about the hunter who left for a long weekend hunt and forgot his gun. We wonder if he had a "party permit" for two-legged does?

Medwick Makes Last Run for Hall of Fame

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe (Ducky) Medwick, the gifted slugger in St. Louis' legendary old Gashouse Gang, has begun his final run for a niche in baseball's Hall of Fame.

Medwick and four other last time eligibles—Frank Crosetti, Frank McCormick, Terry Moore and Arky Vaughan—are among 51 Hall of Fame candidates on the 1968 ballots mailed last week to voting members of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

In order to gain a spot in the Hall, a candidate must receive two-thirds of the total votes cast. Eligibility is limited to players, active during the years 1948 to 1962 inclusive, who played in no less than 10 seasons.

Missed By Seven

Medwick and former New York Yankees pitching ace Charles "Red" Ruffing each fell seven votes short of induction in last year's special election—held because some ineligible players had received votes in the previous year's regular balloting.

Ruffing, who retired in 1947, then won a runoff election and was formally inducted in the Hall last July 24.

Medwick, 56, has campaigned actively in recent years for a Hall of Fame spot. The one-time Cardinal outfield flash compiled a .324 lifetime batting average, with 205 home runs and 1,383 runs batted in during his 17-year National League career with St. Louis, Brooklyn, Boston and New York. He was the NL's Most Valuable Player in 1937.

Finished In 1948

JOE MEDWICK — 1963

First time eligibles on the 51-player list submitted for election by a BBWAA screening committee are former outfielders Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phillies and Orestes "Minnie" Minoso of the Chicago White Sox.

Roy Campanella, the great Dodger catcher who has been paralyzed from the waist down since a 1958 auto accident, was the No. 3 vote getter—behind Ruffing and Medwick—last year, followed by Ralph Kiner, Enos Slaughter and Al Lopez. All but Lopez are eligible this year.

Eligible List

The 1968 Hall of Fame eligibles, in alphabetical order:

Richie Ashburn, Ewell Blackwell, Lou Boudreau, Harry Brecheen, Roy Campanella, Phil Cavaretta, Mort Cooper, Walker Cooper, Frank Crosetti, Alvin Dark, Dom DiMaggio, Bobby Doerr, Carl Erskine, Carl Furillo, Augie Galan, Joe Gordon, Tommy Henrich, Jackie Jensen, George Kell, Charley Keller.

Ralph Kiner, Ted Klusewski, Bob Lemon, Dutch Leonard, Ed Lopat, Sal Maglie, Marty Marion, Frank McCormick, Gil McDougald, Joe Medwick, Minnie Minoso, John Mize, Terry Moore, Wally Moses, Don Newcombe, Hal Newhouser.

Arnie and Pott In Birdie String

"I can't waste any more birdies," he remarked.

This first Kaiser Open is the first official PGA tournament of the year and the first at Silverado. It drew most of 1967s top money winners. However, the No. 1 banker among the pros, Jack Nicklaus, flew to Acapulco to fish. The Crosby is not an official event because amateurs play throughout the tournament.

Coleman Frosh Nip Barrytown

Coleman school freshman traveled to Barrytown to chalk up a win over St. Joseph's, 55-46 last night.

The home team made it close until the last period, trailing by narrow margins of two points at the half and three at the end of the third quarter. Coleman's offense caught fire in the last period as the defense stiffened, and they outscored St. Joseph's 16-10 to ice the win.

Ed Post led the winners with 25 points. Al Machione tallied 17 for Barrytown.

The score:

Liberty Second In DUSO Loop

Liberty High extended its winning streak to six games last night, edging Middletown High, 64-63, at Middletown. The Redskins moved into second place in the DUSO standings with a 3-1 record and meet Kingston (3-0), the league leaders at home Friday.

Liberty overcame a nine point third quarter deficit to go ahead 59-58 in the fourth. Monticello led 63-60 with a minute to go. Liberty's Paul Hughes connected a three point play to tie it 63-63, then Jim Dinnerstein put the Indians in front 64-63. Steve Osterhoudt of Middletown failed on a last second long shot and the game ended 64-63.

Osterhoudt and Ken Cogswell tallied 17 each for Liberty. Paul Hughes of Middletown hit for 26 points.

In other DUSO action, Monticello held on to a six point lead in the fourth quarter, and just managed to edge Port Jervis, 66-65, as Port outscored them 15-10 in the final period. Willie Bradley of Monticello led the night's scoring with 24 markers, and Joe Wilson of Port Collected 18 points.

	W	L
Kingston	3	0
Newburgh	2	1
Monticello	2	2
Middletown	1	2
Port Jervis	0	3

Coleman Five Wins At Rhinebeck, 79-56

Well drilled Coleman High Jayvees extended their win streak to four last night, as they ran rings around home standing Rhinebeck, 79-56.

Rhinebeck kept it tight in the first quarter, as the lead seesawed back and forth, but Coleman came out on top by one 17-16 at the horn.

Rhinebeck then discovered they couldn't handle Coleman's tough press defense and fast break offense. The home side lost the ball on steals 28 times, with Bob Bouchard leading the theft department with seven. Coleman tallied for 28 points, holding Rhinebeck to nine.

Reserves went in at the beginning of the fourth quarter and maintained the fast pace.

Bouchard and Chris Seche were outstanding defensively for Coleman, along with Hank and Pat Harder.

Bob Closs was Rhinebeck's only bright spot, as he reined 19 points into the nets for the best game of his career.

Coleman is now 5-2, and will travel to New Rochelle January 28 to play Blessed Sacrament.

Rod 'n Gun Report

by "Old Rip"

Winter is the difficult season for our wildlife. Snow and ice cover much of the food that would otherwise be available. The wind and cold increase the requirement for protective shelter for warmth and good food for energy. Deep snow makes travel harder.

Each form of wildlife has its own way of meeting these hardships. Some move to special types of cover; some have special adaptations, like the snowshoes of the varying hare and grouse; some store food near their bedroom, like the squirrel or beaver. The more mobile species fly south where conditions are less harsh.

The "seven sleepers," however, take the easy way out. They curl up and sleep the winter out. This elite group is made up of an odd assortment—bats, bears, chipmunks, coons, jumping mice, skunks, and woodchucks. Their ability to sleep away the winter varies considerably too.

The jumping mouse, woodchuck, and some of the bats are true hibernators, while the other four are just really heavy sleepers. Some bats migrate instead of hibernate, while some appear to make short migrations to good caves for hibernating.

THE TRUE HIBERNATORS have a marked reduction in their body temperature, rate of breathing, and heart rate, while there is relatively little change from normal in the case of the deep sleepers.

The woodchuck has a normal temperature of 96 degrees, but while hibernating it will drop to about 42 degrees. It normally breathes at a rate of about 260 times an hour, but only 14 times an hour while hibernating. The bats and jumping mice have similar changes.

The woodchuck dens up well below the frost level, so his 40-degree body temperature is just about that of the ground around him. Bats hibernating in caves also have body temperatures about the same as the surrounding air, and those in "warm" caves with a temperature of about 50 degrees can be aroused more quickly than those in caves of 40 degrees.

NATURE BUILT IN a safety mechanism which acts to arouse a hibernator if its body temperature drops almost to the freezing temperature, for body temperature of 32 degrees would be fatal.

Except for the chipmunk, all the "seven sleepers" are noted for the layer of lard they put on before retiring. This is the fuel which carries them through the winter. A chuck may den up at eight pounds and emerge in the spring a mere wisp of himself at four pounds.

The chipmunk simply stores food to carry him through the winter. When the hunger pangs arouse him, he rolls over in bed and reaches out from under the covers for a tasty acorn.

The skunk, coon, or bear may venture forth during any warm spell. In late February, the tracks of the male skunks are very common as they shuffle around in the snow looking for their lady friends.

It is during the sleep period of the winter that the bears give birth to their young. This maternity ward can be a cave in a rockslide, a hollow log, or just a snug shelter under the low-hanging branches of a dense spruce. It is little wonder that a female bear doesn't show her face all winter—the cubs she produces weigh only six to eight ounces. A newborn porcupine is fully as big!

SHORT SHOTS: Braving the wintry blasts, Otto Weaver, Charlie Jansen and Ed Secor of the Marbletown Sportsmen's Club made a recent safari to Schoharie county for their hunting. Weaver bagged a 25-pound male bobcat while Secor and Jansen settled for a white rabbit and a few cottontails.

Real early for fish tales but just couldn't let this one get away. While fishing at a Sullivan county hideaway, Charlie Cole was really shook when he saw his spanking new perch jig disappear through his tip-up hole.

A short time later and exactly 340 paces away, his buddy Vern Radel got a flag and came in with an 18-inch pickerel. You guessed it—the fish had Charlie's jig firmly hooked in his mouth. All ended well. Vern had a nice fish and Charlie his gear safe and sound and brother, Ed Radel, a fine story for his "premium" 3-ring beer customers.

OLD RIP SEZ: Think you have trouble? How about the hunter who left for a long weekend hunt and forgot his gun. We wonder if he had a "party permit" for two-legged does?

Medwick Makes Last Run for Hall of Fame

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe (Ducky) Medwick, the gifted slugger in St. Louis' legendary old Gashouse Gang, has begun his final run for a niche in baseball's Hall of Fame.

Medwick and four other last time eligibles—Frank Crosetti, Frank McCormick, Terry Moore and Arky Vaughan—are among 51 Hall of Fame candidates on the 1968 ballots mailed last week to voting members of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

In order to gain a spot in the Hall, a candidate must receive two-thirds of the total votes cast. Eligibility is limited to players, active during the years 1948 to 1962 inclusive, who played in no less than 10 seasons.

Missed By Seven

Medwick and former New York Yankees pitching ace Charles "Red" Ruffing each fell seven votes short of induction in last year's special election—held because some ineligible players had received votes in the previous year's regular balloting.

Ruffing, who retired in 1947, then won a runoff election and was formally inducted in the Hall last July 24.

Medwick, 56, has campaigned actively in recent years for a Hall of Fame spot. The one-time Cardinal outfield flash compiled a .324 lifetime batting average, with 205 home runs and 1,383 runs batted in during his 17-year National League career with St. Louis, Brooklyn, Boston and New York. He was the NL's Most Valuable Player in 1937.

Finished In 1948

JOE MEDWICK — 1963

First time eligibles on the 51-player list submitted for election by a BBWAA screening committee are former outfielders Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phillies and Orestes "Minnie" Minoso of the Chicago White Sox.

Roy Campanella, the great Dodger catcher who has been paralyzed from the waist down since a 1958 auto accident, was the No. 3 vote getter—behind Ruffing and Medwick—last year, followed by Ralph Kiner, Enos Slaughter and Al Lopez. All but Lopez are eligible this year.

Eligible List

The 1968 Hall of Fame eligibles, in alphabetical order:

Richie Ashburn, Ewell Blackwell, Lou Boudreau, Harry Brecheen, Roy Campanella, Phil Cavaretta, Mort Cooper, Walker Cooper, Frank Crosetti, Alvin Dark, Dom DiMaggio, Bobby Doerr, Carl Erskine, Carl Furillo, Augie Galan, Joe Gordon, Tommy Henrich, Jackie Jensen, George Kell, Charley Keller.

Ralph Kiner, Ted Klusewski, Bob Lemon, Dutch Leonard, Ed Lopat, Sal Maglie, Marty Marion, Frank McCormick, Gil McDougald, Joe Medwick, Minnie Minoso, John Mize, Terry Moore, Wally Moses, Don Newcombe, Hal Newhouser.

Arnie and Pott In Birdie String

"I can't waste any more birdies," he remarked.

This first Kaiser Open is the first official PGA tournament of the year and the first at Silverado. It drew most of 1967s top money winners. However, the No. 1 banker among the pros, Jack Nicklaus, flew to Acapulco to fish. The Crosby is not an official event because amateurs play throughout the tournament.

Coleman Frosh Nip Barrytown

The home team made it close until the last period, trailing by narrow margins of two points at the half and three at the end of the third quarter. Coleman's offense caught fire in the last period as the defense stiffened, and they outscored St. Joseph's 16-10 to ice the win.

Ed Post led the winners with 25 points. Al Machione tallied 17 for Barrytown.

Liberty Second In DUSO Loop

Liberty High extended its winning streak to six games last night, edging Middletown High, 64-63, at Middletown. The Redskins moved into second place in the DUSO standings with a 3-1 record and meet Kingston (3-0), the league leaders at home Friday.

Liberty overcame a nine point third quarter deficit to go ahead 59-58 in the fourth. Monticello led 63-60 with a minute to go. Liberty's Paul Hughes connected a three point play to tie it 63-63, then Jim Dinnerstein put the Indians in front 64-63. Steve Osterhoudt of Middletown failed on a last second long shot and the game ended 64-63.

Osterhoudt and Ken Cogswell tallied 17 each for Liberty. Paul Hughes of Middletown hit for 26 points.

In other DUSO action, Monticello held on to a six point lead in the fourth quarter, and just managed to edge Port Jervis, 66-65, as Port outscored them 15-10 in the final period. Willie Bradley of Monticello led the night's scoring with 24 markers, and Joe Wilson of Port Collected 18 points.

Duso standings:

Monticello	2	2

Coleman Five Wins At Rhinebeck, 79-56

Well drilled Coleman High Jayvees extended their win streak to four last night, as they ran rings around home standing Rhinebeck, 79-56.

Rhinebeck kept it tight in the first quarter, as the lead seesawed back and forth, but Coleman came out on top by one 17-16 at the horn.

Rhinebeck then discovered they couldn't handle Coleman's tough press defense and fast break offense. The home side lost the ball on steals 28 times, with Bob Bouchard leading the theft department with seven. Coleman tallied for 28 points, holding Rhinebeck to nine.

Rhinebesk's second half press continually left a man open, Bill Dunbar. Dunbar scored 12 points to lead the totals with 18 markers. Hank Harder had 15 and Pat Harder 14.

Reserves went in at the beginning of the fourth quarter and maintained the fast pace.

Bouchard and Chris Seche were outstanding defensively for Coleman, along with Hank and Pat Harder.

Bob Closs was Rhinebeck's only bright spot, as he reined 19 points into the nets for the best game of his career.

Coleman is now 5-2, and will travel to New Rochelle January 28 to play Blessed Sacrament.

UCCC Is Second Ranked in Nation

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

That old Avis line has been beaten to death but it's still applicable in certain situations.

For example, take Ulster County Community College's high flying basketball Senators, who are 15-1 for the season.

They've just gotten word from the National Junior College Service Bureau in Dodge City, Kansas, that they are now the No. 2 junior college team on offense in the country today. So, naturally, they're going to have to try harder to Make No. 1.

Metropolitan JC of Minneapolis ranks third with 116.2, followed by Indian River (Fort Pierce, Fla.), 113.7 and Broward County (Fort Lauderdale, Fla.), 107.1 to round out the top five.

Best team defense is credited to Robert Morris College of Carthage, Ill., which has yielded only 58.3 points per game while compiling a 12-0 record.

San Jacinto College of Pasadena, Texas (14-1), was rated the nation's No. 1 junior college quintet in the Jan. 11 poll of the NJCAA. Mercer, N. J., of Trenton, N. J. (7-0), is ranked 11th and the only other Eastern squad in the first 20 is Broome Tech of Binghamton with a 10-4 record.

Uhl Seventh Scorer

Ron Riordan of Becker College, Worcester, Mass., leads the individual scoring with a phenomenal 44.6 point per game average in 10 games. Runnerup is Gregory Hill of Owen JC, Memphis, Tenn., with 33.0. Jim Brooks, Tyler, Texas, has 32.9; and Ollie Taylor, San Jacinto, 32.3.

Coach Pleased

"I'm pleased to see that the team and Joe Uhl have received this national recognition," said Perry. "It should be a strong incentive for the remainder of our schedule."

What Perry didn't say but what he is acutely aware of is the fact that Uhl could easily be 1-2-3 if he went all the way in every UCCC game. Four times he has soared over the 40-point mark while sitting nine or ten minutes.

Ulster seeks its 16th win of the season Saturday night when it hosts Adirondack Community College of Glens Falls at 8 p. m. at the municipal auditorium.

St. Joseph's Mets Blast Juniors

All five starters hit double figures for St. Joseph's as the Mets bombed their way to an 80-25 victory over St. Joseph's Juniors in CYO high school league action last night.

Wesley Thompson led the parade with 30 markers. Tony Argulewicz seconded the motion with 20, while Bob Walker, Ralph Veytia and Frank Rahm all hit for 10 points.

Dartmouth at Point

Army Quintet Seeks Fifth Straight Win

WEST POINT—Army, which has already played Princeton, Cornell and Yale, meets still another member of the Ivy League this Saturday in the field house.

The game, set to start at 8 p. m., will be preceded by a clash between the Army Plebes and Albany Junior College.

There's one important difference between Dartmouth and the likes of Princeton, Cornell or Yale—the team records. Princeton, which barely managed to eke out a 62-59 victory over the Cadets, at present has won 11 of 14 games, while Cornell and Yale, both of whom were defeated by the Cadets, boast respective 8-2 and 9-4 marks. Dartmouth, on the other hand, walked off with its first victory just last Saturday, and is now 1-9 on the year.

This has been tabbed "a rebuilding year" at Dartmouth, as the won-lost percentage might indicate. Coach Dave Gavitt lost seven lettermen through graduation, and has put much of his stock on a group of sophomores who compiled a fine 19-2 record a year ago as freshmen. Through the first eight games four sophomores were in the starting lineup, with guard Henry Tyson setting the scoring pace with a 14-point average.

Psychologically speaking, Dartmouth may have two factors on its side. One, the Cadets are in the midst of semester examinations and could be mentally tired by the time Saturday night rolls around. Secondly, Army has been forced to go all out in winning its last four games against better-than-average competition, and could have trouble getting "up" for a club with a 1-9 record. Guarding against such factors as these will undoubtedly keep Army coach Bob Knight quite busy all week.

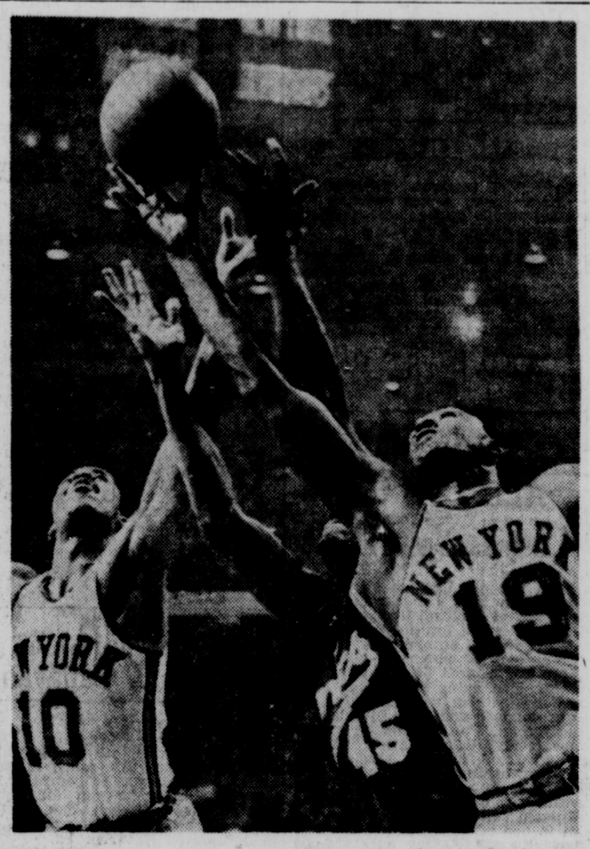
The Dartmouth "advantages" end right there, however. The Cadets are presently on a four-game tear, their longest of the season, and again boast one of the nation's top defensive teams. Latest NCAA statistics rank Army fifth in team defense with a stingy 59.4 yield per game.

Coach Knight's cagers hiked their season's record to 10-3 last Saturday with a 67-65 triumph over Fordham, thanks to some clutch defensive work and above-average scoring performance by captain Bill Schutsky, Steve Hunt and Mike Noonan. Combined with recent wins over Yale, Georgetown and Temple, the Cadets have won four straight by a total spread of just 10 points.

Army, or at least Schutsky, Hunt and Noonan, enjoyed one of its better shooting nights against Fordham, hitting on 63 per cent of its shots from the floor. Schutsky topped all scorers with 23 points as he connected on nine of 14, while Hunt countered with 19 on eight of 12 and Noonan hit for 15 on five of seven attempts. Together, the trio accounted for all but 10 of the points.

Coach Knight was especially pleased to see Noonan hitting from the floor again. During one four-game stretch over the holidays, the senior from Elgin, Ill., was true to the mark on only nine of 35 shots as his point average dipped considerably. In the past two outings, however, Noonan has hit on nine of 18 from the floor, tallied a total of 27 points and hiked his average to almost 11 points a game. Additionally, he continues to lead the Cadets in rebounding with a total of 103, ten better than Hunt.

Two "problem areas" still concern Coach Knight — more scoring from the guards and accuracy on the foul line. Mike Krzyzewski, Jim Oxley and Wade Urban, who have seen most of the duty in the backcourt, together have contributed a total of just 14 points a ball game. This, in effect, has put most of the scoring burden on the three men up front.



REACHING — NBA rebounding action is caught in an unusual photograph as Bob Rule (45) of Seattle goes up for the ball, flanked by Knicks' Walt Frazier (10) and Willis Reed (19) during 2nd quarter of game in Boston. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

St. Mary's Teams Pace CYO Loops

Basketball teams from St. Mary's parish of Kingston lead four of five CYO basketball league divisions with unblemished records, while St. Catherine Laboure is the front running high school league team.

St. Mary's and Immaculate Conception are tied with 4-0 records in the Peewee division. St. Mary's posts first place rankings in both Tyro and Jayvee competition with 4-0 marks. St. Mary's varsity is the front runner with a 3-0 record.

Intermediate and Junior teams playing a combined slate in the High School division are led by St. Catherine Laboure at 5-0. The slate is combined to give the boys as many games as possible. St. Augustine's of Highland, a new entrant in the league, will play make up games to bring their record up to the other teams.

Assist Nordic Club In Preparing Jump

With all phases of ski competition in high gear and Winter Olympic Fever tuning up to a high pitch, interclub cooperation was evident last night at Joppenbergh Mountain in Rosendale when about 20 members of the Trailsweepers Ski Club of Kingston and the Rip Van Winkle Ski Council showed up to help the Rosendale Nordic Ski Club get its tournament hill in shape for the big ski jumps scheduled for the weekend after next.

The first major events of the 1968 season this weekend include the annual Rosendale Trophy jump Sunday at 1 p. m. and the New York State Combined on Saturday and Sunday.

Cross Country Saturday

The cross country phase of the state combined starts Saturday at 10 a. m. at Williams Lake, with the jumping half at Mt. Joppenbergh at 1 p. m. Sunday.

Answering a plea from Bill Curran, the Rosendale tournament chief, Dot Birmingham, Trailsweepers President, rallied forces with Don DeKoskie, President of the Rip Van Winkle Ski Council and about 20 Alpine skiers showed up to pack the hill for the benefit of the Nordic event.

While Ken Tokle and Floyd Swehla of the home club were busy putting the inrun above the takeoff in shape, Art Boice led the Trailsweepers in packing the landing hill.

Big Names Expected

Big name entries for the Saturday and Sunday tournaments have not yet been received and none are expected until the final Olympic trials are concluded at Iron Mountain, Mich., this coming weekend. Those selected for the Olympics will proceed directly to Europe for further training. Those who don't make it are expected to come to Rosendale to give fans some idea of the calibre of competition that went Grenoble.

This Saturday morning, work on the big job of grooming the 70-meter hill will continue and more volunteers are needed.

Tart, Hawkins First at 1,000

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — With the American Basketball Association season just past the halfway mark, Levern Tart of Oakland and Connie Hawkins of Pittsburgh have become the new league's first 1,000-point scorers.

Tart, a former Bradley star, continues to pace the BA scoring parade with a 27-point average—on 1,079 points—in 40 games, according to weekly figures released today by the league office.

Hawkins, the Pipers' 6-foot-9 ace, has poured in 1,005 points and is No. 3 in the top ten with a 23.9 points-per-game mark. Doug Moe of New Orleans, 12 points shy of the 1,000 mark, is runner-up to Tart with a 24.1 per-game output.

The scoring leaders are determined by per-game average rather than total points.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

That old Avis line has been beaten to death but it's still applicable in certain situations.

For example, take Ulster County Community College's high flying basketball Senators, who are 15-1 for the season.

They've just gotten word from the National Junior College Service Bureau in Dodge City, Kansas, that they are now the No. 2 junior college team on offense in the country today. So, naturally, they're going to have to try harder to Make No. 1.

Metropolitan JC of Minneapolis ranks third with 116.2, followed by Indian River (Fort Pierce, Fla.), 113.7 and Broward County (Fort Lauderdale, Fla.), 107.1 to round out the top five.

Best team defense is credited to Robert Morris College of Carthage, Ill., which has yielded only 58.3 points per game while compiling a 12-0 record.

San Jacinto College of Pasadena, Texas (14-1), was rated the nation's No. 1 junior college quintet in the Jan. 11 poll of the NJCAA. Mercer, N. J., of Trenton, N. J. (7-0), is ranked 11th and the only other Eastern squad in the first 20 is Broome Tech of Binghamton with a 10-4 record.

Uhl Seventh Scorer

Jumpin' Joe Uhl, Ulster's high scoring ace, ranks seventh among the nation's junior college sharpshooters with his 31.9 mark through the first 12 games.

Ron Riordan of Becker College, Worcester, Mass., leads the individual scoring with a phenomenal 44.6 point per game average in 10 games. Runnerup is Gregory Hill of Owen JC, Memphis, Tenn., with 33.0. Jim Brooks, Tyler, Texas, has 32.9; and Ollie Taylor, San Jacinto, 32.3.

Coach Pleased

Coach Mike Perry of Ulster was elated with Ulster's position on the most recent NJCAA stats sheet.

"I'm pleased to see that the team and Joe Uhl have received this national recognition," said Perry. "It should be a strong incentive for the remainder of our schedule."

What Perry didn't say but what he is acutely aware of is the fact that Uhl could easily be 1-2-3 if he went all the way in every UCCC game. Four times he has soared over the 40-point mark while sitting nine or ten minutes.

Ulster seeks its 16th win of the season Saturday night when it hosts Adirondack Community College of Glens Falls at 8 p. m. at the municipal auditorium.

Army Quintet Seeks Fifth Straight Win

WEST POINT—Army, which has already played Princeton, Cornell and Yale, meets still another member of the Ivy League this Saturday in the field house.

The game, set to start at 8 p. m., will be preceded by a clash between the Army Plebes and Albany Junior College.

There's one important difference between Dartmouth and the likes of Princeton, Cornell or Yale—the team records. Princeton, which barely managed to eke out a 62-59 victory over the Cadets, at present has won 11 of 14 games, while Cornell and Yale, both of whom were defeated by the Cadets, boast respective 8-2 and 9-4 marks. Romney Visits Living Rooms

SALEM, N.H. (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney is turning up in living rooms all over New Hampshire.

The household vists are a major feature of a primary campaign that Romney contends will win him the first major test of the race for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

"I have a feeling that we're really going to score a real upset here," the Michigan governor said as he moved into the final day of his first campaign swing, seeking to overtake former Vice President Richard M. Nixon in New Hampshire.

"I am greatly encouraged," Romney said as he headed for 10 more New Hampshire homes.

Hearthside campaigning is a technique imported from Michigan. The plan is to have his supporters in communities across the state proclaim their homes neighborhood campaign headquarters.

"This does bring a campaign closer to everybody," he explained at a Nashua home Tuesday night. "When you've got a home headquarters you've got a staff 24 hours a day."

Romney hopes to open 500 such outposts before the March 12 primary. He is to visit about 150 of them himself. His wife, Lenore, is covering a different route, dropping in at homes, too.

At each stop the format is the same. Five college girls, clad in paper dresses emblazoned with Romney's name, sing campaign songs, numbers like "Romney Makes the World Go Round."

The guests—there have been as few as a dozen, as many as one hundred—drink coffee, munch doughnuts. Romney managers find the hosts generally reluctant to serve liquor because the candidate does not drink.

Romney arrives, shakes hands, then gives his standard New Hampshire speech. He calls for neutralization of South Vietnam, economy in government, attacks concentrations of economic power in labor and big industries, and warns that crime menaces the nation and "civil guerrilla warfare" threatens the cities.

Then he asks for questions, which generally stress Vietnam, the economy, and his own presidential prospects.

It all takes about 30 minutes. At the end, Romney has a gift for the host and hostess, medallions carrying the Michigan state seal on one side and his signature on the other.

Milk Prices

New York, Jan. 15—A uniform farm price of $5.25 per hundredweight (46.5 quarts) will be paid dairy farmers for December deliveries to pool handlers in the New York-New Jersey milkshed, it was announced today. The November price was $5.53; $5.22 was paid in December, 1966.

The producer butterfat differential will be computed at 5.8 cents for each tenth of a pound of fat above or below the 3.5 per cent standard.

Dr. A. J. Pollard, market administrator, reported that pool receipts from producers totaled 801,790,624 pounds, 83,606,364 pounds, or 9.4 per cent, under December, 1966. Sales of Glass I (fluid) milk, he said, were down 28,322,875 pounds, or 6.0 per cent, to 441,006,915 pounds.

NOTICE OF SALE

IN PURSUANCE and by virtue of a Judgment or Decree in Foreclosure, duly granted in the above entitled action on the 5th day of January, 1968, I, WARD W. INGALSBE JR., the undersigned Referee, in said Judgent named, will sell at public auction in the lobby of the Ulster County Court House, 285 Wall Street, Kingston, New York, on the 9th day of February, 1968, at 12 o'clock Noon of that day, as one parcel and property, the premises described in said Judgment, as follows:

ALL THAT TRACT OR PARCEL OF LAND situate in the Town of Hurley, County of Ulster, and State of New York, and bounded and described as follows:

BEGINNING at the southeast corner of the said parcel, being the southwest corner of a parcel of land conveyed in October, 1913, by the parties of the first part to Michael J. and Arletta Joyce, and runs thence along the westerly bounds of said Joyce lot North 10 degrees 49 minutes East 150 feet, thence North 79 degrees 11 minutes West 50 feet, thence South 10 degrees 49 minutes West 150 feet to the bounds of lands of the City of New York, and thence along said City's bounds South 79 degrees 11 minutes East 50 feet to the place of beginning. Containing seventeen one hundredths (17/100) of an acre more or less. All bearings refer to the true North.

It is further understood and agreed that the parties of the second part accept this conveyance with the understanding that a part of the consideration of this conveyance is that the parties of the second part, their heirs or assigns, shall at no time, sell or permit the sale of malt or spirituous liquors on these premises.

BEING the same premises described in a deed executed by Donald B. Martin and Edna Mae Martin, his wife, to Daniel Coleman and Joan Coleman, his wife, by deed dated Feb. 24, 1961, recorded in Ulster County Clerk's Office on February 28, 1961 in Liber 1104 of Deeds at page 242.

She also adds that she is so busy getting engaged she has no time for marriage. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Romney Visits Living Rooms

SALEM, N.H. (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney is turning up in living rooms all over New Hampshire.

The household vists are a major feature of a primary campaign that Romney contends will win him the first major test of the race for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

"I have a feeling that we're really going to score a real upset here," the Michigan governor said as he moved into the final day of his first campaign swing, seeking to overtake former Vice President Richard M. Nixon in New Hampshire.

"I am greatly encouraged," Romney said as he headed for 10 more New Hampshire homes.

Hearthside campaigning is a technique imported from Michigan. The plan is to have his supporters in communities across the state proclaim their homes neighborhood campaign headquarters.

"This does bring a campaign closer to everybody," he explained at a Nashua home Tuesday night. "When you've got a home headquarters you've got a staff 24 hours a day."

Romney hopes to open 500 such outposts before the March 12 primary. He is to visit about 150 of them himself. His wife, Lenore, is covering a different route, dropping in at homes, too.

At each stop the format is the same. Five college girls, clad in paper dresses emblazoned with Romney's name, sing campaign songs, numbers like "Romney Makes the World Go Round."

The guests—there have been as few as a dozen, as many as one hundred—drink coffee, munch doughnuts. Romney managers find the hosts generally reluctant to serve liquor because the candidate does not drink.

Romney arrives, shakes hands, then gives his standard New Hampshire speech. He calls for neutralization of South Vietnam, economy in government, attacks concentrations of economic power in labor and big industries, and warns that crime menaces the nation and "civil guerrilla warfare" threatens the cities.

Then he asks for questions, which generally stress Vietnam, the economy, and his own presidential prospects.

It all takes about 30 minutes. At the end, Romney has a gift for the host and hostess, medallions carrying the Michigan state seal on one side and his signature on the other.

Milk Prices

New York, Jan. 15—A uniform farm price of $5.25 per hundredweight (46.5 quarts) will be paid dairy farmers for December deliveries to pool handlers in the New York-New Jersey milkshed, it was announced today. The November price was $5.53; $5.22 was paid in December, 1966.

The producer butterfat differential will be computed at 5.8 cents for each tenth of a pound of fat above or below the 3.5 per cent standard.

Dr. A. J. Pollard, market administrator, reported that pool receipts from producers totaled 801,790,624 pounds, 83,606,364 pounds, or 9.4 per cent, under December, 1966. Sales of Glass I (fluid) milk, he said, were down 28,322,875 pounds, or 6.0 per cent, to 441,006,915 pounds.

NOTICE OF SALE

IN PURSUANCE and by virtue of a Judgment or Decree in Foreclosure, duly granted in the above entitled action on the 5th day of January, 1968, I, WARD W. INGALSBE JR., the undersigned Referee, in said Judgent named, will sell at public auction in the lobby of the Ulster County Court House, 285 Wall Street, Kingston, New York, on the 9th day of February, 1968, at 12 o'clock Noon of that day, as one parcel and property, the premises described in said Judgment, as follows:

ALL THAT TRACT OR PARCEL OF LAND situate in the Town of Hurley, County of Ulster, and State of New York, and bounded and described as follows:

BEGINNING at the southeast corner of the said parcel, being the southwest corner of a parcel of land conveyed in October, 1913, by the parties of the first part to Michael J. and Arletta Joyce, and runs thence along the westerly bounds of said Joyce lot North 10 degrees 49 minutes East 150 feet, thence North 79 degrees 11 minutes West 50 feet, thence South 10 degrees 49 minutes West 150 feet to the bounds of lands of the City of New York, and thence along said City's bounds South 79 degrees 11 minutes East 50 feet to the place of beginning. Containing seventeen one hundredths (17/100) of an acre more or less. All bearings refer to the true North.

It is further understood and agreed that the parties of the second part accept this conveyance with the understanding that a part of the consideration of this conveyance is that the parties of the second part, their heirs or assigns, shall at no time, sell or permit the sale of malt or spirituous liquors on these premises.

Dear Abby

Tattletaling a Good Thing?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

© 1968 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: None of us can hit a home run every time we go to bat. While I agree with you most of the time, I think you should reconsider your advice to the boy whose friends were stealing bikes. "I do not agree with friends informing on one another," you wrote, "but a real 'friend' would do all in his power to set his companions straight."

If we follow your thinking it is only a short step to keeping quiet while a fellow citizen is slowly murdered in a courtyard in sight of dozens of people. They didn't want to "inform" or "get involved" either.

In our present world we are too willing to condone wrongdoing and to expect someone else to punish wrongdoers. Personally, if my child were involved in stealing of any nature I would certainly appreciate someone having the courage to tell me.

JRM, MEMPHIS

DEAR JRM: Youve made a good point. In the case of the bike thieves. I had in mind some effort to stop this criminal conduct, or to try, before giving the erring kids a police record. After that, the parents should certainly be tipped off. But among youngsters, the peristent "tattletale" on childish pranks becomes a social outcast early in life

DEAR ABBY: Some friends of ours with a little girl not yet five years old have been allowing an unmarried couple to spend week-ends together in their home (This unmarried couple couldn't be any closer if they were married. I'm sure you get the picture.)

The mother says the child is too young to know the difference. I personally think the child is old enough to know that something about the arrangement is wrong. I would like your opinion.

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: It's the same as yours.

DEAR ABBY: On a recent visit to the home of my husband's sister (we live in different towns) she turned to my nine-year-old daughter and said, "I want you to know that you ruined our Christmas this year because you told Cindy (their eight-year-old) there wasn't any Santa Claus."

Our daughter had no answer other than, "Cindy asked me if I believed in Santa Claus and I said, 'No, not since I was in first grade.'"

My sister-in-law pursued the subject with a vengeance saying it was a terrible thing for my daughter to have done, etc.

We have always had a good relationship with this family, and now I feel a definite rift, altho I said nothing and didn't enter into it.

I have never encountered a problem such as this. Just how long should a child be encouraged to go along with the Santa Claus bit? Isn't eight a little too old? How great a sin did my child commit? I would appreciate your opinion.

INJURED FEELINGS

DEAR INJURED: Shame on your sister-in-law. Your child committed no "crime." Her younger cousin must have suspected that there was no Santa Claus, otherwise why would she have asked? To deliberately destroy a child's beliefs in fairy tales and Santa Claus is unkind, but when a child suspects that something is only "make believe," it's time to draw the curtain and let in the light of truth. Your sister-in-law needs to grow up.

It's In The Stars —

Forecast for Thursday, January 18, 1968

ARIES (Mar. 21 - Apr. 19): There is apt to be a stir at work. Past commitments, promises are revised. Changes are due. Don't act on impulse. Stick with voice of experience. That's right choice.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 - May 20): Some friends appear pugnacious. Stick to beliefs. Those who mean most to you will remain loyal. As for the others—you may be better off without them. Message clear by tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20): Strength derived from home base. Intensified activity depicted in career angle—be a self-starter. Know that you will get backing from loved ones. Stress independence and inventiveness.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22): Accent today on immediate problems rather than long-range projects. Get caught up on calls, messages, correspondence. A short journey may prove profitable.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Good time to study assets. You can turn talents to profit. Key is versatility. Don't hang on to method. Show that you are flexible, that you understand changing times.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22): You may not receive cooperation expected. Know this—and depend upon your own abilities. Take initiative. Follow through where contracts, partnerships enter picture.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22): Some may insist that you take side in quarrel, issue. Refrain from this unless facts are on the table. Don't take implications resulting from gossip, rumors lightly.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21): Be patient and thorough where hopes, wishes are concerned. Be receptive. If you force issues, you could lose out. Calm, confident attitude likely to win the day.

SAGITTARIUS (Dec. 22-Dec. 21): Although circumstances may appear favorable, take nothing for granted. Be perceptive. Read between the lines. Find out why. Study motives.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19): Your awareness of responsibility is highlighted. Today you can prove maturity, capability. Not necessary to travel far. Answers you seek can be obtained by studying essentials.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Questions about expenditures likely to arise. Involves mate, partner. Day when something goes out of your life. You replace loss. Don't panic. Let the past go. Look to future.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Allies tend to take initiative. They also expect you to speak up, act. Nothing halfway today. All the way or nothing. Some people try to annoy you. Maintain poise, dignity.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are attracted to medicine—you help people during times of crisis. During upcoming year you will have to have faith in your own abilities. You are put through numerous tests. Next month you could complete important project.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for VIRGO, LIBRA. Special word to PISCES: take care in traffic. Permit logic to rule impulse.

What would you do as East after your partner opened the king of clubs? If your partner's lead meant that his suit was headed by either ace-king or king-queen, you would undoubtedly discard a high diamond. After all, you would look mighty silly if you trump your partner's trick, and you would be entitled to assume that his suit was headed by ace-king.

If East doesn't trump the king of clubs, South wins the trick with his ace, draws trumps and winds up losing one trick each in clubs, spades and diamonds.

If East and West lead ace from ace-king and king from king-queen, East knows enough to trump that first club. If he proceeds to lead ace and another diamond, the defense will wind up with four trump tricks and two aces. If he leads back a spade, the defense won't do as well but at least they will set the declarer.

South will complain about bad luck. East and West will congratulate each other on the fact that they have decided to lead ace from ace-king.

We don't claim complete success for this improved defensive convention. It isn't so outstanding and so important that you are going to gain every time you get the chance to use it. It also has the disadvantage that the ambiguous king lead has been part and parcel of almost every bridge player's kit since the days of whist and that you are likely to forget and lead incorrectly for awhile or your partner may not recognize the meaning of your ace lead; but if you adopt this procedure and work with it for awhile, you won't get confused by it and you will wind up taking more tricks when you are defending.

South will complain about bad luck. East and West will congratulate each other on the fact that they have decided to lead ace from ace-king.

We don't claim complete success for this improved defensive convention. It isn't so outstanding and so important that you are going to gain every time you get the chance to use it. It also has the disadvantage that the ambiguous king lead has been part and parcel of almost every bridge player's kit since the days of whist and that you are likely to forget and lead incorrectly for awhile or your partner may not recognize the meaning of your ace lead; but if you adopt this procedure and work with it for awhile, you won't get confused by it and you will wind up taking more tricks when you are defending.

Last the Best on 'Smoking'

By CYNTHIA LOWRY ....
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS saved the best part until last in its Tuesday night "National Smoking Test." That was the portion that had the smoker answering questions about his "smoking profile"—and there was an expert on hand to clue him on the first steps in breaking the habit.

Dr. Daniel Horn of the U.S. Public Health Service said some groups of smokers—those who enjoy handling cigarettes, those who smoke for sheer pleasure or just habit—may either taper off or find satisfying substitutes. The psychologically addicted, he said, are the ones who have trouble and they must go the cold turkey route: just stop.

No Lecturing

The program did not lecture viewers on the problem but was loaded with material, presented in both question and answer form, which described smoking as a health hazard.

While NBC and CBS plan to provide gavel-to-gavel coverage, ABC will handle conventions with nightly programs of 90 minutes while the politicians are gathered.

The network decision will be greeted happily by many viewers who complained in the past that they had no choice of programs when all three networks were covering the events. Certainly there have been long hours when the conventions were pretty boring. If the ABC method of doing nightly highlights and analyses works out, it is not inconceivable that the other two networks would make some adjustments four years hence.

NBC and television columnists all over the country have been bombarded for the past several months with letters from "Star Trek" fans expressing alarm over a report that the science fiction series would be canceled.

The letter campaign comes at a time when network executives are planning next season's schedules. Within the next few days, a decision will be made whether to give "Star Trek" a third network season or drop it at the end of summer reruns.

Outlook Bright

The program actually has an excellent chance for survival. In the three-cornered network fight for audiences, it usually comes in second—and the tough competition is CBS's "Gomer Pyle" and feature movie.

NBC, too, is happy that the series has a special appeal to what the researchers call a "quality audience."

Networks make their program decisions with the help of information gathered by research outfits. And most sponsors who scatter their messages over programs, are concerned with the cost of reaching potential customers.

The cost of reaching 1,000 homes now averages $4.30 in prime evening time. NBC's Telephone Hour, for instance, has a cost per thousand of $13, since the smaller the audience, the higher the cost. "Star Trek" costs $4.70 per thousand, but as one research man observed, "The sponsors get that quality audience."

NBC, incidentally, has a number of programs in greater danger than "Star Trek."

Recommended tonight: President Johnson's State of the Union address, all networks, 9 p.m. to conclusion, followed on all networks with analyses and discussions.

No Lecturing

The program did not lecture viewers on the problem but was loaded with material, presented in both question and answer form, which described smoking as a health hazard.

ABC has removed itself from the usual three-network competition in covering next summer's presidential conventions.

While NBC and CBS plan to provide gavel-to-gavel coverage, ABC will handle conventions with nightly programs of 90 minutes while the politicians are gathered.

The network decision will be greeted happily by many viewers who complained in the past that they had no choice of programs when all three networks were covering the events. Certainly there have been long hours when the conventions were pretty boring. If the ABC method of doing nightly highlights and analyses works out, it is not inconceivable that the other two networks would make some adjustments four years hence.

NBC and television columnists all over the country have been bombarded for the past several months with letters from "Star Trek" fans expressing alarm over a report that the science fiction series would be canceled.

The letter campaign comes at a time when network executives are planning next season's schedules. Within the next few days, a decision will be made whether to give "Star Trek" a third network season or drop it at the end of summer reruns.

Outlook Bright

The program actually has an excellent chance for survival. In the three-cornered network fight for audiences, it usually comes in second—and the tough competition is CBS's "Gomer Pyle" and feature movie.

NBC, too, is happy that the series has a special appeal to what the researchers call a "quality audience."

Networks make their program decisions with the help of information gathered by research outfits. And most sponsors who scatter their messages over programs, are concerned with the cost of reaching potential customers.

The cost of reaching 1,000 homes now averages $4.30 in prime evening time. NBC's Telephone Hour, for instance, has a cost per thousand of $13, since the smaller the audience, the higher the cost. "Star Trek" costs $4.70 per thousand, but as one research man observed, "The sponsors get that quality audience."

NBC, incidentally, has a number of programs in greater danger than "Star Trek."

Recommended tonight: President Johnson's State of the Union address, all networks, 9 p.m. to conclusion, followed on all networks with analyses and discussions.

The football coach of a small college was trying to explain away his team's disastrous season to a local newspaper reporter:

Coach Brown—My biggest problem with this year's squad was that most of the boys were just too young and un-coordinated.

As the reporter remained silent the coach added desperately,

Coach—Why, as a matter of fact, one of my kids on the first string was so un-coordinated that he couldn't walk and chew gum at the same time!

Joint Session of Congress Awaits the Balancing Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson gives the nation tonight his formula for balancing the financial demands of the Vietnam war against the need to curb crime in the streets and to rehabilitate riot-breeding city slums.

The President is expected to reiterate in his nationally televised State of the Union message to a joint session of Congress that he is exploring every avenue that might lead to peace.

Still Examined

But advance indications were that North Vietnam's latest stated conditions for opening peace talks—a halt in U.S. bombing of the North and "other acts of aggression"—still was under exhaustive examination.

To an election-year Congress already breathing fire about any increase in spending, the President is expected to disclose that expenditures will be $11 billion higher—possibly a little more—for administrative purposes than in the current fiscal year ending June 30.

Republicans are prepared to respond at once to Johnson's proposals. GOP congressional leaders have slated a news conference for one-half hour after Johnson concludes his speech, and eight Republican governors will jointly discuss the message with newsmen Thursday morning.

A new "unified" budget, taking into account for the first time income and outgo from huge government trust funds, was said to be geared to a "significant drop" below the $18 billion or $19 billion deficit for this year.

Sources reported Tuesday the total spending program definitely will be below $190 billion for the fiscal year beginning July 1. Administrative spending—the basis most commonly used before the advent of the unified budget—was said to run between $145 billion and $150 billion, compared with the current fiscal year total of between $136 billion and $137 billion.

The expected deficit would include receipts from a proposed 10 per cent income surtax which Congress shelved last year and which key member s predicted won't be enacted this session unless there's an equalized reduction in spending.

Atmosphere Must Shift

With Vietnam war costs expected to rise another $4 billion, Johnson obviously is faced with a need to alter the capitol hill atmosphere if he hopes for acceptance of social welfare programs calling for expensive outlays.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield predicted a safe-streets bill will be high on the list of presidential recommendations.

Mansfield said that when the Senate can untagle itself from a prospective Southern filibuster against a pending civil-rights bill, a housing measure is likely to be the next order of business.

Administration sources predicted the President would support a bill aimed at providing funds for low-income families in urban slums to build their own homes, with the government subsidizing interest charges above three per cent. The issue of funding rent supplements and the antipoverty program will have to be fought out again.

There are reports Johnson will ask for some changes in a higher education bill, to provide aid for lower-middle-income families in financing their children's schooling.

Other Proposals Due

Proposals for child health care for new and expectant mothers may be presented.

The President also has indicated he thinks private industry should do more to make jobs available to slum residents. Tax incentives may be suggested in this field.

In the area of curbing crime, Rep. Richard H. Poff, R-Va., predicted Johnson will drop his opposition to court-controlled wiretapping except in national security cases. Poff heads a Republican task force on this issue.

A pending anticrime bill would authorize federal grants to train and equip local police, as Johnson proposed last year. But it goes beyond that to propose legalizing certain wiretapping operations, removing some restrictions on police questioning of witnesses and making voluntary confessions admissible as court evidence.

Johnson is expected to urge the passage of consumer protection legislation, such as the interest disclosure bill the House may take up later this month. He also probably will push for action on a natural gas pipeline safety measure and a safe bridges bill.

The international monetary situation, which has found the British devaluing the pound and instituting an austerity budget, will focus congressional interest on the President's suggestions for attacking the international exchange balance of payments problem.

Johnson may offer several alternatives for reducing tourism which takes dollars out of the country and increases the deficit. Congress appears cool to proposed head tax on tourists going abroad but might find a selective excise tax on travel tickets more to its liking.

COMMANDER HIT — An 11th Cavalry Division medic lifts the commander of an armored personnel carrier from the vehicle after he had been hit by fragments from an enemy rocket round. They were involved in action recently less than a mile from the Cambodian border, about 70 miles north of Saigon. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

B52s Hammer Buildup Areas

SAIGON (AP) — Trying to stop a new Communist offensive before it gets started, U.S. B52 heavy bombers blasted Communist buildup areas Tuesday in South Vietnam's northwest corner along the Laotian frontier.

The eight-engine Stratofortresses, in their fourth raid on the area in two days, dropped 750-pound bombs in patterns designed to break up troop concentrations and rip open the jungle to reveal enemy hideaways.

The target in the fourth raid was a suspected staging area nine miles northwest of Khe Sanh and six miles from the Laotian border.

The B52 raids on the South Vietnamese side of the Laotian border are being matched by fighter-bomber strikes against increased Communist truck and troop traffic on the Ho Chi Minh trail running down through eastern Laos. The Air Force reportedly is dispatching 250 fighter-bombers a day to hit the Red convoys in Laos during the current dry season, when the roads are in good shape.

From 6,000 to 8,000 trucks were reported moving down the southern panhandle of North Vietnam and into Laos in December. One U.S. source said this was "probably twice as many as this time last year."

"It is generally known that the axis of North Vietnamese infiltration into South Vietnam seems to be going more to the west rather than the east," said one senior U.S. Marine officer.

Three strikes Tuesday were above Hanoi.

In the carrier task force off North Vietnam, meanwhile, a Navy courier plane crashed as it took off from the carrier Kitty Hawk while five U.S. congressmen were visiting the ship. The congressmen did not see the twin-engine C1A plunge into the Gulf of Tonkin with 10 men—all military personnel—aboard. A helicopter rescued six passengers and a crewman, but the pilot, copilot and one passenger were missing.

An American helicopter was accidentally downed by an Air Force F4 Phantom jet in Quang Nam Province, in South Vietnam's northern 1st Corps sector. The U.S. Command reported that the Phantom's bombs sent up concussion waves and aerial turbulence that knocked down the chopper as it flew by. Four crewmen were injured.

A British Cutback, U. S. Concern

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield expresses concern the United States will be faced with trying to fill the military vacuum created when British forces leave the vast area from the Middle East to Singapore.

A State Department spokesman said Monday, in the wake of the British announcement of its plans to pull out troops from the area in a budget-cutting move: "We have no plans to move in where the British forces pull out."

But Mansfield said in an interview: "I am sorry the British felt they were forced to take this step because I am certain we will be asked to fill the vacuum east of Suez. I don't know how we are going to do it because I don't think we have the men or resources for it."

Many Share Concern

It was clear from private conversations that many civilian and military officials shared Mansfield's belief and concern.

They contended as one of them put it, "We are not prepared to extend our commitments" in view of the strains of the Vietnam war and existing worldwide American commitments.

Bitter reactions to the British plan were voiced behind the scenes, coupled in some instances with complaints Britain has failed to support the United States in Vietnam.

Officially the U.S. government expressed regret that economically hard-pressed Britain found it necessary to cancel a billion-dollar purchase of F111 supersonic fighter planes and to evacuate all British troops, ships and aircraft from East of Suez in three years.

The new withdrawal plan will take effect at least two years earlier than anticipated and apparently exceeds the scope expected by U.S. planners.

"We hoped they would keep small garrisons at least in the Persian Gulf area and their pullback is going to be much more rapid than we thought it would be," one source said.

What concerns U.S. military strategists is that the British withdrawal—and possible new burdens for this country—come as the Soviets are establishing a widening foothold in the Red Sea—Indian Ocean area.

They also foresee a likelihood the United States may be confronted with a Soviet challenge east of Suez in the face of growing public sentiment for a re-examination, and possible reduction, of U.S. military commitments around the globe.

American authorities expressed hope the nations in the Persian Gulf area—including Iran, Saudia Arabia and Kuwait—would form a defense and regional economic association to make up for the departure of the British influence in that area.

Officials said Australia and New Zealand would like to see the United States fill the gaps left by Britain in the Singapore-Malasia area, but indicated the Australians and New Zealanders should prepare to go it alone there.

The U.S. Navy long has been concerned about the Indian Ocean, although until now it has been regarded as Britain's province.

Some Navy sources suggested the British pullout might lead to creation of a separate Indian Ocean fleet. They also said there has been talk of bolstering the present tiny U.S. Navy Red Sea force of two destroyers and a sea plane tender.

Britain has maintained one carrier east of Suez but that will end with the pullback.

The 50 F111 long-range warplanes were intended to give Britain a striking power throughout the Indian Ocean—Far East region.

Laborites Ready New Economy Move

LONDON (AP) — The British government readied another swing of the economy ax today with a new squeeze on the average Brito's pocketbook. Curbs on installment buying and higher taxes on buying for home use were expected.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Roy Jenkins was to outline the latest dose of bad news as he opened a two-day debate in the House of Commons on the Labor government's post-devaluation program. The debate will end with a vote on a Conservative motion of no confidence which Labor's big majority in Commons is certain to defeat.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson told Commons and the nation Tuesday that his government was accelerating the abandonment of Britain's historic role as a military power east of Suez and shrinking the dimensions of the welfare state because the nation could not pay the bill.

Britons were warned in a television address that stiffer taxes were coming to keep wages and profits down and cut home buying so there would be more to export.

The government's aim is to shift manpower, investment capital and materials to export industries so increased sales abroad will put the balance of payments back into the black. Now that devaluation provides a price advantage in the export market, the problem is to make the resources available for production and reduce the supply of consumer goods for British buyers.

RFK Taps Crime As Top Problem

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Senator Robert F. Kennedy (D-N.Y.) has classified crime as the nation's number one internal problem saying that fully one-third of all Americans now fear to walk alone at night in the streets of their own neighborhoods.

The state's junior senator called for increased federal funding to fight crime at the local level as he spoke Tuesday to University of Buffalo Law School students and faculty.

He proposed three basic steps to combat crime:

—Citizens should give full support to make law enforcement agencies as modern and effective as possible.

—An intensive broadening of police work, particularly within high-crime, low-income communities "to turn the police into the natural allies of those seeking better lives."

—A program to free more police for strictly law enforcement duties. Civilian auxiliaries should be started "to free police from the clerical, routine duties of the station house."

The former U.S. Attorney General said that police pay must also be increased to make the profession more attractive. The federal government should step up efforts to help underwrite local law enforcement, particularly in police training, because local communities cannot afford it, Kennedy said.

Gun control legislation would aid the war on crime, Kennedy said, answering a question. He blamed the National Rifle Association for the lack of such legislation, saying "they are a powerful Washington lobby."

Kennedy told officials at Emergency Hospital earlier Tuesday that he and Rep. Thaddeus J. Dulski (D-N.Y.) of Buffalo will try to secure federal funds to help pay for a proposed new $7.2 million hospital.

He was accompanied by his wife Ethel on the two-day trip which began in Rochester Monday.

Auto Mishap Kills Sullivan County Woman

A Sullivan County woman was killed yesterday afternoon when her northbound car slid on icy Rt. 42 near Kiamesha Lake and plowed into an approaching car, demolishing both vehicles, South Fallsburgh Police report.

Her 16-year-old granddaughter and the driver of the other car were both hospitalized.

According to police, Mrs. Estelle Bearman, 56 of South Fallsburgh died instantly of a broken neck.

The driver of the other car, Samuel Michaelson of Monticello is reported in fair condition at Community General Hospital, Monticello, suffering from severe lacerations of the face.

The deceased woman's granddaughter, Rhona Slobodow is being treated for injuries to the legs and feet.

The accident took place about one and one-half miles south of Main Street, South Fallsburgh according to Chief Seymour Farver, Sgt. William Nadekow and Sgt. Samuel Seigel, who investigated.

Realtors Board To Meet Thursday

The Ulster County Board of Realtors will hold its regular monthly meeting Thursday at the Savings & Loan Association, 267 Wall Street, Kingston. Meeting will convene at 7:30 p. m.

John Sanglyn Jr., president, urges all members to be present.

According to legislation passed at the December meeting, all salespeople who are now associated with the realtors must join the board by March 15.

Laborites Ready New Economy Move

LONDON (AP) — The British government readied another swing of the economy ax today with a new squeeze on the average Brito's pocketbook. Curbs on installment buying and higher taxes on buying for home use were expected.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Roy Jenkins was to outline the latest dose of bad news as he opened a two-day debate in the House of Commons on the Labor government's post-devaluation program. The debate will end with a vote on a Conservative motion of no confidence which Labor's big majority in Commons is certain to defeat.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson told Commons and the nation Tuesday that his government was accelerating the abandonment of Britain's historic role as a military power east of Suez and shrinking the dimensions of the welfare state because the nation could not pay the bill.

Britons were warned in a television address that stiffer taxes were coming to keep wages and profits down and cut home buying so there would be more to export.

The government's aim is to shift manpower, investment capital and materials to export industries so increased sales abroad will put the balance of payments back into the black. Now that devaluation provides a price advantage in the export market, the problem is to make the resources available for production and reduce the supply of consumer goods for British buyers.

RFK Taps Crime As Top Problem

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Senator Robert F. Kennedy (D-N.Y.) has classified crime as the nation's number one internal problem saying that fully one-third of all Americans now fear to walk alone at night in the streets of their own neighborhoods.

The state's junior senator called for increased federal funding to fight crime at the local level as he spoke Tuesday to University of Buffalo Law School students and faculty.

He proposed three basic steps to combat crime:

—Citizens should give full support to make law enforcement agencies as modern and effective as possible.

—An intensive broadening of police work, particularly within high-crime, low-income communities "to turn the police into the natural allies of those seeking better lives."

—A program to free more police for strictly law enforcement duties. Civilian auxiliaries should be started "to free police from the clerical, routine duties of the station house."

The former U.S. Attorney General said that police pay must also be increased to make the profession more attractive. The federal government should step up efforts to help underwrite local law enforcement, particularly in police training, because local communities cannot afford it, Kennedy said.

Gun control legislation would aid the war on crime, Kennedy said, answering a question. He blamed the National Rifle Association for the lack of such legislation, saying "they are a powerful Washington lobby."

Kennedy told officials at Emergency Hospital earlier Tuesday that he and Rep. Thaddeus J. Dulski (D-N.Y.) of Buffalo will try to secure federal funds to help pay for a proposed new $7.2 million hospital.

He was accompanied by his wife Ethel on the two-day trip which began in Rochester Monday.

Auto Mishap Kills Sullivan County Woman

A Sullivan County woman was killed yesterday afternoon when her northbound car slid on icy Rt. 42 near Kiamesha Lake and plowed into an approaching car, demolishing both vehicles, South Fallsburgh Police report.

Her 16-year-old granddaughter and the driver of the other car were both hospitalized.

According to police, Mrs. Estelle Bearman, 56 of South Fallsburgh died instantly of a broken neck.

The driver of the other car, Samuel Michaelson of Monticello is reported in fair condition at Community General Hospital, Monticello, suffering from severe lacerations of the face.

The deceased woman's granddaughter, Rhona Slobodow is being treated for injuries to the legs and feet.

The accident took place about one and one-half miles south of Main Street, South Fallsburgh according to Chief Seymour Farver, Sgt. William Nadekow and Sgt. Samuel Seigel, who investigated.

Realtors Board To Meet Thursday

The Ulster County Board of Realtors will hold its regular monthly meeting Thursday at the Savings & Loan Association, 267 Wall Street, Kingston. Meeting will convene at 7:30 p. m.

John Sanglyn Jr., president, urges all members to be present.

According to legislation passed at the December meeting, all salespeople who are now associated with the realtors must join the board by March 15.
